Plan to Settle U. S. Workers' Pleas Drawn

System of Complaint Hearings Studied by President.

Modeled After British Civil Service Arbitration Method.

By Robert C. Albright.

A comprehensive plan for settlement of all Federal worker complaints, modeled closely after British Civil Service arbitration methods, is now under consideration by President Roosevelt and will be acted on shortly after he returns from Hyde Park.

The proposal has been drawn by Chairman Harry B. Mitchell, of the Civil Service Commission, following an intensive study of the problem, it was learned through White House sources.

Mr. Mitchell himself has maintained strict silence on the subject but from authoritative sources it was learned that the plan now is complete and awaits only the President's approval.

Series of Appeals Provided.

Briefly the proposal authorizes a series of appeals, first to a conciliation committee operating in the division where the complaining worker is employed; and, if that fails, to a larger departmental conciliation group, comprising personnel officers and employes.

Final appeal, if all other attemps at settlement fail, would be to the Civil Service Commission. Advocates of the plan point out it will cost no additional money and can be placed in operation under the authority the President now possesses in the interim before Congress again convenes, when legislative authorization may be asked.

The plan is to give employes and division officials equal representation on the conciliation committee of first resort. If after preliminary discussion the group is unable to adjust differences, neutral parties would be called in.

Like Wheeler's Plan.

In drafting this method of arbitration, it was learned Mr. Mitchell not only incorporated some features of the so-called "Whitely Councils" operating in the British civil service, but drew ideas from a similar plan followed by the International Typographical Union.

It was learned the outline of the plan is substantially the same as the unsuccessful amendment submitted by Senator Wheeler (Democrat), of Montana, to the independent offices bill, except that provision for a "liaison officer" is deleted.

Mr. Mitchell never approved this final form, but took considerable part in drafting the original amendment, using the "liaison officer" bill of Representative Sirovich (Democrat), of New York, as a base.

Coast Guard Sent On Vain Sea Quest

Miami, Fla., Aug. 10 (AP).—After a fruitless search the Coast Guard plane Antares returned to its base here tonight, its officers doubting authenticity of a report that nine men, two dead or dying, were marooned on an island of the Ten Thousand group.

The plane took to the air this afternoon after a Coast Guard wireless message from Mobile told of a distress message, written crudely on a handkerchief, found in a bottle near Pensacola.

Commander C. C. Von Paulson said the Antares circled while its crew vainly scanned the numerous tiny islands on the lower west coast of Florida.

Judge's Face Is Red; 'Lost' Auto Tagged

Berkeley, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP).—It's embarrasing to forget where you parked your car, if you happen to be a police judge. Especially after you've reported it stolen.

Judge Oliver Youngs didn't remember until several hours later that he had ridden in a friend's car to Oakland, instead of driving his own.

Meanwhile, his own car had acquired a police tag for being parked too long in Berkeley. Pink about the ears, he called off the stolen car hunt, reported at city hall and posted $2 "bail."

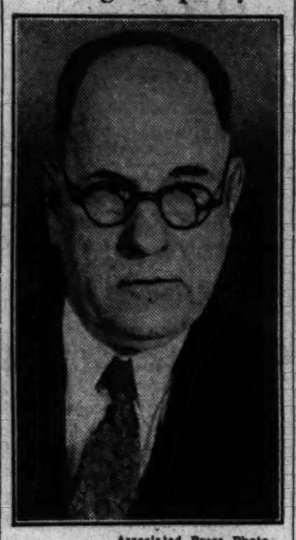

"I'll call the case of the people versus Youngs tomorrow morning," he said sternly, "and I'll declare that $2 forfeited to the city."

Italian Steamer Saves 26 on Ship That Sinks

Brindisi, Italy Aug. 10 (AP).—The Italian steamer Celeno, answering an S O S from the Jugoslavian freighter Treci Dalamatinschj, arrived in time tonight to save the crew of 26 before the vessel sank in the Adriatic between Brindisi and Durazzo, Albania.

The freighter was bound from Durazzo to Rotterdam. The cause of the sinking was not given in advices reaching here.

Charges Duplicity

Outgoing Dry Chief Says Licenses Were Issued to Racketeers.

(Associated Press.)

In a final statement as director of the Prohibition Bureau, A. V. Dalrymple yesterday charged some of his associates with "duplicity, double-crossing and double-dealing" and demanded that they be let out of Government service.

He issued his blast to newspapermen just before departing from the office he had occupied more than four months. His position was terminated by President Roosevelt's executive order reorganizing certain Government departments, including the Prohibition Bureau.

Maj. Dalrymple, a San Francisco lawyer, asserted he knew nothing of telegrams which went out under his name notifying the 1,800 employes of the Prohibition Bureau that they would be severed automatically from the pay roll at the close of business Wednesday.

In a letter to Attorney General Cummings, he said the telegrams never had been discussed with him and added it was only one of a long list of "multifarious acts of disloyalty" while he was director.

Dalrymple said in a formal statement given newspapermen:

"I point especially to the manner in which permits were approved from this office to five racketeering breweries in New Jersey and Pennsylvania without the knowledge of the fact being brought to the attention of the director.

A mix-up was disclosed under which the bureau's entire force of 1,800 had been notified they would be "automatically" severed from the rolls.

The real situation, as officials explained it, is that in the abolition of the Prohibition Bureau by transfer of many of its functions, which became effective Wednesday midnight, 600 employes lost their posts.

Spafford Rejects War Claims Post

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Saying he did not want to be a "rubber stamp," Edward R. Spafford, past national commander of the American Legion, declined today to serve on the speciel review board to consider presumptive cases of disabled veterans.

In a letter to Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, Veterans' Administrator, Spafford said:

"You may call me a conscientious objector * * * for my conscience certainly will not permit me to act as a rubber stamp and automatically place in the discard veterans who are deserving of the help of their country."

Haizlip Is Injured In Landing Crash

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 10 (AP).—Jimmy Haizlip, noted flier, was injured slightly when the fast speed plane he was piloting crashed at Bowles Field here late this afternoon.

The plane, swooping into a landing at 100 miles an hour, hurtled over when it touched the ground, somersaulted several times and came to a halt, a heap of wreckage.

Jardine Has Resigned As Minister to Egypt

Abilene, Kans., Aug. 10 (AP).—A cablegram received here today from W. M. Jardine said the former Secretary of Agriculture has resigned as Minister to Egypt and would arrive in New York on the President Pierce September 18.

15,000 End Strike; New Board Scores

Hosiery Employers Will Recognize Union in Reading.

Five Codes Approved; Bituminous and Auto Plans Held Up.

By J. Bernard McDonnell.

The National Labor Board yesterday won agreement from employers and employes to end the two-month-old strike of 15,000 Reading, Pa., hosiery workers.

Settlement of the strike was the first actual peace-making effort of the board, which was appointed last Saturday by President Roosevelt to remove labor disputes as an impediment to the national recovery program.

Terms of the settlement agreement were regarded as highly important and indicative of the future course not only of the board but of the entire NRA machinery.

Union recognition was the only question at issue between the strikers and the operators of the 33 mills affected. Neither wages nor hours were in dispute when the strike was begun. Both now are prescribed under a temporary code approved by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator.

May Choose Representatives.

Under terms of the settlement of agreement subscribed to by employers' representatives after three hours of discussion with the board and workers' representatives, employes are given the right to choose by ballot those they wish to represent them in dealings with employers.

Labor board members told the mill owners that they must recognize the right of collective bargaining and pointed to the language of the recovery act which specifically provides for that principle.

Election of representatives by employes is to be held a week from Saturday under supervision of an arbiter to be designated by the labor board.

Strikers are to return to work Monday. There is to be no discrimination against individuals because of union membership or participation in the strike. All employes who were on the pay rolls on the last day the mills operated are to be entitled to vote for representatives to negotiate with the employers on all questions at issue.

Board to Be Last Resort.

Differences which can not be settled by the representatives are to be referred to the Labor Board. Both sides agreed to accept decision of the board as final and binding.

The board is to tackle its second strike-settling job at 10 a. m. this morning when it meets with representatives of employers and strikers in the Pottsville, Pa., shirt factories.

Five additional industries were brought under the recovery banner by Gen. Johnson yesterday. They were restaurant, laundry, confectionery, labels and the terminal elevator grain industry. Approval was given to temporary modified agreements covering minimum wages and maximum working hours.

Codes for five others were considered at public hearings held in

Charles S. Wilson Goes to Jugoslavia

Another Career Diplomat Named by Roosevelt as Minister.

President Roosevelt's adherence to the scheme of promoting career diplomats without regard to their political complexion was reaffirmed yesterday when he appointed Charles S. Wilson as minister to Jugoslavia.

Wilson, who is now minister to Roumania, is a Republican. He has held increasingly important posts in the diplomatic service since 1901. His qualifications are admittedly professional rather than political.

Mr. Wilson, is a native of Bangor, Me. He is now in Europe on leave of absence.

Child Killed in Tornado Which Strikes Wisconsin

Glenwood City, Wis., Aug. 10 (AP). A child was killed in tornadoes which swept parts of Dunn, Barron and St. Croix Counties today.

Fred Doyan, jr., 10, was killed when a twister struck his home in the town of New Haven, Dunn County. His father, Fred Doyan, sr., and sister were injured.

Grieving Dog Frees His Master From Jail

Oakland, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP).—Two days ago Charles G. Crantz went to jail for a month on a battery charge brought by his landlady, Mrs. Lucille Goodman. Today she sought his release.

"His police dog is grieving to death," she explained. "It won't eat, and he looks at me so reproachfully I can't stand it any longer."

There was a conference. The jail doors opened. "Go home to your dog," Crantz was told.

By John J. Daly.

Hon. Floyd Bjerstjerne Olson, tall, blond Viking, of Minnesota, spent half an hour with the short, dark, good-looking youth called Charles Harris, sentenced to death for the murder of Milton White Henry, Washington gambler.

The two men, whose fortunes—good and bad—began about the same time, clasped hands. They had not seen each other in 15 years. It was one of the strangest reunions ever held in the rotunda of the old red-stone residence at 200 Nineteenth street southeast.

Gov. Olson's start to fame and glory had come when the hand of fate first thrust Harris into the confines of the law.

Governor, Turnkey Argue.

The governor's entrance to the jail was dramatic. He arrived in a downpour of rain, unannounced and unknown. It was after visiting hours. Without disclosing his identity, he argued with the turnkey.

Almost turned away, Gov. Olson pleaded to be let in the jail. So forceful was the man from Minnesota that he won his way past the guard.

"I'm going away on a long trip," he said, "and this is the only chance I've got to see Harris."

Convicted Wrong Man.

It was back in 1918 that these two last met. Olson was prosecuting attorney in Hennepin County, Minn. There had been a bank robbery. Harris was accused. He was sent to prison for 20 years. After three years, Olson discovered he had convicted

California Penny Conscious at Last

San Francisco, Aug. 10 (AP).—California, traditional land of gold rushes, has become copper-minded, all because of its new 2½ per cent sales tax.

The second shipment of 1,000,000 pennies in a week was dispatched to Los Angeles today by the United States mint, which also announced delivery of 500,000 of the coins to the Federal Reserve Bank here.

Bandits who might think of intercepting such a shipment as the 1,000,000 pennies to Los Angeles, officials said, would need a 3-ton truck to carry the loot away. Then they would only have $10,000.

Ickes Moves to Block Slum Jobs Profiteers

(Associated Press.)

The Public Works Administration moved last night to block speculative attempts to reap private profits in land deals in expectation of Governmental loans for slum clearance.

Secretary Ickes, of the Interior Department, the public works administrator, announced no consideration would be given to housing projects where investigation disclosed land price boosts on the prospect of Governmental advances. While declining to give details as to localities, Ickes said he had received reports of such speculative activity.

Hoover, 59, Takes Trip To Avoid Celebration

Stanford University, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover, 59 years old today, left his home on the campus for a three to four day motor trip in the California Sierras, dodging possible celebrations.

The occasion did not pass unnoticed, however. Scores of letters and telegrams reached the former executive. Mr. Hoover was accompanied only by Mrs. Hoover.

German Ambassador Departs for New York

Bremerhaven, Germany, Aug. 10 (AP).—Dr. Hans Luther, German Ambassador to the United States, sailed for New York today on the Columbus.

He Means to Say Johnson's Tough!

Winchester, Va., Aug. 10 (Spl.). Gray Silver, nationally known leader in cooperative agricultural movements, who has known Gen. Hugh Johnson for some years, says that Gen. Johnson is the hardest-boiled man he ever knew.

"I don't say there isn't any one else in the United States so hard-boiled. There may be. But I have never had dealings with any more hard-boiled character," said Mr. Silver.

Silver praised Johnson as an executive and declared that unlike most Army men, Johnson had never lost his political identity. He was still the same Republican he was before he ever worked under Democratic administrations, Silver concluded.

D.C. Recovery Enforcement Board Named

Nine Citizens to Hear Employers Unable to Obey Code.

Union Says Restaurants Fail to Meet Work Conditions.

They are Russell Balderson, president of Balderson Co., Inc.; Brice Clagett, lawyer; John B. Colpoys, editor of the Trade Unionist; Mrs. Helen F. Essary, wife of J. Fred Essary, Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun; Melvin D. Hildreth, lawyer; Mark Lansburgh, department store head; Ben L. Prince, vice president of the Merchants Transfer & Storage Co.; A. K. Shipe, lawyer, and J. G. Yaden, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations.

W. W. Everett, vice president and general manager of Woodward & Lothrop, was appointed a member of the Norfolk District Recovery Board. The Washington board will come under this district board.

Will Be Court of Law.

A governor of the Washington board will be named at a meeting which probably will be called today.

Functioning after the manner of a court of law, the board will consider the pleas of employers who find it impossible to live up to code agreements without incurring distress and hardship. If the board fails to reach a decision on these cases, the pleas will be submitted to the District board, with headquarters at Norfolk. Because this board will rule on Washington cases, Mr. Everett was named as one of its members.

The Washington board will operate as a separate unit from the civic army of which Thomas P. Littlepage, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, is general. The civic army will conduct a city-wide drive to enroll both consumers and producers in the reemployment program. A meeting of officers of the army will be held at 10 a. m. today at Board of Trade headquarters.

427 More Blue Eagles.

Mr. Littlepage served notice yesterday that improper and insincere display of the Blue Eagle would bring drastic action from the NRA army. He warned that wide pub-

Father Who Beat Son For Hour Held in Jail

Gastonia, N. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—Accused of beating his 8-month-old son, Jimmie, unmercifully for an hour with a leather strap, Dewey Graham, 27, of the Ranlo Mill Village was in jail today charged with assault with intent to kill.

"I beat him because he cried all the time and it bothered me," said the father.

The child's body was a mass of bruises. Physicians said the baby would recover.

U. S. Mediation Efforts In Cuba Condemned; Zero Hour Held Near

Any More Temporizing Is Believed Futile and Dangerous.

By Harold J. T. Horan.

"Zero-hour" in the Cuban situation was expected today.

Cuban Ambassador Oscar Cintas was to leave at 3 o'clock this morning on a sudden mission to Havana, where he was called by the Cuban secretary of State, Orestes Ferrara.

The Cuban Embassy deprecated the urgency of the ambassador's mission. But it was apparent from the expression on the mobile features of Ambassador Cintas yesterday at the conclusion of his interview with Secretary of State Hull that he had received bad news.

For two hours Ambassador Cintas, Secretary Hull and Undersecretary Phillips conferred in the private office of the Secretary. The ambassador declared the substance of his talk had been "economic."

Department Silent.

The same silence was maintained on all Cuban news at the department yesterday, indicating that the situation in Havana had reached a point so critical that any comment was dangerous.

The efforts which have been consistently followed by the United States either in Havana, through Ambassador Sumner Welles, or here, through the Secretary of State, have been synonymous.

At no phase of the conferences to date has any formal ultimatum been handed either President Machado in Havana by Ambassador Welles or Ambassador Cintas by the Department of State.

The fact that Ambassador Cintas is leaving his post here in this critical hour is conclusive proof that the situation in Havana has reached the breaking point.

It is believed that Cintas will take the personal wishes of President Roosevelt to Machado.

Flies to Havana.

He will fly to Havana from Miami.

On the outcome of this council of state depends largely the decision of President Machado.

The United States will not await the arrival of the Cuban Ambassador in Havana for an answer to the Welles plan. The American Ambassador in Havana believes that further temporizing would be dangerous and futile.

Welles Awaits Answer.

Ambassador Welles will await the answer of the president to the compromise plan and if that is unfavorable, the United States may decide to take such action as is deemed necessary.

Authorities at the Department of State here yesterday declined to speculate on what might be done in the event that the response of President Machado is negative.

Upside-Down Flier Sets New Record

Los Angeles, Aug. 10 (AP).—Hanging head downward in a 125-mile flight from San Diego, Milo G. Burcham, 30, head of a Long Beach aviation school, today established a new world record for upside-down flying. He had practiced for the feat by "sitting" in an inverted kitchen chair.

Burcham was in the air 1 hour 46 minutes 59 seconds. This time exceeded by 39 minutes 59 seconds the upside-down flight over Toreno, Italy, several months ago by Lieut. Tito Falconi, Italian Royal Air Force officer. Falconi, who flew in the recent national air races here, was at the municipal airport to congratulate Burcham.

350 Flee in Boats as Forest Fire Razes Fishing Village

Residents of Burlington, N. F., Helpless Before Terrific Flames.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Aug. 10 (U.P.).—The 350 inhabitants of the village of Burlington, 220 miles northeast of St. Johns, fled in boats out onto Notre Dame Bay today when a terrific forest fire destroyed the community.

The forest fire razed every hut and cottage, dispatches said. Two smaller settlements in the vicinity also were destroyed.

Fishermen and woodsmen alike fled, unable to check the flames. Their dwellings, and, in most cases, all the contents, were destroyed.

The last word from the stricken area before the telegraph lines failed came from the operator at Burlington, saying:

"Can not stay longer. Risking my life. Fire too near."

Unconfirmed reports said a number of women and children were missing. Families were separated and these reports were believed to have grown out of that fact rather than any actual loss of life.

The steamer Prospero, ordered to the scene, was under way but could not reach Burlington before daylight.

A motorboat crossed Notre Dame Bay from Jackson Cove to Burlington and returned with word that practically the entire settlement was destroyed.

The coastal steamer Portia reached the scene just before dark and took the people on board. Scores of small boats from nearby fishing settlements hurried to the scene to aid in the rescues.

Lindbergh Has Lunch With Greenland Sheriff

Julianehaab, Greenland, Aug. 10 (AP).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who is making a North Atlantic aerial survey with Mrs. Lindbergh, had lunch today with Sheriff Ibsens.

He intended to fly back to Angmagsalik during the afternoon, but a fog prevailed and it was considered most likely he would postpone the flight. The supply ship Jelling is still here.

Monroe Policy Needs Studied

President Views Application to Cuba; 2 Powers Protest Revolt.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 10 (U.P.).—President Roosevelt tonight studied the responsibilities of the United States under the Monroe doctrine as he awaited Havana's response to his statement calling for immediate cessation of Cuba's political uprising.

This question was laid squarely before the administration by the British and Spanish governments, who requested protection for their nationals in the island republic, since European powers are restrained by the Monroe doctrine against landing troops in the Americas.

The complication of European concern in the situation that already has cost more than a score of lives and directly threatens to embroil the Roosevelt administration with the possibility of intervention under the Platt amendment, came after strong representations for peace by Ambassador Sumner Welles apparently went unheeded.

As yet Mr. Roosevelt has heard nothing directly in reply to his statement.

President Roosevelt's secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre, denied, however, that there was any basis to Havana reports that the President, through Ambassador Welles, had announced intervention in Cuban affairs unless the Machado government resigns.

Turtle-Catching Champion Caught

The charge preferred against him by Police Chief Reuben Brown was being drunk and disorderly. The incentive to the arrest, however, was the absence of the champion's pants.

Caught wading in Northwest Branch, in Brentwood, Md., dressed only in their shirts, the two men were taken to a police station where they gave their names as Carl Braxton and William Raymond, of Riverdale, their profession as snapping turtle catchers.

Bail was fixed at $8.50, and was supplied when the missing apparel was located and draped.

General Menocal Assembles Exiles

Miami, Fla., Aug. 10 (AP).—Learning that President Machado's Liberal party had rejected Ambassador Welles' peace plan for Cuba, Gen. Mario G. Menocal, former Cuban president, called leaders of the exile colony here for a conference at his home tonight.

Gen. Menocal said things "are rapidly nearing a solution."

He was in a joyful mood as he watched developments in the Cuban capital. He characterized as "very interesting" the message which President Roosevelt sent to Cuba through Ambassador Cintas.

Democrats Formally Select Mayor O'Brien

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Mayor John P. O'Brien was formally nominated for reelection today at a meeting of the five county Democratic leaders. John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, presided.

Other candidates will be named within a few days.

Machado's Grip Tighter; Supporters Plan New Peace Proposals.

General Strike Checked; Merchants Open Shops or Go to Jail.

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 10 (U.P.).—Blunt rejection of the United States' mediation proposals and wholehearted support for President Gerardo Machado in his desperate battle against nation-wide demands for his resignation came from the powerful Liberal party tonight.

President Machado, as a result of the party's action, settled more firmly in the saddle than at any time during the present crisis. In an exclusive interview with the United Press, he earlier had offered to resign—if the Liberal party, which he heads, urged this action.

The executive committee of the Liberals tonight approved a resolution rejecting mediation of the political strife by the United States Ambassador, Sumner Welles, and, in effect, giving the president its approval in his refusal to withdraw from the political scene.

The executive committee held another meeting tonight at which it was understood the earlier vote was discussed with a possible view to holding the resolution in abeyance or reconsidering it. The resolution remained unsigned, an unusual procedure.

Counterproposal Planned.

Secretary of State Orestes Ferrara announced tonight that "President Machado will make during the next 48 hours a counterproposal to the formula submitted by Ambassador Welles."

This tactic was believed related to the impending return of the Cuban Ambassador to Washington, Oscar Cintas, and was interpreted by some observers as "sparring for time" on the part of the government.

Ferrara said he had not seen the text of the Liberal party executive committee's resolution, but was "assured the executive committee would not close the door to future understanding." It was understood the resolution would be submitted to Machado and Ferrara for final ratification before being made public.

Merchants Threatened.

The government tonight issued its first proclamation under President Machado's "state of war" decree. It ordered all merchants to reopen their shops tomorrow on pain of serving 50 days in prison or paying $100 fine.

Simultaneously there appeared indications that the spreading general strike had been checked—at least temporarily. The omnibus strikers' assembly voted to return to work tomorrow noon. Their decision was concurred in promptly by the tramworkers, Havana electrical workers, barbers and the salesmen's union.

Resolution's Outline Given.

A member of the executive committee said the vote on the resolution supporting Machado was 17 to 1 and that the resolution included these three major points:

1. Rejection of the formula offered by Ambassador Welles as undemocratic and contrary to constitutional principles in Cuba.
2. Continuation of the policy of treating with opposition parties, without foreign intervention.
3. Expression of thanks to Welles for his personal procedure in endeavoring to bring peace to Cuba.

It also was feared that the action might bring further sharp repercussions from Washington, President Roosevelt having indicated at Hyde Park that Ambassador Welles was acting with his full support and approval in seeking to mediate the Cuban struggle.

Transportation Strike Under Way in Spain

Seville, Spain (Friday), Aug. 11 (AP).—A 48-hour transportation strike, ordered by Communists in protest against the use of strike-breakers on the docks, began at midnight. Authorities ordered all who joined in the strike discharged from their jobs.

Former Capital Business Man Killed by Gas

Lester Lansburgh, Found in New York Home, Kitchen Sealed.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Returning from a basket picnic, the wife and two children of Lester Lansburgh, 50, former department store executive, today found this note on the dining room table:

"Darlings, beware of the gas. I'll be gone. Don't come in. call Pascale, the superintendent."

Seated in a chair near the gas range, eight burners of which were open, was Lansburgh, dead.

The wife, Eleanor, and their two daughters, Louise, 18, a student at the University of Wisconsin, and Jean, 15, were unable to account for Lansburgh's act. They said he had been in excellent health and had no financial worries.

Lansburgh resigned his post with an organization that operates women's apparel shops throughout the country, on March 31, during a reorganization.

Lansburgh was born in Washington and had been active in business and civic circles here. His funeral will be held in New York today.

the Commerce Building, on Capitol Hill and in hotels. Hearing on the score-odd codes submitted by various groups in the bituminous industry occupied principal attention, and will be resumed at 10 a. m. today.

Other hearings dealt with the hosiery, knitting and threading machine, theatricals and the underwear and allied industries.

Code for Restaurants.

Minimum wages prescribed for restaurant employes were exclusive of tips. The wage scale ran from not less than 28 cents an hour in cities of 500,000 or more down to 23 cents an hour in cities of less than 2,500 population. The rates were fixed for both male and female employes. Female employes were given a maximum 48-hour work week and male employes 54 hours. Not more than $3 a week may be deducted from wages for meals, and time and one-third shall be paid for overtime. Shifts are permitted but are limited to two in a day.

Gen. Johnson gave his temporary approval to the laundry code with the statement that both wages and rate schedules were unsatisfactory. Wages started at 20 cents an hour in the South and went up to 27½ cents in the East, with a 45-hour maximum work week. Office workers were given a 50-hour week, and a minimum of $13 to $14 per week with $1 differential allowed the South. Engineers, firemen and maintenance employes were given 35 cents in the South up to 50 cents in the East and a 50-hour week.

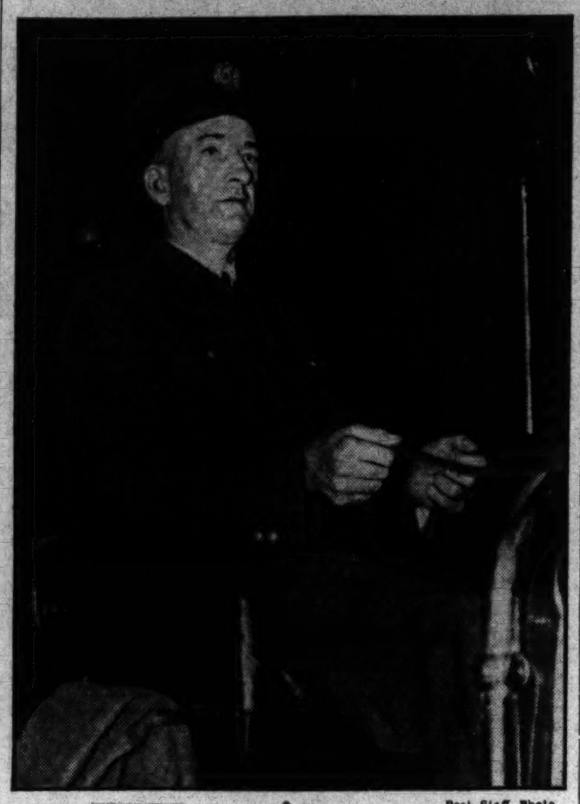

A 40-hour week, with certain exceptions, and a 30 to 35-cent-an-hour wage was approved for the confectionery manufacturing industry, with the lowest wages being paid in the South. Forty hours was fixed for the label producers. The elevator grain industry was given a 40-hour week with wages from 45 to 40 cents an hour, depending on population.

Hearings on the code submitted by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce were set for August 18, with Deputy Administrator R. W. Lea presiding. Charles W. Nash, pioneer automobile manufacturer, acting as industrial adviser; Prof. Lawrence H. Seltz, Detroit City College, as labor adviser, and Dr. William F. Ogburn, of the consumers advisory board, representing purchasers.

Honor Asked for Faithful Teacher.

Aranjuez, Spain, Aug. 10 (AP).—The town council petitioned the government today to bestow the Order of the Republic on Senora Isadora Martin, school teacher. She hasn't missed a day in school in 40 years.

PRIVATE W. I. REEVES, of Truck Company No. 2, in the driver's seat of the old pumper which he will guide down Pennsylvania avenue in the Firemen's Labor Day Parade.

For over 20 years Private W. I. Reeves, of the District Fire Department, has driven different types of fire engines. During this stretch, Private T. J. Hoy has been his tillerman, which means that Hoy has operated the truck from the rear.

Never once have they had an accident. Together, they have traveled almost a mile a minute. Over ice-coated streets, in blinding snowstorms, in rain and the dark of night, the two have steered fire trucks and hook and ladder machines over thousands of miles of city streets.

They have gone through all sorts of heavy traffic and all kinds of narrow streets. Sharp corners and curves, that are ordinary pitfalls for motorists, are conquered by them with ease.

In their joint career they've never so much as scratched a fender, or torn up a tire. And if you don't think it requires cooperation to drive 75 feet or more of heavy fire apparatus, both from the front and back, just straddle your own car's steering wheel and drive it backwards someday. That will give you a rough idea.

Reeves and Hoy are inseparable as workers while on duty, and their friendship has carried on while off duty. They go together, know the same people and live in the same block.

The two men will drive the District's oldest piece of apparatus in the National Firemen's Labor Day parade. It's a very old pumper, now at Engine Company No. 13. And—old "Tom," last of the fire horses will pull it down the Avenue.

Bonds Forgery Put at $799,000

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 10 (AP).—Disclosures today raised to $799,000 the amount of forged Kansas municipal bonds involved in a swindle which has brought two arrests, the closing of three banks and the placing of National Guardsmen in the State treasury. Previously, $658,000 had been traced.

Officials said $370,000 of the spurious bonds were on deposit with Tom Boyd, State treasurer, as security for State deposits in the three banks.

Gov. Alf M. Landon yesterday charged Boyd with unwittingly or knowingly aiding Ronald Finney, accused bond broker, in a transaction through which the treasury assertedly obtained $150,000 in forged bonds from Finney, and later turned them back to him.

Landon today named Fred M. Harris, a former State senator, as his special counsel to assist in prosecution of Finney and Leland Caldwell, the latter's assistant. Finney and Caldwell face charges of uttering forged bonds to a Topeka national bank which was not involved in the closing orders.

Broker Is Held In Huge Fraud

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—In a courtroom jammed with his alleged victims, Lorenz Strack, 59, stolid, gray-haired mortgage broker, of Yorkville, heard himself denounced as "New York's German Ponzi" today.

Strack, long an active member of many German societies throughout the city, was accused by Assistant District Attorney Eugene McAuliffe of obtaining more than $1,000,000 in a wholesale swindling of German families.

McAuliffe, comparing the corpulent defendant to Ponzi, asked that he be held in $100,000 bail on three charges of grand larceny. Magistrate Earl A. Smith so ordered.

The prosecutor declared Strack, using his position in the German societies to win confidences, took the savings of the complainants in exchange for his personal bonds and converted the money to his own use. Owen S. M. Tierney, of counsel for one of the complainants, said he had in his office more than $1,000,000 of Strack's personal bonds "not worth a nickle today."

2 Claim to Be Flier's Widow

Kansas City, Aug. 10 (AP).—Legal action was threatened tonight as the climax of a public debate over the bier of a wartime aviator claimed in death by two disputing contenders to widowhood.

The body of Capt. Edward F. M. Deeds, former Royal Flying Corps member, who shot down eight enemy planes in combat, will be laid to rest here tomorrow—but not, apparently, the argument between Mrs. Betty Deeds and Mrs. Marie Hennessy Shirley Deeds, as to which was the flier's lawful wife.

The court action was hinted by Mrs. Marie Deeds, 23-year-old auburn haired movie actress, in refusing to display documentary proof of her marriage.

Has Marriage Document.

"My marriage documents? I've got them," she told a questioner, "but I'm not going to show them to a soul until my lawyer arrives from Los Angeles Saturday."

Capt. Deeds was killed in an airplane crash in the Orient. The argument started when Mrs. Marie Deeds arrived a week ago at San Francisco with the body and was met by the other woman. It was resumed with vigor today when Mrs. Marie Deeds, escorting Deeds' casket, was met at the train by Mrs. Betty Deeds, who flew here yesterday from Los Angeles.

"He was my husband and you know it," asserted Mrs. Betty Deeds.

"You left him and he married me," retorted Mrs. Marie Deeds. "You want money, insurance, whatever was left."

"Why shouldn't I? I was his wife seven years. You were with him in China four days," Mrs. Betty Deeds responded.

Mrs. Marie Deeds placed her arms about the flier's mother, who was at the station.

Repulsed by Mother.

"Leave me alone," the mother sobbed hysterically. "Go away. don't touch me. I don't even know you."

Marie Deeds asserts the aviator was divorced last January in Mexico from Betty Deeds and married her in China four days before the fatal crash.

Couple Honeymooning In Glass Lookout House

Aberdeen, Wash., Aug. 10 (AP).—Married a week ago, Gile Mead and the former Miss Sadie McQuarrie, of Hoquiam, are perfectly at ease while spending a honeymoon in their 14 by 14 foot glass house.

Mr. and Mrs. Mead are pretty safe from people who throw stones or check up on window shades. They are in a forest service fire lookout station, 5,000 feet high on Mount Colonel Bob in the Olympia Forest.

$5 Daily Pay For Miners Is Asked by Lewis

(Associated Press.)

A $5 daily basic wage and a 30-hour work week for bituminous coal miners was demanded yesterday by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

He presented this claim at a National Recovery Administration hearing on the soft coal operators' code of fair competition during which he contended his organization was the "only stabilizing force which the industry has ever had."

Mine Trouble Decision.

As the diverse factions of the giant industry attempted to get together on an agreement, the coal arbitration board, headed by Gerard Swope, handed down a decision intended to end the Pennsylvania mine troubles.

Under the ruling, check-weighmen will be elected by miners of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. at the entrance to the mines after working hours.

This issue was the last of those which precipitated the recent strike in the bituminous mines and brought about a declaration of near martial law by Gov. Pinchot.

Miners to Help Pay Them.

The check-weighmen—to see that the miners are given full credit for all the coal they produce—are to be elected by workers, who assist in paying their wages.

At the hearing, union miners and coal operators siding with them argued for adoption of the proposed code, which differs sharply from that favored by the nonunion operators.

Also appearing in support of the union code were two of the largest coal operators of the country, George Harrington, of Chicago, and Frank E. Taplin, of Cleveland. Both urged one basic wage scale for the country as the only means of bringing fair competition to the industry.

Tornado Strikes Maryland Town

Lewistown Woman Hurt; Outbuildings and Crops Are Damaged.

Frederick, Md., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—A near tornado dipped into Lewistown, eight miles north of this city today, and damaged outbuildings, flattened cornfields and uprooted trees.

Mrs. B. F. Harne was hurled against a building, receiving slight injuries.

Residents rushed into their homes as a dark-edged, funnel-shaped cloud approached from the Southwest. An onrush of wind swept an area about 75 feet wide of everything in its path.

Two buildings on George W. Arnold's farm and two buildings on the premises of Walter E. Stull were damaged. The freak twister was not felt in any other section, spending its force a short distance beyond Lewistown.

Baby Chick Association Demands Fair Practice

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 10 (AP). The International Baby Chick Association today asked the Federal Trade Commission to assume the task of enforcing the code of fair practices adopted in the concluding session of the annual convention here today.

Hay for Horses Taxable But for Cows, Hey, Hey!

San Francisco, Aug. 10 (AP).—California's cows, if they only could, might give California's horses the horse laugh.

Under the new State sales tax, hay purchased for cows, which they are expected to convert into milk, is exempt. Hay purchased for horses is taxable.

licity would be given offenders. Public sentiment, he said, would assert itself in dealing with the culprits.

Five and ten cent stores and $1 variety stores have agreed to operate on a code which will bring a reduction in working hours, establishment of a minimum wage, graded by size of the city, and increase in employment, it was announced yesterday.

A Boy Again

President Chats With Lads on Aid Society's Hillside Farm.

Bowdoin Farms, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP).—New York City boys working the soil of this Hudson Valley hillside of the Children's Aid Society received a visit today from President Roosevelt, who told them they were carrying out his "pet hobby" of back-to-the-land.

Motoring here with his mother, the President rode around the grounds, chatting with the playing children and with boys in overalls. At the community center, where he himself played 40 years ago, he paused for a brief talk.

"I think that more and more we are discovering the appreciation of the farm," he said. "At least, the farm has an assurance that we will never starve to death. Also, when you are on the farm you know full well you will never be millionaires, but there are lots of things in life other than growing exceedingly rich. You have assurance of a competence and a place for your children among healthy surroundings."

Four States Get $9,573,255 Relief Funds

Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Ohio and Michigan Share Money.

(Associated Press.)

Another $9,573,255 flowed out of the Federal Unemployment Relief Fund yesterday to Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Tennessee, making the total thus far granted $123,048,569.

Pennsylvania received $7,317,132; Ohio, $1,404,927; Tennessee, $455,431, and Michigan, $395,765.

The grants made Pennsylvania's total $14,518,793; Ohio's, $7,262,656; Michigan's, $10,636,959, and Tennesee's, $1,041,666.

All four grants were made on the basis of one Federal dollar for every three spent by the States themselves.

Burning of Troops Laid to Assyrians

Bagdad, Iraq, Aug. 10 (AP).—Atrocity stories alleging that the Assyrian Christians have been burning the bodies of Iraq soldiers killed in the recent border fighting have aroused intense feeling here as groups of Assyrians are being rounded up and combed out of the hills by Iraq troops.

Volunteers from all over the country, including the Kurds, are stated to be offering their services to fight the Assyrians.

A huge demonstration is appointed here for tomorrow to show the solidarity of the public behind the government in handling the Assyrian situation.

2 Newspapermen Released in Cuba

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 10 (U.P.).—Two Americans, one a correspondent and the other a news photographer from New York, were released by the Cuban police tonight, after representations had been made on their behalf by the United States Embassy and consular officials.

The men, Leo Reisler, of the New York Herald Tribune, and David Oliver, Universal Newsreel photographer, had been held several hours. They were arrested while Oliver was taking motion pictures on the Avenida Republica.

"Ad" Seeks Boy to Save Him From Mad Dog Bite

The ad reads: "To whom it may concern—Woman and child bitten by mad dog at Twenty-seventh and Holdredge, call F-8406."

The woman, Mrs. Frances McGregor, answered the advertisement and was instructed by Lancaster County Humane Society officials, who inserted it, to take the Pasteur treatment for the prevention of rabies. But the boy, whoever he may be, has given no sign he realizes his danger.

Canada Studies NRA And Waits for Results

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 10 (AP).—The Canadian cabinet council today informally discussed the NRA program of the United States, but, as far as could be learned tonight, no definite action was taken.

Canada, it was stated by a government official, does not lend itself as readily to such a scheme as does the United States, but if the NRA proves successful in that country the dominion will be inclined to consider any lesson that may be learned from it.

Kilowatt Hours Show Electricity Used

What is a kilowatt hour?

What does it do for you?

How many times have you said to yourself that you didn't understand what the expression means?

It is simple. "Kilowatt hours" is a unit of measurement, just as is a quart, a yard or a pound. It is a convenient way for measuring the amount of current used each month, and the fact that it can't be seen as one sees other units of measurement does not change the situation. The kilowatt hours you use from month to month show how you vary your consumption of current.

Johnson Holds NRA Program Is Not Boycott

Asks Baltimoreans Help by Buying Now in Blue Eagle Shops.

Baltimore, Aug. 10 (AP).—An appeal to the Nation to "buy now" in stores toward which the NRA's Blue Eagle beckons was made tonight by Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator.

In a vigorous address punctuated with arresting phrases, the aggressive economic chieftain struck out at the "doubting Thomases" and the "witch-doctors of the let-things-alone school of economic thought."

He called directly upon the consumers to start at once patronizing those firms which are fulfilling the program of raising wages and spreading employment to increase purchasing power and denied that the plan which he is directing envisions a "boycott."

"It is nothing of the sort," he said. "It is a white list if you like. Nobody is prevented from assuming the insignia of those who are aiding reemployment. Adequate means are provided to protect those who are doing all they can but who can not go the whole distance.

"In those circumstances it would be cowardly and unfair for the NRA to omit to point out to the people that they can only keep the reemployment program going by supporting those who support it. Let us be frank and sensible."

Attempt at Sugar Monopoly Charged

Insular Refiners Declare Americans Misusing New Deal.

Charges that continental American sugar refiners are misuing the New Deal's recovery machinery in an attempt to establish a partial embargo against insulatr possessions' products and a monopoly for themselves with subsequent price benefits will be laid before the Agriculture Department.

The accusations, it was learned exclusively by The Washington Post, most likely will be presented today by David A. Buckley, jr., Washington attorney, in behalf of insular refiners led by the Puerto Rico American Sugar Co.

The attack is aimed at the proposed marketing agreement and code of fair industry for the sugar industry now undergoing hearings at the Department preparatory to adoption as part of President Roosevelt's recovery program.

Michigan Town of 550 Goes 100% for NRA

Gobles, Mich., Aug. 10 (AP).—The NRA Blue Eagle is displayed in every business establishment in this little town of 550, and Postmaster H. E. McElheny believes an average 20 per cent wage increase and employment for from 12 to 15 more persons is to be expected.

Governor Visits Man in Death Cell

an innocent man. Immediately he went to work. The sentence was suspended.

"If there's anything I can ever do for you, let me know," were Olson's parting words to Harris.

Harris heard Gov. Olson was in town. The condemned man remembered that promise.

Mrs. Harris was sent on the trail of the governor—a busy man, here to confer with high officials. He promised the wife he'd go to see her husband. One by one, the governor fulfilled appointments with Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Tugwell, Secretary of Interior Ickes, Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of the Army Engineers, and an appointment with Gen. Johnson.

Then the governor made a dash to the jail. For a half hour he sat with Harris. Methods were taken under advisement that may save Harris from death.

Gov. Olson went back to his hotel suite to keep an appointment with newspaper correspondents from his own State. Only one man there knew where he had been.

"I don't care who knows I went to see Harris," the governor told this correspondent. "I had Harris sent up for bank robbery when he was 21. When I found out he was innocent I worked for his release—and it took plenty of work. I've asked Harris to send me a transcript of his present case and a brief summary—in the hope that something can be done."

Attorneys Offer Aid.

Harris himself has worked out all the details of his own defense. Two prominent attorneys, believing him innocent, have offered help. His heart is buoyed by the hope that Gov. Olson will put in the final touches.

A happier Harris went to bed last night in murderers' row. He is the only white man among 11 others sentenced to die. The others are negroes, who spend the night singing spirituals, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and all the rest.

As he swung aboard his train last night, Minnesota-bound, Gov. Olson seemed happy. From his Pullman he could see the lights in the dingy old jail, on the edge of town, where Harris listened to spirituals sung by the death-cell choir.

Pittman Urges U. S. to Scrap Monroe Pact

Senator Says Doctrine No Longer Necessary and Is Outworn.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Scrapping of the Monroe Doctrine in the interest of amity between the United States and Latin-American nations was advocated today by Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

I think that for the purpose of assuring the Latin-American people that we are sincere in our announced policy that we will not interfere, we should make a declaration that there is no longer necessity for the Monroe Doctrine," said Pittman on his arrival from London.

"We should say that the Monroe Doctrine is an outworn policy. The purpose of the doctrine was to prevent certain European countries from extending their power to Latin America. At present the danger of European powers attempting to extend their governments to Latin America is negligible."

Senator Pittman expressed his views on the Monroe Doctrine as he prepared to hasten to Washington to study the Cuban situation.

Wrexham, Wales, Aug. 10 (AP).—The Ystalfera Choir, composed largely of Welsh coal miners, won today's choral competition at the National Eisteddfod. One English and six Welsh choirs, totaling 1,200 singers, both men and women, competed.

Lord Gladstone presided at the principal session. His father, the former prime minister, presided in 1888.

Capital Girls Parade Before Movie Scouts

Going forward with one of the most intensive movie talent searches in the history of Washington, Paramount scouts each day are selecting more girls from Wilson Line boats to compete for cinema work in Hollywood.

Since the contest started Monday, hundreds of beautiful and talented Washington girls have been riding the Wilson Line cruises, and at least four have been selected dialy. Wednesday five were chosen, the competition being so keen.

When the selections close Sunday night, the girls will be called to the stage of Loew's Fox Theater Monday evening. Here, one among the number will be chosen to go to Hollywood to take a featured role in Paramount's new picture, "Eight Girls in a Boat."

The girl's expenses to and from the movie capital will be paid, and while she is working in the production she will be paid $50 a week. At the conclusion of the picture she will be given a chance to enjoy a real movie career. Screen tests and the like will be extended to her.

Here is a contest with no rules. To compete all a girl has to do is to ride one of the cruises. Paramount scouts are on each one, and the selection is made when the girl least expects it.

Miss Margaret Crim, of 11 Sixteenth street northeast, was chosen by the Paramount scout last night while riding the Wilson Line ship. Because of the inclement weather, the usually brisk competition was slackened.

Armada Ready For Final Lap

Balbo Plans to Hop From Lisbon to Seaport of Rome Saturday.

Lisbon, Portugal, Aug. 10 (AP).—Aviation Minister Italo Balbo's seaplane squadron plans to fly direct to Ostia, the seaport of Rome, on Saturday, bringing to a close the greatest mass ocean flight in aviation history.

The departure of the Italian fliers on 1,300-mile final lap of their round-trip cruise to Chicago was delayed until the body of Lieut. Enrico Squaglia, killed yesterday when one plane was wrecked in the take-off from the Azores, arrives in Lisbon.

A funeral with full military honors was held in Ponta Delgada, Azores, for the officer today.

Most festivities arranged here for the Italians were canceled, but a gala bull fight honoring them was held tonight. Gen. Balbo decorated his men with the "wings" awarded to transocean fliers in a ceremony during the day. There was 2 minutes of silence in memory of Lieut. Squaglia.

Disturbances Call Attention To Cuba's Many Resources

Turbulent political conditions in Cuba direct attention to the resources and outstanding natural features of the largest and most populous of West Indian islands.

"Next to Mexico, Cuba is our nearest Latin-American neighbor, but to the rank and file of Americans it is perhaps not as well known as parts of Europe," says a bulletin from headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Few people outside of Cuba appreciate either the dimensions or the area of the big island. Place the eastern tip of Cuba on a map of the United States at Atlantic City, N. J., and the western end would touch the Illinois-Indiana border, spanning the five States of New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana.

Area Equals Pennsylvania.

"It may also be a surprise to learn that the width of the island averages 60 miles. No place in Cuba is more than 40 miles from the open sea. In area it is a Pennsylvania, and it has a population numerically equivalent to that of Missouri.

"As the United States is divided into States, Cuba is divided into provinces, six of them: Havana, Pinar del Rio, Matanzas, Santa Clara, Camaguey, and Oriente. Nearly every section of the island is connected with the principal cities and seaports by railroad and highway, while many of the larger sugar estates have private railroad lines.

"In all, Cuba possesses more than 3,000 miles of railroad, and nearly 3,000 miles of government highways, including the modern Central highway, a $120,000,000 ribbon of pavement that extends for 706 miles from Pinar del Rio to Santiago. Cuba also possesses a modern and efficient network of telephone lines which boasted of automatic dial telephones several years before New York or Chicago had them.

Largest Sugar Producer.

"During normal times Cuba is the largest producer of raw sugar in the world, and it has the facilities for maintaining this status. In 1928-29 this 'sugar bowl of the Antilles' produced more than 5,700,000 short tons of raw sugar, but in 1933 the crop is limited by presidential decree to 2,000,000 tons. The world also turns to the Vuelta-Abajo district, in western Cuba, for the choicest cigar tobacco, although, due to labor troubles in recent years, many of the finest brands of cigars are now manufactured from Cuban tobacco in the United States.

"Cuba is also an important producer of mahogany, cedar and dyewoods. Cedar is used locally for cigar boxes, but the other woods are exported. Coffee, cacao, tropical fruits, rum, sponges, cigarettes, coconuts, iron ore and copper are other sources of income.

"No other land in the New World possesses proportionately such numerous and wonderful bays. Most of them are distinguished for their bottle-necked entrances, vast areas of water being entirely surrounded by land, except for narrow channels to the sea. Examples of these splendidly sheltered harbors are Havana, Santiago, Cienfuegos, Guantanamo Bay, another huge roadstead, is leased by the United States as a naval base.

Havana Is Only Metropolis.

"If New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington were consolidated, the resulting metropolis would bear about the same relation to the United States that Havana bears to Cuba.

Japanese Killer Gives Fear of U. S. as Motive

Declares He Led Slayers of Premier to Save "Betrayed" Nation.

Tokyo, Aug. 10 (AP).—Testimony that fears of "America's ambition" were the motive for the assassination of Premier Suyoshi Inukai and other terroristic acts were given today by Lieut. Horishi Yamagishi, leader of ten naval officers who are being tried in a naval court on charges of responsibility for those events.

The court heard testimony adduced to prove that Yamagishi was commander of the group of naval officers who entered Inukai's home May 15, 1932, and that he gave the command "fire" when the shots which killed the premier were discharged.

The courtroom was cleared after the lieutenant made his statement regarding fears of America and the proceedings were continued in secret.

Yamagishi said he and his codefendants feared that the United States would attempt what he described as further domination of Japan and the Orient at the time of the expected revision of the Washington and London Naval Accords in 1936.

The group of officers was determined to "attempt the reconstruction of the empire before that crisis arose," the leader testified.

The defendant group has declared their patriotic conviction that the Japanese officials who accepted the naval treaties betrayed the nation and were worthy of assassination. Leaders of this kind, they asserted, must never again be given authority to sign away in similar manner the rights of the empire.

Revised Oil Code To Be Ready Soon

(Associated Press.)

Completion of a revised trade practice plan for the oil industry was imminent yesterday as recovery administration officials bent every effort to lay it before petroleum leaders early next week.

The code, which will be submitted as a successor to a tentative plan presented by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, to the industry about two weeks ago, was understood authoritatively to be similar in many respects to the original draft.

To answer the demand for price regulation that split the industry, the program was expected in some circles to prohibit sales of crude at less than cost of production, with factors determining that cost to be set forth.

Peek Dissatisfied With Grain Code

Says Pits Should Bar Active Traders From Governing Bodies.

(Associated Press.)

Dissatisfaction with the proposed code of competition presented by grain exchanges was voiced yesterday by George N. Peek, chief farm administrator, who declared further steps were necessary "to clean house."

He told newspapermen that governing bodies of grain exchanges should exclude from their membership persons actively engaged "in trading and speculation."

Some exchanges, he said, now have conduct committees from which active traders and speculators have been excluded, but he added that the Chicago Board of Trade, the largest trading center in the country, is "not one of them."

Five Million Hogs May Go to Needy

Slaughter Is Proposed to Relieve Farmers and Destitute.

(Associated Press.)

Five million swine may be led to slaughter in the next few weeks to provide food for the hungry and to assist hard-up corn belt farmers.

An emergency program for this action was proposed yesterday to farm administrators by the national corn and hog committee of 25 and there were indications afterward it would be adopted with modifications.

Administrators took part in drafting the plan, which has been indorsed by spokesmen from farm organizations. It would be financed by a processing tax on hogs weighing more than 235 pounds and be carried out between August 15 and October 1.

Under the proposal, it is intended that meat would be provided at low cost to the unemployed and destitute and aid given corn belt farmers, confronted by the greatest feed shortage in 50 years as a result of drought.

I. C. C. Limits Baldwin's Rail Salary to $36,000

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday fixed at $36,000 a year the maximum salary to be paid L. W. Baldwin as trustee of the Missouri Pacific Railroad under the new voluntary bankruptcy act. Baldwin is former president of the road.

The salary of Guy A. Thompson, another trustee, was placed at $25,000 and that of Edward J. White, counsel for the trustees, at $18,000.

Listed among Tannen's creditors are Will Rogers, $200; George S. Kaufman, playwright, $750; Ed Wynn, comedian, $350, and Heywood Broun, newspaper columnist, $129.

Tip in Sanborn Slaying Hints At Blackmail

New York Police Check Rail Man's Bank Withdrawals.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—The financial records of Henry F. Sanborn, slain railroad executive, were studied again today by authorities seeking to learn if withdrawals from his bank account would support a theory of blackmail as a possible motive.

Charles P. Sullivan, assistant district attorney of Queens County, who examined the records, said he was "working on a tip," but refused to divulge its nature.

Investigation of the slaying of Sanborn, whose body was found buried in a shallow grave Saturday near Bayside, Long Island, has centered for the last two days around his financial and business affairs.

Sanborn's associates in the New York branch of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad and associates of Bancroft Mitchell, son of the former Attorney General, in a brewery pool have been questioned by authorities. Police found in Sanborn's clothing receipts for brewery stock which they said were signed by Mitchell.

Police today started a search for the brown traveling bag, containing wearing apparel, which they said Sanborn was carrying when he departed from his office on July 17, the day he disappeared.

Plane Crash Is Laid To Broken Rudder

Fishermen Tell How Navy Craft Carried Five to Death at Honolulu.

Honolulu, Aug. 10 (AP).—Fishermen who witnessed the fall of a Naval seaplane near here yesterday, causing five deaths, said today the craft's rudder broke off, throwing it out of control into the ocean.

As the ship hurtled downward, they saw Lieut. Ted C. Marshall, pilot under instruction, jump from it, but he was too low and his parachute had insufficient time to open. The disabled plane struck the water where Marshall fell. The fishermen found him floating with a parachute still attached. He died on the way to Pearl Harbor Hospital.

Divers worked today in 8 fathoms of water to recover the plane. They said it was badly wrecked. Last night the divers brought up the body of Seaman L. B. Pitt. They believed the bodies of Lieut. Charles P. Hill, the pilot; Aviation Mate C. C. Stewart and Radioman V. C. Hovey still were in the plane.

$3.50 Auto Taken From City Streets

San Francisco, Aug. 10 (AP).—Kok Yong's automobile was a good car for $3.50.

But it had its deficiencies. The horn wouldn't honk, the lights wouldn't light, the brakes wouldn't brake and there were deficiencies in Kok Yong's driving. He drove through traffice signals and collected traffic tags he couldn't read.

It was his first trip to downtown San Francisco in ten years. It will be his last for another decade in that particular vehicle. The municipal court sentenced the machine to 10 years' more isolation out at Hunters Point with the shrimps Kok Yong catches.

Tomato Canners Told Price Should Be Raised

(Associated Press.)

Another reminder went forth yesterday that President Roosevelt wants farmers to be benefited by present price levels, despite the existence of contracts made some time ago when their products sold for less money.

Charles J. Brand, coadministrator of the farm act, told tomato canning companies that growers should recieve 25 per cent more than the average contract made before prices rose. He estimated this would give the tomato growers an additional $2,000,000.

Pere Marquette Drops $2,000,000 Loan Bid

(Associated Press.)

The Pere Marquette Railway yesterday withdrew its application for a $2,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

A pick-up in earnings and agreement by the State of Michigan to defer its taxes made the loan unnecessary, it was explained.

Norbeck Irked In Park Probe

Objects to Questioning Involving Interior Department.

Jackson, Wyo., Aug. 10 (AP).—Testimony involving the Interior Department provoked flurries of argument today in the Senate committee investigating the John D. Rockefeller, jr., park program in the Jackson Hole country.

Senator Norbeck (Republican), South Dakota, objected when John C. Pickett, attorney for the committee, asked of A. W. Gabby questions which he said were tending to show unfair methods by the department in an adverse decision on Gabby's homestead application.

"We're not investigating the Interior Department," Norbeck said. "If we do that, we would be exceeding the authority of the committee."

"Here's a man who claims he has been unfairly dealt with, that undue pressure has been brought to bear against him, and I believe he has the right to be heard," Pickett asserted.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

County Manager Roy S. Braden and Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas plan to leave for Richmond tomorrow to present the county's application for a loan of $2,250,000, under the provisions of the national industrial act, to the State advisory committee.

The loan is proposed to finance sewerage construction.

The decision to file application tomorrow followed a long-distance telephone conversation with Robert B. Preston, who stated the committee would hold an executive meeting at that time. It was learned also that the committee expects to appoint at this time the engineer who will serve in an advisory capacity.

Braden said the county's application is ready to file, with tentative plans and estimates.

As soon as the county receives assurance that the loan will be approved, a request will be made to a circuit court judge to order a special election on the bond issue.

Raskob Commends Roosevelt's Course

San Francisco, Aug. 10 (AP).—John J. Raskob, of New York, financial backer of the Democratic party during the presidential campaign of Alfred E. Smith, paused on a vacation trip here today to commend the 'intelligent leadership' of President Roosevelt.

"The American people are cooperating with him unitedly," he said, "to get rid of the depression."

He predicted the eighteenth amendment would be out of the Constitution by the end of this year or early in the next, and commented upon the "steady improvement" of the motor industry.

Industry Takes Recruits From Forest Camps

2½ Per Cent of Workers in Virginia Area Leave for Private Jobs.

Increased demands for labor in private industry have decreased the number of reforestation workers by about 2½ per cent, according to camp commanders in the Virginia area.

Almost every camp reports that within the last two weeks an average of five men have left to take other jobs. The number leaving is even higher in the veterans' camp at Greenlee, Va.

These veterans were recruited in the steel mill district of Pennsylvania. Renewed activity in the steel industry has taken 15 men since the third week in July.

Lieut. M. A. Hatch, in command of the camp at Sperryville, Va., reports that five Washington men and five Virginia men have been discharged from his company to take jobs.

One of the newest camps in Virginia, that at the foot of a mountain near Grottoes, reports that two men have left to take other jobs since the camp was established a few weeks ago. The men are required to produce proof that other work has been offered them before they are allowed to go. Those who leave for private employment are given honorable discharges.

French Troops Guard Frontier Against Nazis

Move Taken to Prevent Alleged Aggressions by Germans.

Mulhouse, France, Aug. 10 (AP).—As a precution against alleged aggressions by German Nazis such as occurred last February at Huningue, French troops again were stationed on the German frontier near here today.

Where only isolated customs posts are normally maintained, small detachments from the Mulhouse garrison went on duty at Huningue, Kembs and Chalampe.

The dispatch of troops to these frontier points was upon request of the local population.

Last February 21 Nazis, said to be more than 200 in number, marched to the middle of Huningue Bridge, singing German songs, including "Deutschland Uber Alles." Protests were made by France to the German government and the League of Nations regarding this affair.

New Break Foiled At Jail in Fairfax

Sheriff Finds Brick Wall Hole Almost Through; U. S. Loan Sought.

The Fairfax County, Va., jail may be old and decrepit, but due to the alertness of Sheriff Eppa P. Kirby successful jail breaks are few and far between.

Early yesterday morning Sheriff Kirby foiled another one of the many almost successful breaks and the escape of about 20 prisoners. A large hole had been cut through the old brick wall with pieces wrenched off the beds. A slight shove and the few remaining bricks between the inside and outside would have been removed. The prisoners, who had been given the freedom of the "bull pen" because of overcrowded conditions, were herded into the eight small cells.

The attempted break came soon after the county board of supervisors had decided to seek a Federal reconstruction loan for a new $50,000 jail.

Arrests Curb Milk Strikers In New York

125 Held in One Round-up on Charges They Incited Riot.

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP).—Arrests by wholesale numbers were made today by State troopers and sheriff's men in their effort to break the backbone of New York State's widely spread, 10-day-old strike of milk producers. One roundup alone brought 125 men into court to face charges of attempting to incite a riot.

Reports from all sectors of the producers' holiday led Gov. Herbert H. Lehman to express a belief that "the milk strike is rapidly coming under control" and that "there have been fewer riots and the milk supply has been increasing."

The sheriff of Tioga County, assisted by 40 deputies and 25 State police, arrested 125 men near the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad right of way, 5 miles from Oswego, county seat, this morning, on suspicion, according to the sheriff's office, that they were about to waylay a milk train due in a few minutes.

Jean Malin Dies In Plunge Off Pier

Venice, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP).—His automobile's plunge off an ocean pier killed Jean Malin today a few minutes after he had ended an advertised "farewell appearance" at a night club.

Two other persons were injured as Malin, night club entertainer and female impersonator, died in the ironical accident.

So Says U. S. Specialist; Porpoises Often Look Like Them.

Chesapeake Bay is a natural habitat of sharks, but they are not dangerous to humans, Isaac Ginsburg, aquatic biologist of the Bureau of Fisheries, told The Washington Post yesterday.

"There are plenty of sharks in Chesapeake Bay," Mr. Ginsburg stated. "They are not visitors. They live there and breed there. But they are of the ground-shark species and though armed with formidable teeth, they are timid and will flee from people. I have seen them run away on more than one occasion. Bathers should not be frightened by them.

"I know of no case of a ferocious shark having entered Chesapeake Bay, and I am familiar with only one authenticated case of a so-called man-eater coming in close to the North Atlantic shore. The hammerheads and other ferocious sharks are open water fish and keep to the sea if they do come into northern waters."

Are Only Scavengers.

Dr. Gudger says:

"Almost every year at this time reports come from bathing beaches contiguous to New York, that sharks have been sighted, and they are at once labeled as man-eaters. Sometimes these 'sharks' are not sharks but porpoises whose dorsal fins look like those of sharks—but even when sharks are sharks they are seldom man-eaters, only scavengers.

"Within my experience I know of only one 'man-eater' who lived up to his reputation. This was some 15 years ago when a shark entered several of the salt-water rivers along the Jersey coast, where he attacked and maimed several people.

"There are sharks in Atlantic waters from Greenland to the West Indies, and for sharks to be seen in-shore in this locality at this time of year is neither unusual nor alarming. Of course, I would not advise anyone to deliberately fling himself in the path of a shark. Caution is always desirable, but there is no reason for a 'scare'."

Attracted by Garbage.

Dr. Gudger expresses the belief that sharks who do visit the vicinity of the shore are attracted by the garbage dumped into the warm waters off New York. The shark, he says, does not fish by sight but by smell, and he adds that the nose is not only the shark's greatest asset, but its weakest point. A hard blow on the nose will stun it in the same manner that an uppercut against the chin will knock down a man. While, he says, this knowledge is poor consolation to a swimmer, his advice to a boatman who meets a shark is to hit it on the nose and then cut its throat.

Dr. Gudger says that the reputation of the hammerhead for ferocity as far as his knowledge goes, is overrated in this locality. It appears to be more ferocious in tropical waters as records show that virtually all the shark biting is done in the tropics. Only recently, he says, he received from Sydney, Australia, a document covering some two-score accounts of attacks by sharks on human beings along the eastern Australian coast. Another shark-infested spot is the head of the Bay of Bengal and the mouth of the Ganges as far as Calcutta.

Harry F. Payne, 77, Dies at Warrenton

Warrenton, Va., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—Harry Fitzhugh Payne, 77, son of Gen. William H. Payne, former attorney for the Southern Railway, died today in Fauquier Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Payne was unmarried. He leaves two brothers and a sister, Winston Payne, of Washington, and Bland Payne, and Mrs. Emma Hunton, of Richmond. The funeral will be held Saturday at 3 p. m. from St. James Church, Warrenton.

Woman Doctor Under Further Murder Probe

Greenwood, Miss., Aug. 10 (AP).—Investigation of evidence to support the murder charge against Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, 33-year-old unmarried physician, was shifted to Jackson today by District Attorney R. A. Jordan.

He went there to get testimony from those who heard the deathbed statement of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, 40-year-old prominent surgeon, in which he was quoted as saying he was given poison in a whisky highball by Dr. Dean, his former medical associate, ten days before he died in a Jackson hospital.

Jordan has obtained a statement from a roomer at the house where Dr. Kennedy lived, saying the surgeon received four telephone calls from a woman the night he was poisoned. The district attorney said Dr. Kennedy got up at the fourth call, dressed and went out about midnight.

A letter signed "Ruth" also has been turned over to the district attorney, who said the letter read, in part:

"I am leaving Greenwood soon and you ought to come to see me. You owe me a going away party."

Other witnesses have told the district attorney Dr. Kennedy and Dr. Dean had been together often prior to and after Kennedy's wife had obtained a divorce on grounds of "cruel and inhuman treatment."

But in recent months, the district attorney said, witnesses told him Dr. Kennedy had stopped seeing her and had begun to call on his divorced wife. They had planed to remarry in Panama.

Alexandria Health Better Than in Previous Years

The report of Dr. W. L. Schafer, city health officer of Alexandria, for July indicates that the general health of the city was better than it has been in years.

The Federal Diary

Trade-Mark Applied For.

ALTHOUGH we do not have Kings and Queens in the United States we do have an aristocracy (our royalty) composed of high Government officials, big banks, big manufacturers, &c., &c. They have as much power, if not more, than the few remaining "blue bloods" in Europe and elsewhere. They can do no wrong. We wouldn't be surprised if some of them didn't secretly believe that they ruled by "divine right!"

When you consider how many Government officials have patriotically placed their entire family (wife, daughter, son, cousins, nephews, &c.) in Uncle Sam's service (for a consideration!) during this hour of dire need, then you are not left in doubt as to who are the Jacks! There is no effort made to cover up this nepotism. It is flaunted in the faces of the poor Jacks, two of whom matrimonially welded, can not work for Uncle Sam at the same time. The aristocracy even have a corner on deeds of patriotism! The Jack can bray, kick and otherwise show his displeasure at this favoritism, but alas! the Kings and Queens exclaim: "How dare this underling set up such a howl. After all, he is but a Jack!"

Alas and alack! Poor Jack wants to do his part. Jack, also, wants to be a patriot. He wants his wife, sister, brother, son, daughter, cousin, &c., also to work for Uncle Sam's vast recovery drive. Didn't Jack serve in the World War? Didn't he buy Liberty bonds? Didn't his wife roll bandages? His daughter drive an ambulance in France? He wants the whole family to serve dear old Uncle at this critical period, too, but somehow he is kept at the bottom of the deck. He and his wife can not both work together for the Government of his beloved land Jack is just an ordinary fellow. Home-maker. Upright. Law-abiding. He wants to do his part. The whole family wants to do its part. Senator So-and-so, Representative So-and-so, Gen. So-and-so, are patriotically doing their bit by having their whole family work for the Government. Jack really needs an extra wage-earner in the family, what with prices going up as they are. Payments are behind on the house he is buying.

HE wonders if Gen. So-and-so is worrying about his payments on his house. He wonders if Senator So-and-so has to skimp and spend nights worring about his budget. During the great war the whole family worked for Uncle Sam. Uncle Sam has declared another war. A war on the depression. Everybody must do his part. Jack is a Government worker. Each day when he comes home his wife tells him that she doesn't know how they are going to keep the house that Jack built because each day at the market she discovers that something has gone up 2 or 3 cents. What to do? Jack's wife did have a Government job. She was dismissed. She didn't mind so much at first, for she wanted to do her part.

Uncle Sam had to economize, she was told. She'd help old Uncle any day. However, she has learned that the higher salaried married women in her bureau have not been dismissed. Their husbands also hold big-salary jobs under Uncle Sam. Mrs. Jack doesn't want to accuse Uncle Sam of favoritism but she is beginning to become suspicious. She has even begun to doubt the efficacy of the efficiency rating chart because she has found out that several of her friends (all very good workers with long experience) have been let out because of low efficiency rating.

Of course, Jack realizes that even some of the aristocracy have been touched by the tainted finger of depression. However, he doubts if the few have suffered like so many of his Jack acquaintances. Jack is beginning to think that the great chief at the Maison Blanche should ease up on these royalty appointments or the great chief will lose some of his well-earned prestige. The great chief is looked upon as a god. He cannot, must not do any wrong.

The Jacks are a bit peeved at this blot on the shiny, white armor of their knight of the great recovery program. Can the great chief continue to close his eyes at these conditions? When will he mount his mighty steed and hunt out this dragon Nepotism and cut off its head before it advances upon the Maison Blanche itself and destroys the great champion of the Jacks! They have confidence in their leader. They put him in the Maison Blanche. The Jacks wish he were a little more paternal. They want to be on top of the deck with the other face cards.

JUNIUS.

Justifiable Sarcasm.

A NEW highspeed saw was being demonstrated before a group of Navy Yard master mechanics and metallurgists. The saw seemed to melt cleanly and smoothly through steel, brass, wood and bakelite.

"The Government should purchase a flock of those saws," remarked one man, grimly, speaking his part, in accordance with the NRA. "Then these saws could be used to cut through our salaries with less pain and miserable hacking."

And considering that a ridiculous salary cut of over 33 per cent will be suffered by 3,800 Navy Yard employes, despite the NRA boosting of prices and salaries, will the RFC please open several more poorhouses for those unfortunates already on starvation salaries?

AN exhaustive investigation of the antecedents of the word "they," with a view of arriving at at least one definition, leads me to offer the following:

"They," a contraction of the word "theory," from which is derived "theorist," which means "one given to theorizing, or to speculation as from an individualistic viewpoint."

There you are, just as simple as the way "they" arrive at some of the ratings "they" do.—O. E. L.

The Regular Guy.

Buddy wasn't much to look at.
But he sure was a "regular guy."
And I'll tell this cockeyed world
That ain't no part of a lie.

He was just the kind of a chap
That would trump his partner's ace,
And make the dogs all bark
At the sight of his homely face.

But he was there to help
Whenever you needed a friend,
With the last dollar he had on earth,
That maybe he ought'en to spend.

He was a good man to tie to
This he critter, as a whole,
With some doin's a little bit shady,
But he sure had a white soul.

So when I stack my chips,
And it comes my time to die;
Fellows, just put on my tombstone
"Here lies a 'Regular Guy.'"

Two Salaries.

"HERE'S an example of what is being done with those "two salaries"—and not very big ones. The wife sends money to support her mother and afflicted brother in the South. The husband sends clothes and money to a brother, a jobless veteran, ill and not entitled to compensation, in the West.

Perhaps if the people in various parts of the country who are yipping about the fat salaries and soft jobs of the Federal employe knew more cases of this kind they would be less interested in the paid propaganda of interests opposed to the Government clerk.

I am sure that the salaries of the Government worker have eased materially the financial burden of many a Community Chest and relief agency throughout the United States." Other papers please copy.

Dream of a Federal Servant.

By Anthony Fairfax.

He picked up The Post,
And he turned to the Diary
Of Federal news,
Conducted by Riley.

Great headlines he saw.
Oh, this can't be true!
Last night? . . . did I drink
Too much 3.2?

He stared at the column—
"Federal servants have won.
"Government salaries restored"—
But dreams flee with the sun.

And so I'll continue
To mix words in a box—
Then string them together
For a pass to Loew's "Fox!"

Willard Crisswell, dynometer lab., Bureau of Standards, took his year's payless furlough rather philosophically. He went to his home in Texas for a visit, and then to enter the University of Texas for a year, and secure his degree.

A good old-fashioned farewell surprise party was given for him at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey, Chesapeake street. Richard Dill, Bureau of Standards, an old cellmate, was master of ceremonies. He prefaced his presentation of the parting gift with a brief resume of Mr. Crisswell's colorful life during his sojourn in Washington, which, together with Mr. Crisswell's equally revealing reply, beggared May West's hottest reelers, Au revoir, Criss, and good luck.

What with pay cuts, payless furloughs and limited leave in the Government service; one's family living on the other side of the country, mother is ill, and we haven't seen her in three years, its not a very cheerful prospect. However, one little Government clerk, undaunted, spent five wearisome days on a bus in order to spend a few days with her mother. Our hat off to Miss Esther Ober (*), Farm Credit Administration, for her courage and loyalty, on her return from Los Angeles.

Ritchie Troops Ignore Rains In Maneuvers

Cloudburst Soaks Bedding; Army Instructor Lauds Morale and Work.

Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—Despite a cloudburst over the mountains east of Gettysburg this morning, approximately 350 men and officers of District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia National Guard remained in the drenching downpour to complete the work of the command post exercise.

With canvas stretched overhead as a camouflage giving some protection, the men dug ditches around their quarters to keep the water from soaking their equipment, but were not successful, as the mountain streams had overflowed the banks and water, sometime as much as a foot deep, flowed around their feet.

Upon arriving at the scene of operation, pup tents were erected, as the plan was to remain in the open overnight and complete the problem tomorrow. Blankets and bed rolls were placed in the tents and the men reported to their officers for duty. Unable to return in time to rescue the equipment, it was necessary to return to camp in the afternoon for dry clothing and bedding.

Will Billet in Barn.

The Ninety-first Brigade of Virginia will billet in an empty barn near the brigade command post tonight. The headquarters detachment, Twenty-ninth Division and Twenty-ninth Military Police Company, of Washington; The Signal Company, of Norfolk, and the Fifty-fourth Field Artillery Brigade Headquarters Company and the Fifty-eighth Brigade Headquarters Company, of Maryland, will stay in the camp, planning to return to the field tomorrow morning to complete the problem.

The telephone communications between the various command installed earlier in the week by the Signal Company, over an area of approximately 5 miles, were not affected by the rain.

Brig. Gen. S. Gardner Waller, of Virginia, and Brig. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, of Maryland, were present during the field activities. Maj. L. C. Silvester, Army instructor of the Twenty-ninth Division, complimented the men on their morale and work.

"I am more than satisfied with the results attained," he said, "and, despite the inclement weather, feel that the problem has been a success."

Trucks Are Stuck in Mud.

Returning to camp, the men drove over roads covered with water, in places more than 18 inches deep. Three trucks carrying the troops were stuck in the mud. It was necessary to send other trucks for transportation. Several privately owned automobiles could not be started, owing to ignition trouble. These were left in the field with a guard of nine men from the military police company.

Planes of the Twenty-ninth Division took part in the exercises for a while, but were ordered to return to Dietrich Field at Frederick, owing to the low ceiling and adverse conditions.

At the boxing matches last night David Epstein, military police company, defeated John M. Whalen, of Company F; Williams M. Thomas won his bout with H. John Lee, of Company F, and Frank Mackenzie, military police, fought a draw with William Vaughan, of the C. C. C. Arthur B. Harrison and Robert L. Grimm, both of the headquarters and service company, staged a wrestling match.

Vote on Repeal In 39 States Seen by Jan. 1

Kentucky Legislature Is Called to Select Date Tuesday.

(Associated Press.)

The Nation's quick-shifting repeal map yesterday showed possibilities that 39 States will ballot well before next New Year's Eve on the question of whether prohibition is or is not to be.

Rounding off a week of major wet-and-dry developments, Gov. Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky, yesterday called a special session of the Legislature for August 15, to vote on submitting the eighteenth amendment.

Vote in Louisiana.

A few hours earlier, Gov. O. K. Allen of Louisiana confirmed a statement that a special session of the State's Legsilature would be called for the same purpose. Allen set no date.

Should both States be given votes before the year's end, however, the total to ballot would reach 39 as a minimum. Ratification by 36 are necessary for repeal.

Arizona's vote for repeal of the amendment by a three-to-one vote earlier in the week brought to 21 the States that have spoken without a break for abolition of the dry law.

Commanders of the prohibition and antiprohibition forces turned immediately to Missouri, where ballots will be cast next week. Other States to make decisions this month will be Texas and Washington.

Election in Utah.

The absolute certainty that at least 37 States will vote this year was sealed yesterday when Gov. Henry H. Flood of Utah issued a proclamation calling an election November 7, to record that State's position.

Gov. Johnson signed a bill yesterday setting September 12 for a special election on repeal in Colorado. In addition, Gov. Frank H. Cooney of Montana has indicated he might call for a vote should it be considered necessary.

Bluenose Is Freed On $10,000 Bond

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP).—The racing schooner Bluenose was at liberty tonight to put her head into any breeze.

A $10,000 bond was posted as a surety for payment of any judgment obtained against the craft in the case of Addison Stillwell, wealthy clubman, who is suing the owners and Capt. Angus J. Walters, the master, for $5,000 damages.

Stillwell obtained an attachment against the boat pending posting of the bond. Two deputy United States marshals and a Federal custodian were placed aboard. They were withdrawn after the bond was posted.

The clubman said that a $2,500 chartered cruise aboard the Bluenose became such an ordeal because of actions of the captain and crew that it was necessary to leave the boat.

Famous Peruvian Leader Released

Lima, Peru, Aug. 10 (AP).—After 14 months close confinement in a penitentiary, Victor Raul Haya de la Torre, reputedly one of South America's most powerful political figures, was again a free man today.

The noted leader of the "Apra" (American Popular Revolutiontary Association) and an unsuccessful candidate for the presidency of Peru a few months before his arrest, was released late last night with other political prisoners.

It was learned today he left the penitentiary and went to his home shortly after Congress voted approval last evening of a new amnesty law.

The sensational arrest of Haya led to the severance of diplomatic relations between Mexico and Peru, which only recently were resumed through the intervention of Spain. Haya was arrested in a house near the Mexican Legation at Miraflores soon after an assassin wounded President Sanchez Cerro in the same town. The Mexican Minister was accused of giving shelter to Haya.

De Valera Attack Stirs Free State

President Bitterly Accused in Official Journal of Cosgrave Party.

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 10 (AP).—Political tension increased today with a bitter attack on President Eamon De Valera, published in the United Irishman, official organ of former President William T. Cosgrave's party.

President De Valera, meanwhile made no official move to ban the projected parade on Sunday of Gen. Owen O'Duffy's "Blue Shirts," although he remained in close consultation with his ministers on the situation.

An allegation in the Cosgrave publication was that last week, when government officers were confiscating revolvers held by private citizens, collectors for the Irish republican army were making a house-to-house canvass in Dublin, asking for subscriptions to "arm and equip" the I. R. A.

Marked Money Leading Agents To Kidnapers

Federal Operative Hopes Bills Will Help Catch Urschel's Abductors.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 10 (AP).—Federal operatives today sought to forge the missing link in the Urschel kidnaping case in the heat of persistent questioning of three men held here.

From their explanations of how they came to possess $1,500 in marked money paid for the release of Charles Urschel, Werner Hanni, head of the Bureau of Investigation here, expects to learn the millionaire Oklahoma oil man's kidnapers.

"Eventually we will reach the actual kidnapers," Hanni predicted.

So far, said the Federal investigator heading a force of 15 agents here, the 3 men have related "impossible and unreasonable" stories of how they came to be involved with the marked money.

The story of one, Charles Wolk, head of a Minneapolis transfer company, has set agents hunting two strangers.

About $500 more of the marked ransom money has appeared in the Twin Cities.

Edwardsville, Ill., Aug. 10 (AP).—Six men and two women were indicted by a grand jury here today on charges of kidnaping for ransom in connection with the abduction of August Luer, wealthy Alton banker.

Those indicted: Randall Eugene Norvell, professional bondsman and gambler, of Nameoki, Ill.; Walter Holland, alias O'Malley, former convict; Percy Michael Fitzgerald, for whom six aliases are given; Grace Chase, with seven aliases; Christ Gitcho, former grocer, of Madison, Ill.; Michael Musiale, Lillian Chessen, and Charles Chessen, her husband, both of East Alton.

Chief of Police Joseph Gerk, of St. Louis, made public a confession by Norvell, in which he implicated all those indicted.

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 10 (AP).—Moving to keep Frank Zimmerman, 26, Chicago taxi driver and alleged bank robber, behind iron bars in Washington, D. Welter today sent four additional indictments against him to Washington.

Each requires a $50,000 bond. Among the new charges was that Zimmerman kidnaped Cashier Earl McNamar at his home and forced him to go to the bank before opening hours and unlock the safe.

When people tell you, "all motor fuels are alike," remember this:

The composition of Essolene is protected by U. S. Patent Pending.

And remember this: Squarely behind Essolene . . . as a guarantee . . . is the world's greatest oil organization, fully aware of its responsibility to the public as the leader of the industry.

Essolene contains a special solvent oil which cleans, keeps clean and in proper working condition valve stems, piston rings, piston ring grooves. It contains no ordinary lubricating oil. Its anti-knock value is unsurpassed by any regular-priced gasoline, and it is non-gas-locking.

These are the facts about Essolene. The guaranteed facts.

Hundreds of Washington boys who served in the Junior Defense Guard under the leadership of Lieut. C. Phillips Hill, jr., U. S. N., who was killed Tuesday in an airplane crash in Hawaii, are planning to participate in services to be held in his memory.

To these boys, Lieut. Hill was the "Little Colonel." From the founding of their organization, which was connected with the Theodorus Bailey Myers House of the Women's Naval Service, young Hill was one of its outstanding figures.

When he was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1927, he was presented with a sword by the Women's Naval Service in recognition of his leadership of its junior organization.

It is understood that in the event of recovery Lieut. Hill's body will be brought to Washington and buried in Arlington Cemetery, following services at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hill, of 1838 Wyoming avenue northwest.

Besides his mother and father, Lieut. Hill is survived by his wife, the former Miss Barbara Decker; his brother, Lieut Arthur Sinclair Hill, U. S. N.; his sister, Miss Frances Hill. Other near relatives include his grandmother, Mrs. C. P. Montague; his aunts, Mrs. George Barnett, widow of the war commandant of the Marine Corps, and Mrs. George Murray, wife of the American Air Attache at London, and his cousins, Basil Gordon, of Baltimore; Mrs. Henry Suydam, of Washington, and Mrs. Robert R. Dickey 2d, of Pau, France.

The Cuban Situation.

Conditions in Cuba have reached a critical state, and President Machado has decreed a suspension of constitutional guarantees for 30 days. He declares that the general strike has afforded an opportunity for public enemies to "create a revolutionary state in the country," which he meets by declaring that a state of war exists. Military units have replaced the police and public order is rigorously enforced.

President Roosevelt has been watching the Cuban situation with anxious concern. He has hoped that the good offices of Ambassador Welles would result in a compromise by Cuban political factions which would pave the way for betterment of economic conditions. After a conference with the Cuban Ambassador on Wednesday President Roosevelt issued a statement in which he said that both he and the Cuban envoy felt that "the problems of starvation and of depression are of such immediate importance that even political problems should be met in the most patriotic spirit in order to improve conditions at the earliest possible moment."

President Roosevelt is known to be reluctant to invoke the power conferred by the Platt amendment. Under the interpretations placed upon that amendment by Secretary Root and Senator Platt, intervention is a last resort, for the purpose of protecting the independence of Cuba against domestic anarchy or foreign attack. Secretary Root officially advised a committee of the Cuban constitutional assembly, then considering the amendment, that "intervention will only take place to protect the independence of Cuba from foreign attack, or when a veritable state of anarchy exists within the republic." Senator Platt explained to the Senate that "the amendment was carefully worded so as to avoid any possible thought that acceptance of it by the constituent assembly would tend to establish a protectorate or a suzerainty or any form of meddling with the independence or sovereignty of Cuba."

The Warwick Clinic.

Establishment of an up-to-date cancer clinic in Washington is a significant event. Cancer is still a baffling mystery to medical science, but there is much that can be done to save victims in the early stages of the disease. The new Warwick Clinic will give residents of Washington a degree of protection against cancer that is available in few other cities.

Because of the insidious manner of its development many individuals are not aware of their danger until cancer has a strong hold upon their systems. In the beginning cancer may appear to be only a harmless lump or bruise. That is why it is of vital importance to have well-equipped clinics available to all the people. If preliminary symptoms can be investigated without delay, there is a fair chance of saving the life of the victim.

Millions of dollars have been spent in research without revealing the cause of cancer. That work still goes on, but in the meantime medical science is able to render valuable service to victims who are threatened by this malady. Many lives can be saved by X-ray treatments and surgery if the cancer is discovered soon enough. Considerable emphasis is being placed, therefore, upon the establishment of clinics where complete diagnoses can be made and treatment given. Washington is indeed fortunate to have such an excellent institution as the Warwick Clinic to facilitate this work.

Home Mortgage Bonds.

Relief for home owners under the recent acts of Congress seems to depend upon the willingness of mortgage holders to accept bonds of the Home Owners Loan Corporation in exchange for mortgages. Congress authorized the corporation to issue bonds to an aggregate amount of $2,000,000,000 to aid distressed home owners. Interest of 4 per cent on these obligations is guaranteed by the Government, but there is no Federal guarantee as to the principal. Mortgage holders have not yet shown a disposition to accept these bonds in large amounts.

In his appeal to building and loan associations, savings banks and homestead associations to join in the campaign to relieve home owners President Roosevelt urged these groups to accept bonds of the Home Owners Loan Corporation in exchange for mortgages on homes. But these associations are not yet certain as to how these bonds will be rated by the Comptroller of the Currency. Consequently, aid to home owners is held up pending a decision by the Comptroller and further study of the matter by mortgage holders.

The District Council of Building and Loan Associations has written a letter to I. I. Chorpening, chief national bank examiner in this area, asking whether the H. O. L. C. bonds will be appraised at their face value or their market value upon examination of loan association assets. The decision of the Comptroller may have an important bearing on the outcome of the home mortgage relief program.

Federal Reorganization.

Reorganization of the Government service is a tremendous undertaking. It is not only a matter of shifting personnel, but of adjusting the service that is rendered to the public. The casual observer is inclined to think that extensive improvements could be made in the Government service, but the practical executive finds that readjustment is extremely difficult.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the savings originally estimated for the reorganization program have been greatly reduced, and that some of the proposed changes have been delayed. A recent estimate by the Budget Bureau placed the savings from contemplated adjustments at $25,000,000. But the changes which have actually gone into effect are expected to cut only $5,000,000 from Uncle Sam's expense account. Further economies doubtless will be effected within the next few months. A saving of approximately $18,000,000 is contemplated from the establishment of a centralized procurement and disbursement agency in the Treasury Department.

Fabulous estimates of amounts that might be saved by merging Federal egencies are often made. But large savings usually entail either the abolition of functions or the dismissal of needed employees.

Aside from the reorganization program the Government is building up large agencies to administer the recovery acts. The result may be a net addition to the complicated machinery of government. For every function that has been abolished several others have been taken over. Many employees released from their regular positions are finding new jobs with the National Recovery Administration, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the Public Works Administration or the Farm Credit Administration. To get a complete picture of the vast changes that are being made in the Government service this building-up process must be considered along with the abolition and consolidation of bureaus.

An Unemployment Project.

A practical experiment to help the unemployed to help themselves has been recently carried out by the city of Hamburg, Germany. The Horner marsh, which less than two years ago was a waste of water, bog and mud, is today dotted with comfortable gardens and little homes. The marsh, which covered nearly 7,000 acres, is situated between Hamburg and the Prussian boundary.

The municipality appropriated $320,000 to buy the necessary materials for the reclamation plan, and the unemployed eagerly volunteered to do the work. They were organized into working units with a committee for supervision of the entire project. Every bit of the work, from the first ditches to the building of the houses and planting of gardens, was done by the jobless. An idea of the scope of the undertaking may be had from the fact that 1,000 workers dug more than seventeen miles of trenches for drainage purposes.

The wood necessary for fencing and buildings was provided for the workers without cost. A loan of 100 marks for ten years free of interest was granted to each holder of a plot. This sum was for the purchase of garden tools, seeds and fruit trees. The area is leased to the unemployed for a period of ten years at nominal rents. For the first two years there will be no charge; six marks will be collected from each plot-holder from the third to the sixth year, and twelve marks from the seventh to the tenth year.

The city of Hamburg believes that this investment made to clear the marsh will be returned many times in years to come. Visitors who have inspected the reclaimed sections observe that the moral effect upon the unemployed who have been benefited is inestimable. They have experienced the satisfaction of again being able to work, and of having created something of permanent value for themselves.

Heavier Hens' Eggs.

The International Baby Chick Association, now holding its conference at Grand Rapids, promises to be more fruitful than the London economic conference. By eschewing politics and confining its efforts to chick-raising and the improvement of hens and their product, the association prevents deadly feuds among its members and contributes to the peace and welfare of the nations. If its members are all as alert and enterprising as Dr. R. T. Parkhurst, of Harrison, N. J., vast augmentation of national and world wealth may be expected to result from its deliberations.

Dr. Parkhurst reported the results of feeding tests which he conducted on hens in England, as director of the National Institute of Poultry Research. He experimented with white Leghorn and white Wyandotte hens. He found that by judicious addition of cod liver oil to the menu of hens they produced eggs weighing an ounce more per dozen. To the consumer, he said, this extra weight is equivalent to adding one egg to each two dozen of the average market size.

The poultry population of the United States is supposed to be about 700,000,000. There must be at least 250,000,000 hens engaged in egg-laying—sometimes the barnyard noise makes this estimate seem absurdly low. If there is sufficient cod liver oil in the universe at a reasonable price, it would be sheer folly to neglect the opportunity to increase the hen output by one egg in every two dozen. Dr. Parkhurst does not go into details concerning his feeding methods, but presumably no force or coercion was employed on the English hens. In this free republic hens are rather self-assertive, and perhaps they would balk at cod liver oil. However, science is nothing if not resourceful. Some method of camouflage or outright compulsion might be necessary to bring results if American hens should turn up their noses at cod liver oil. Of course, the substitution of cottonseed oil would be an unfair practice, and not tolerable under the hen code.

The hen is doing yeoman's work for national recovery, but if it could be persuaded to increase the weight of its product during this emergency the country would be doubly grateful.

Reservoir Floods.

The breaking of the Castlewood dam, which precipitated a flood upon Denver, Colo., once more calls attention to the imperative importance of the most thorough investigation in advance of the construction of dams as to every phase of questions covering proper foundations and location for the impounding of a great body of water. Thanks to good communication facilities, the Denver accident was devoid of the great loss of life that has attended other similar disasters in this country. Investigations are under way to determine what caused the crumbling of the dam, which was built about thirty years ago.

The question of the safety of dam sites is especially pertinent just now, in view of various projects contemplated. Dr. Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority recently expressed doubts regarding the suitability of the site selected for the Cover Creek dam, on which work is about to begin. He feared that caves in the sub-surface rock of that vicinity might endanger the dam, but subsequently he withdrew his objection. It would seem that, in view of this recent division of opinion, a full study of the site should be made.

The time for the most complete examination of foundation formations is before a dam is built, rather than after a tragedy has occurred. In the Johnstown disaster, in which 2,000 lives were lost, engineers had warned that the spillway had been reduced in size and the outlet still further lessened by structures to prevent the escape of fish, until spillway capacity was only half that called for by the original plans. Following the breaking of the St. Francis dam above Los Angeles in 1928, when 400 persons were swept away, witnesses testified that the foundations were defective, and the builder acknowledged that he knew there was a leak in the structure. These and other breaks in dams demonstrate the necessity for complete and exhaustive surveys of dam sites, and where the least doubt remains they should be resurveyed.

The National Society of Denture Prosthetists has officially changed the name of "false teeth" to "artificial dentures," but it may be necessary to license the public to make certain that it abides by the code.

One more hop and Gen. Balbo will become an air marshal. Any man who can herd a flock of airplanes over the Atlantic and back deserves a marshal's baton.

Hair and Hard Times.

From the Providence Journal.

One of the human-interest items discussed at the recent annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science has attracted less attention than it deserved. One of the delegates noted an apparent increase in baldness in the past two or three years and raised the question of its probable relation to the depression. It was his belief that a close connection exists between hirsute health and financial well-being and that a condition of hairlessness is promoted by worry during a period of economic stress.

Now it seems to us that the association treated this vital problem altogether too casually. It is one of those matters that an assembly of scientists is apt to regard as trivial, but it is something that is well worth earnest research. We doubt if there was another subject brought up at this year's conclave at Chicago that is of as much profound concern to so many people. Most of us do not care greatly whether or not science succeeds in splitting the atom, but most of us at some time have cause to worry about our hair.

Otherwise the business of making hair tonics and restoratives would not be able to boast one-tenth the established standing as a lucrative industry that it now enjoys.

Hitherto the idea has prevailed that baldness is a purely physical defect. Millions of human beings have in good faith attempted to remedy the trouble on that basis, having been solemnly assured by the experts that the cause was wholly physical. We have supposed that Socrates, Cicero, Shakespeare and other famous baldheads of history became so through some weakness of the hair roots or the lack of some nutritive quality in the scalp. Are we now to assume that they and thousands of other distinguished men lost their hair merely through overmuch worry about financial matters?

The world has always regarded hair as in the nature of a vegetable growth on an animal base. Do luxuriant crops depend on rich soil or are they the result of a carefree disposition? Is hair physical in cause as well as effect, or is it a physical phenomenon produced by mental content and destroyed by mental perturbation? What would be the effect on a penniless, bald-headed man who might suddenly come into possession of a million dollars? Does money make the hair grow? There are a thousand and one questions of profound interest that may be raised by this scientific suggestion. It really seems as if the scientists ought to do something about it.

A Fifteen Year Gap.

The Once Over.

THE MODERN VILLAGE BLACKSMITH.

Under a spreading chestnut tree
The village smithy stands;
The smith, a puzzled man is he
By large recovery plans,
And the codes that are prescribed for him
Are strong as iron bands.

His hair is crisp and black and long,
His face is like the tan;
He has to do what he is told
And earn whate'er he can—
He has to wear a license tag
And wear it like a man.

Week in, week out, from morn till night,
You can hear his bellows blow
(That is, from 10 a. m. to 4;
He can't work more, you know);
And when Hugh Johnson makes a rule
He can not answer "No!"

The children coming home from school
Look in at the open door;
They love to see his baffled face
And catch his muffled roar
In the NRA's big war.

He goes each morning to his shop
And tries to shoe a horse
According to the code drawn up
To chart a blacksmith's course,
For he's read the daily papers and
He knows the code's in force.

He likes to pound the anvil hard
In weather mild or bleak,
And shoe the neighbors' hosses as
They stand there smooth and sleek;
But he finds it hard to do so
In the forty-hour week.

He has a badge upon his forge;
It says, "We Do Our Part;"
And the fear he isn't doing his
Is enough to break his heart;
And he watches as he mops his brow
For prosperity to start.

Toiling, decoding, rejoicing,
Onward through life he goes,
And when he knows not what to do
He asks some one who knows—
He even wires Washington
And asks what time to close!

Thanks, thanks to thee, my perplexed friend,
For all thy care and zeal;
We know just what your problems are—
We know just how you feel,
And may you draw four aces in The U. S. A.'s New Deal!

Mexican Repatriates.
Los Angeles Times.

What to do with the 200,000 repatriates who have returned to Mexico in the last three years has been a problem for the Rodriguez administration, but it is being worked out by the Mexican immigration department in a way that is intended not merely to provide homes and work for the greater number of them, but to make available for the benefit of the whole country their knowledge of American agricultural methods. With government aid and encouragement, a new type of rural colony has been established in the State of Oaxaca, where a large group of families that have lived in California and other American States has been settled and will be under the direction of the government, though not, as Minister Landa y Pina expressly states, under its domination.

Is the Rich Man's Son Above the Law Because His Dad Has Influence?

By Robert Quillen.

LET us suppose, to provide an illustration, that you live in a typical American village. You have 2,000 neighbors, all of them your kind of people.

It is a quiet and orderly village, poor but content, and its people are self-respecting, independent and a little intolerant of strangers.

Now suppose that the peace and dignity of your Eden are outraged by an invasion of well-to-do Spaniards. These invaders are an arrogant lot. They feel superior to you and your neighbors and make no effort to conceal it. They crowd your hotels and restaurants, and the noise of their carousing keeps you awake at night. They act as though they owned the place.

Then, as a crowning affront, one of them shows his contempt for you and your village by knocking down a policeman who tries to quiet him.

How would you feel about it?

If you are a typical American, you would see red. You simply couldn't endure a situation of that kind. You would fall upon these verbearing aliens and show them who owned the country.

Now try the shoe on the other foot.

Americans attracted by low prices have invaded the Island of Mallorca, off the coast of Spain, and made themselves a nuisance. Several of them, who questioned the authority of a policeman, are held in jail. And our Government, prompted by influential patriots, has taken steps to effect a rescue.

When you read that American citizens are in trouble anywhere, you feel the natural resentment of a patriot and partisan. You think the Government should do something. The world must understand that the rights of the humblest American citizen will be protected.

That is a fine sentiment. But we are not the only people who have pride, and ours is not the only land in which people resent the arrogant impudence of a foreigner.

Americans in other lands seldom get into trouble by obeying the law and behaving like well-bred, civilized adults.

If they behave otherwise, they deserve the same treatment that aliens of their kind would receive in America.

Public-Spirited Indians.
Topeka Capital.

It remained for a tribe of Indians to show the American people what real patriotism is in these trying times, by refusing an allotment of Federal funds for work on their reservation on the grounds that others are in greater need of the money.

In Wisconsin is a tribe of Indians called Menominee. They had been allotted $30,000 for road building from the fund of $50,000,000 set apart for public works on Indian reservations and Government lands.

Following a tribal council, two delegates traveled to Washington to notify the "great white father" that the tribe preferred to maintain its 80-year record of self-sustaining independence; and they respectfully requested other tribes be aided.

Secretary Ickes was decently appreciative. He spoke out of a trying personal experience since he was appointed public work administrator in sending this message to the tribe: "With thousands of people using every artifice to seek allotments from the public works fund—many with utterly unqualified projects—the Menominees show the way with true public spirit."

In commenting on the incident the Springfield Republican well says:

"The Menominees are setting an example to their white civilizers that is really embarrassing. Who are the civilized and who are the uncivilized?"

Stronger Laws Needed.
Manchester Union.

The States must tighten their laws. Missouri's was on the statute book and had but to be used. Its lead, and that of California, where the legislature on Thursday sanctioned a measure providing death or life imprisonment without right of parole for kidnapers who kill or mutilate their victims, and life imprisonment with the possibility of parole for all other abduction cases, must be followed. But more than this, there must be strict measures in all Commonwealths for combating other forms of racketeering if the menace to the country's safety and honor is to be removed. With the advent of repeal, the booze barons will be seeking, and finding, unless they fear to do otherwise, fresh sources of illegal revenue.

The Coming Campaign.
St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Announcement by Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, that he will be a candidate for renomination next year reminds us that in about nine months the States will begin to hold primaries and the congressional campaign leading up to the midterm election will be under way. With the November overturn fresh in our minds, it seems hardly possible another campaign can be approaching, yet so fast does time pass.

As is the case in congressional elections which come in the middle of a presidential administration, interest will center in contests for seats in the Senate. Under the Constitution, the terms of a third of the membership of that body will be expiring. This third contains outstanding members of the progressive group and some of the stanchest of the Old Guard.

Just Folks.

Trained at Last.

When mother thinks we ought to go
To see a moving picture show,
Though I've a book I'd like to read,
I put the volume down with speed.

When mother says: "We ought to do
Your old arm chair in navy blue,"
Though I am rather fond of red,
I promptly vote for blue, instead.

When mother looks across at me
And says: "My dear, take no more tea!"
Though much I'd like a second cup,
I promptly give the notion up.

When I've rebelled as now and then
I have, like all the stubborn men,
And let my will run free and strong,
My judgment usually was wrong.

Now for the second piece of pie
I've ceased to ask when mother's nigh,
And reconciled to growing old,

Along the Potomac

With

Carlisle Bargeron

WELL, sir, here is one that will take the cake for either sheer courage or naivette; I don't know which.

On the reference questionnaires which the Tennessee Valley Authority sends out to those to whom applicants for jobs have referred, there is this inquiry:

"In your opinion, is the applicant's wife an asset or a liability?"

Bargeron.

Now wouldn't that defeat you? I ask you frankly, wouldn't it?

* * * *

ONE'S first reaction is that the sociologists who have charge of the valley development know no bounds in their quest for knowledge, that they venture into fields heretofore unexplored and considered by the ordinary man to be pure suicide. It would appear that we have never appreciated the courage of these men. We have associated them with books and spectacles, looked upon them as hot-house flowers to be marked "delicate, handle with care."

But when they attempt something which even I, an outdoor man—indeed, you might say a grizzled seafaring man—would not think of undertaking, then they arouse my admiration, that's all.

The professors must have never been in a bridge game.

* * * *

THAT the information is important to such a vast sociological enterprise as the development of the Tennessee Valley, that it is in the direction of the success of the project, one will readily agree.

It must be understood that this is not to be simply a case of widening and narrowing rivers, of bridging them, damming them and changing their course, of putting up power plants and transmission lines. Those who have this sordid, commercial, tradesmen-like picture of it do not know of the vision in which it was conceived.

This is to be a great effort to find out what is wrong with people, to ascertain what it is that is holding them from the Utopia which we have been seeking since the beginning of time—and learning all of this, to change them so that the Utopia will be at hand.

Studies are to be made of the bridge worker as he races over the trusses of his handiwork, of the hod carrier who assists him, of the men in rubber boots who plant the pilings in the stream. Their reactions are to be noted. It is to be determined at just what period of the day or of their work does the face register the most contentment, and whether this is the time that in a perfect world it should do so.

If it were to be but a building project, would the professors have been put in charge? It is a professorial, not a building enterprise

* * * *

THIS being the case, you can imagine then the time that will be lost if the valley is filled up with troublesome wives, with wives who do not fit in. If the wives get to squabbling, you can appreciate that the professors' time will all be taken up trying to straighten them out and they will have no time for observations at all.

The question of whether a wife is an asset or a liability, though, is subject to many interpretations, and it may be that I don't know exactly what the professors are trying to get at. Do they mean to ask whether she is an ambitious wife who is trying to advance her husband's career? A bunch of these sort of women in the valley will cause the professors more trouble than they have ever read about in any books.

Do the professors mean to ask if the wife is good at entertaining? I can't believe that in the vast conception of this thing, that such commonplace ideas entered their thoughts.

* * * *

WHEN it comes right down to it, it may be necessary for the NRA code interpretationists to define just what the professors do mean.

Regardless, though, of what they are trying to find out, regardless of just what trend of research they are embarked upon now, and giving them due credit for the courage displayed, I can't help but be amazed at their naivette. It seems unbelievable that the professors have ever lived. Can't they see that what will happen when a man receives one of these questionnaires is that he will go home to his own wife and say:

"I received a letter from the Tennessee Valley Authority today asking whether Bill Smith's wife is an asset or a liability."

"Ah, ha! I will answer that."

NOT A CITIZEN.

George Foss, Canadian born, was brought to the United States when a child by his parents, was educated here and without properly investigating the legal status of himself or his father, assumed that he was an American citizen, bought a farm in Michigan and raised a family. He resided in the United States for 61 years and for more than 40 years was a registered voter.

Recently, says the Toronto Globe, he crossed the border into Canada to visit a relative, never suspecting the peck of trouble he was laying up for himself by that simple act. On seeking to return to the country—of which he supposed he was a citizen—the immigration authorities asked to see his credentials, and to his dismay he discovered that he was barred from reentry.

One of Life's Minor Tragedies.

THE hand below was played recently in a fairly high stake Rubber Bridge game in New York City. North and South through the use of the Four-Five No-trump Convention were enabled to reach a Grand Slam which was perfectly sound and which under most circumstances would have been made.

It is my sad task to relate, however, that in this particular instance the gods of chance were not with Declarer, as the adverse cards were distributed in the only possible way which would defeat the contract. To make the story even sadder, the opponents on the very next hand went out with a Small Slam of their own. Thus distribution was responsible for a swing of some 4,500 points against North and South.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ Q 9 7 3 ♡ 9 5 3 ◇ 7 6 ♣ K J 9 2	N W E S	♠ K 8 6 4 2 ♡ 6 ◇ Q J 9 4 2 ♣ 8 7
	♠ 5 ♡ A 10 8 7 4 ◇ 8 ♣ A Q 10 6 5 3

South	North
2♡	3♡
4♡	4NT
5NT	7♡
Pass

South's conventional response to North's four-no-trump bid enabled North to locate the two missing Aces in the South hand. In addition, from the bidding he knew that South probably held a 6-5 distribution and that therefore there must be some good play for the Grand Slam.

West's Opening lead was a low spade, which Declarer quite naturally won with the Ace in Dummy. South now, after a slight huddle, emerged with the correct conclusion that there was only one line of play for him to pursue. This line of play would win under almost any circumstances. South was able to count up four top tricks in the Ace-King of diamonds, the Ace of spades, and the Ace of clubs. If he could make nine trump tricks by a simple crossruff the contract was assured. If the clubs were divided as good as 4 and 2 a low club could be ruffed with a low trump in Dummy and two of Declarer's low trumps could safely be used to ruff Dummy's spades.

After this the contract was absolutely simple provided the third round of diamonds could safely be trumped with the heart 8 in Declarer's own hand and this line of play would succeed either if West held three or more diamonds or in the event that he held only two diamonds if he did not hold the 9 of hearts.

There is no point in going into the gory details of the play. South saw the correct plan of campaign and immediately set about following it. A glance at the East-West cards will show that he was doomed to disappointment as not only did the diamonds break 5 and 2 with the wrong hand holding five, but West held the 9 of hearts, and the Grand Slam contract, which absolutely should be bid and which would be made under ordinary circumstances, was defeated. Incidentally, even playing Double Dummy there is no line of play which will win this hand, but even though one were found, the Declarer can not be criticized as the simple crossruff with these cards is undoubtedly the best way of playing the hand, needing, as mentioned above, only a fairly normal break, and even being able to take care of a good many bad distributions.

Tomorrow's Hand.

Mrs. Roosevelt Says Pay Should Equal That of Men for Same Task.

By Vylla Poe Wilson.

The fate of women of middle age in industry has been made a particular concern by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, she revealed at her press conference yesterday, at the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt has set for herself the task of determining the status and the future of such women under the new economic situation.

Mrs. Roosevelt reiterated her previous statements in regard to women receiving pay equal to that paid men for equal work. While she did not care to reply at that time to the published contention of National Woman's Party leaders that the new national recovery act codes threaten the equal pay for equal work status of women, she did remark:

Working Under Handicaps.

"I think it is very important people should realize that many people are working under temporary arrangements just now, and that adjustments of individual codes will come up later for settlement."

Mrs. Roosevelt also stated that she is arranging a conference with a number of the recovery code leaders so that she will be able to understand what is being done along certain lines. But, she suggested, it may be necessary to accept certain temporary conditions regarding minimum wages as affecting women in order to get people to work as fast as possible.

"While I have no actual right to interfere in anything that is being done," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "I have great interest in social conditions. When I receive protests I turn them over to those actually in position to know about necessary adjustments. I have always believed in equal pay for equal work by men and women."

Comments on Wages.

Mrs. Roosevelt commented on the two sides of the minimum wage law, the side of the employer who only paid the actual wages demanded under the minimum code and those employers who went above it.

Much depends, according to the First Lady, on the interest the general public takes in social conditions. The present situation will test the real knowledge and fairness of the people and will show how much the average citizen will be interested in the welfare of those who work for their living, she declared.

Mrs. Roosevelt expressed herself as being very much pleased at the activities of the women who are volunteering their services in the recovery campaign. She pointed out the great opportunity offered to them to be useful to their country.

Mrs. Roosevelt will leave for the Mountain Musical Festival at White Top Mountain near Abington, Va., tonight. She will return to the White House Sunday. She will go to Hyde Park Thursday or Friday of next week.

In September Mrs. Roosevelt will go on a camping trip in the Adirondack Mountains.

Drink From Saucer; Queen Did It, Too

A cat may look at a queen and a queen may drink tea from her saucer, if she so desires.

Queen Victoria did exercise this royal prerogative, according to a Washington woman who got the news at first hand from D. G. C. Williamson, the well-known British authority on miniatures.

In the course of his long life Mr. Williamson has met and known many notables intimately.

Once while visiting Osborne, Queen Victoria's residence in the Isle of Wight, he saw her majesty waiting in the corridor of the castle to go on her daily drive. An attendant brought a cup of tea to her as she waited the arrival of her carriage:

"To my astonishment," declared Mr. Williamson "the queen poured it into her saucer to cool. That procedure was a welcome one to me, as I have often been blamed for acting in a similar fashion. I now posessed the highest authority for stating that it was not bad form to drink from the saucer."

Howry Home in Georgetown Reflects Exotic Influence of Sisters' Journeys in Far East

Much of Decorative Work Done by Sisters; Have Batiks on Walls.

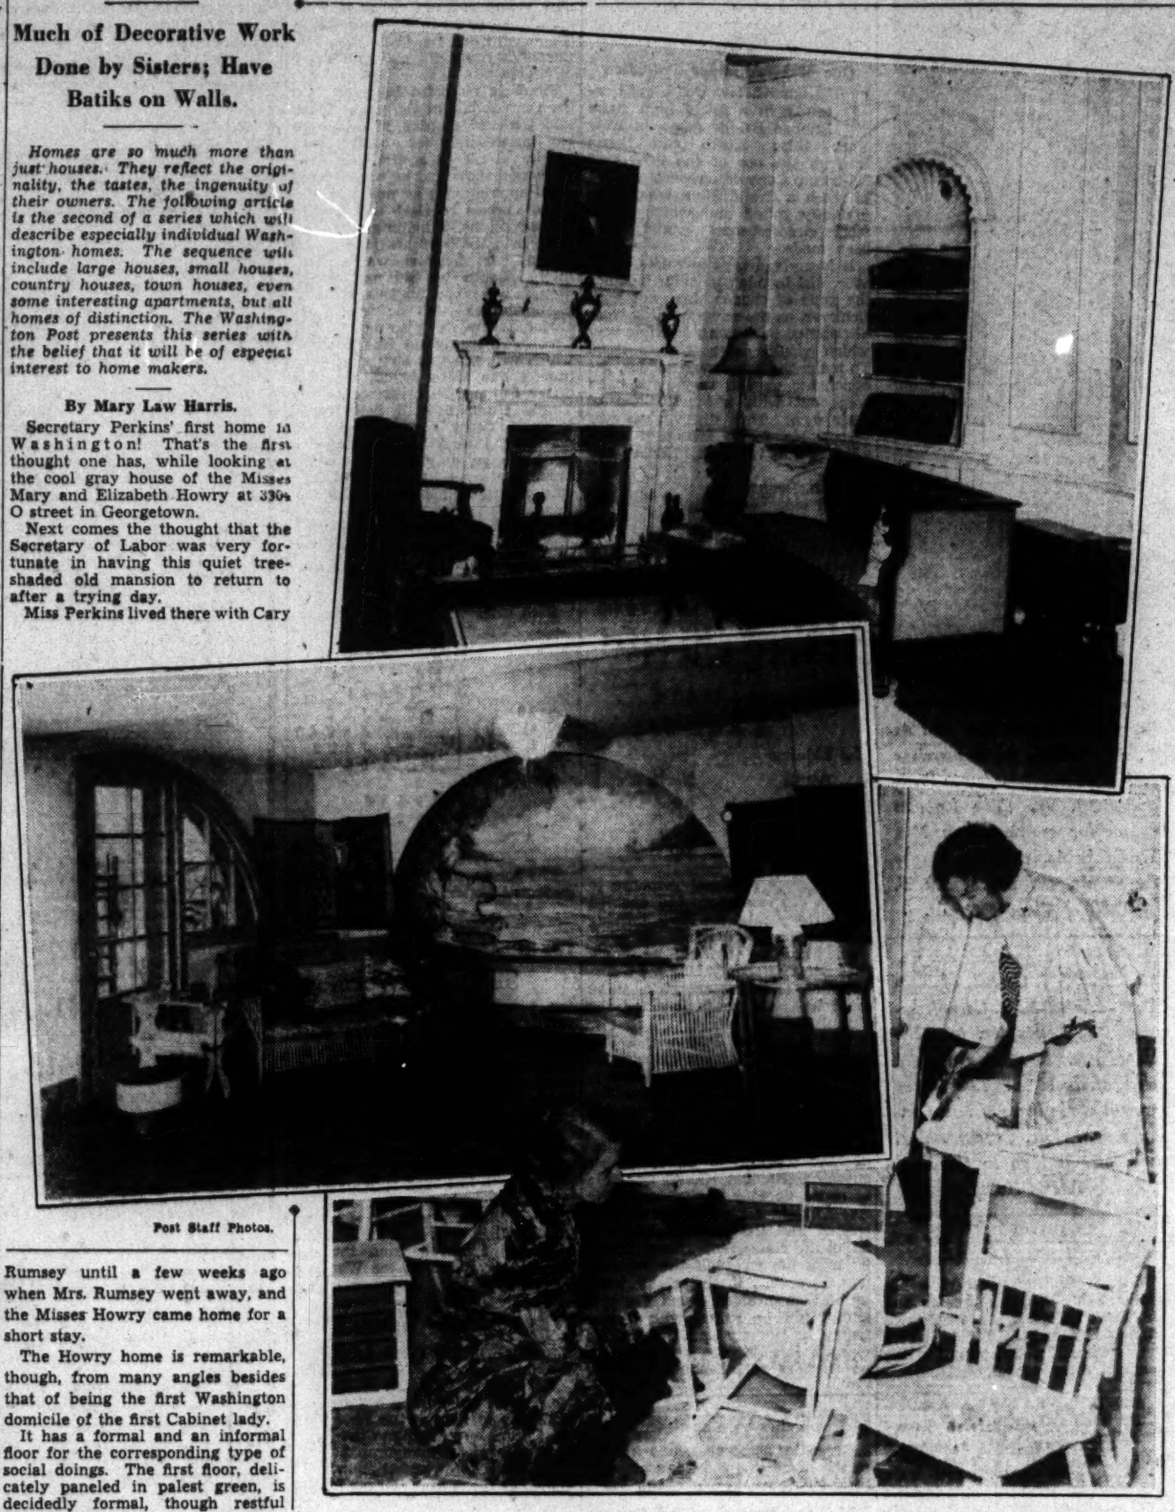

Homes are so much more than just houses. They reflect the originality, the tastes, the ingenuity of their owners. The following article is the second of a series which will describe especially individual Washington homes. The sequence will include large houses, small houses, country houses, town houses, even some interesting apartments, but all homes of distinction. The Washington Post presents this series with the belief that it will be of especial interest to home makers.

By Mary Law Harris.

Secretary Perkins' first home in Washington! That's the first thought one has, while looking at the cool gray house of the Misses Mary and Elizabeth Howry at 3304 O street in Georgetown.

Next comes the thought that the Secretary of Labor was very fortunate in having this quiet tree-shaded old mansion to return to after a trying day.

Miss Perkins lived there with Cary Rumsey until a few weeks ago when Mrs. Rumsey went away, and the Misses Howry came home for a short stay.

Post Staff Photos.

It has a formal and an informal floor for the corresponding type of social doings. The first floor, delicately paneled in palest green, is decidedly formal, though restful and pleasant.

But the ground floor beneath is quite another story. You may step into a wide interior colorful with Javanese and other East Indian motifs.

Traveled In East.

This selection of the Eastern theme for this informal floor dates back to the days a few years ago, when Mary Howry went on a world tour as a member of Ruth St. Denis' company of dancers.

In Java, Miss Howry picked up many of the finely patterned native batiks. Also she absorbed a love of East Indian design and color blending. This last was not only through travel, but through her association with Miss St. Denis, who has made a life-long study of Eastern art.

Both of the Howry sisters are cosmopolitan young women. Their father, Judge Charles B. Howry, came to Washington as Assistant Attorney General in Cleveland's administration, and was later appointed to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. Elizabeth Howry studied voice under Mme. Sembrich until an illness made it necessary for her to discontinue this work. Mary Howry went in for dance rhythmics.

Almost every intelligent person is keenly sensitive to the sorcery of design and color. Even though we've ideas about creating our own mise en scene, we buy things pretty much like those of the nice folks next door. As for designing our own furniture and decorations, and then actually executing them, our hearts sink at the thought.

Does Own Designing.

But Mary Howry isn't like that. She not only designed her Eastern entertainment suite, but she actually painted the intricately patterned furniture and applied the exotic floor design.

Of the latter she says proudly: "I got right down on my knees and did every bit of it."

The only help Miss Howry had in executing the large room was from Senora Miguel Paz, wife of the commercial attache of the Honduran Legation, who executed the mural of a tropical sea which fills a big arched embrasure.

The painted floor with its patterning of red and green against the natural dark brown is one of the most striking features. A conventionalized lotus design is used. Explaining why she decided on this unusual floor, Miss Howry said:

"We wanted to use the floor for dancing and we didn't want to be bothered with continually taking up and putting down rugs. But a wide expanse of plain polished floor seemed too monotonous to go with the rest of the room."

Javanese batiks and Indian prints are used as wall hangings in both the main room and the small adjoining entrance space. The batiks in the main room are the old-time Javanese work, all in the soft blue, brown and black vegetable dyes which were all the natives possessed before the Dutch regime. Outside are some of the colorful batiks produced in recent years.

But it is the painted furniture that is largely responsible for the unique character of the room. This furniture is very simple in line, but Miss Howry has covered it with high color and vivid Javanese design.

Thus one large round table is painted a soft ocher and its top carries a sunburst patterning in sharp primary colors. The base color of a smaller table is turquoise blue and there is a narrow, mosaic-like border of combined colors. There is an orinental-looking cabinet in Chinese red lacquer and gold. There's something very familiar-looking about this latter piece, but you don't quite place it until Miss Howry says:

"That's just the victrola. They naturally are as ugly as they come from the shops."

But the formal part of the Howry home is quite as engrossing and unusual as the informal section.

One has grown to expect an inevitable, if attractive, ivory finish on colonial paneling. But the classic paneling in the drawing room, hall and dining room of the Howry house is in the palest of greens, a cool and flattering tint.

Has Foreign Touch.

The furnishings bear testimony to the journeyings of the Howry sisters in foreign parts as well as to the accumulations of an old family. A graceful little French chair and some small marquetry tables were bought on the left bank in Paris. A large and beautifully carved table was acquired in Switzerland. On it are two lamps of white alabaster and a large flower holder of latticed white porcelain.

Paintings of the sisters' great-grandfather and great-grandmother, Judge and Mrs. Walton Harris, hang in the drawing room. In commenting on the fact that quite a number of people seem to have paintings of their great-grandparents, but hardly ever of later or earlier ancestors, Miss Mary Howry said:

"I think that the reason there are so many great-grandparents' portraits is that during the time there seem to be a number of artists who journeyed from plantation to plantation making portraits."

Almost as distinctive as the family portraits are three beautiful Thomas Kelly prints hanging in the dining room, two of them of the lush fruit-and-flower type and one a landscape.

The Howry house has a most unusual history. It began as the ballroom and art gallery of the Thomas W. Waggaman mansion next door.

When the Misses Howry bought the place about six years ago it had gone through one renaissance and been converted into a residence. They have not altered the proportions of rooms greatly, except in the case of the basement service quarters, where a number of partitions were knocked out to make way for the informal entertainment room and its approach.

As to the relative importance of formal and informal entertainment rooms, Miss Mary Howry may be quoted again. She says: "Since we've put in the eastern room we have scarcely used the drawing room at all."

Loudoun County May Sell Schools

Purcellville, Va., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—Three Loudoun County schools will be sold at public auction if the court grants authority to the Loudoun County School Board, the board decided today.

The plan to sell the Daysville, Airmont and Paxson school properties was agreed to at the board's monthly meeting.

Stilson H. Hall was appointed attorney for the board. Miss Frances Titus was appointed principal at Unison-Bloomfield until Mrs. Edith Beavers, on leave, return.

The resignation of Mrs. McNeely Parker at Leesburg was accepted. James Mann was reappointed local committeeman at Hillsboro.

C.C.C. Camps Hold Church Services

Services are held at the camps each Sunday morning before the ministers go to their own churches. Some of the camps have choirs. Musical instruments used in the song services are bugles, clarinets, harps and violins.

Some of the camps have converted mess halls into chapels. Hymn books have been donated by churches.

What Today Means

By Mary Blake.
"Leo."

If August 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 to 7:45 a. m., from 9:20 to 10:30 a. m. and from 9 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 12 noon to 1:15 p. m. and from 5 to 6:30 p. m.

You may be caught off your guard on this date, and as a result find yourself in a rather difficult and trying situation. The fewer words spoken the better, and in time you will find yourself on much firmer footing and able to satisfactorily ease the situation. Antegonisms may crop up between married people.

The child born on this August 11 will be a wildly active little one that will have to be kept well under control. Left for a moment to seek its own diversions it will get into mischief. There is nothing malicious or evil in this little one's make-up, but it does like to "be up to something." Girls born on this date will not enjoy most of the activities engaged in by those of their sex.

If August 11 is the date of your birth, you are more than likely one who depends too much on others; this is true not only in regard to your pleasures, but as well in regard to your business activities. You are perhaps lacking in energy and there is no great degree of initiative in your make-up. There are times when you allow yourself to get very lonely and at these times your spirits get very low. In the presence of a loved one, or very dear friend, you can be a very different person, for you seem to make them a part of yourself. You are a person difficult to be with for long periods of time, for you are a drain and you do not have much to offer to any gathering. You are tempted at times to feel very sorry for yourself, and you do not hesitate to voice this feeling.

Born on August 11, you probably have little ambition, and not a great deal of vitality. You will get ahead if you are able to ally yourself with a stronger character who will think enough of you and your abilities to fight your battles for you, and if necessary to boost you along when the opportunity offers.

The Family Marketer

By Hoyt Barnett.

This delicious seafood may be prepared in several ways. One of the best is to flatten the scallop until it resembles an oyester, dip it in egg and cracker crumbs and fry in butter.

This is far from being the only seafood you can buy for today's table. Butterfish, croakers, spot, sea trout, striped bass and crabs also are available from nearby points.

Swordfish, for the first time in many months, is being sold in retail shops here at a price which places it among the "popular" foods. At 35 cents a pound it is nearly 50 per cent cheaper than previous quotations.

Swordfish Less Expensive.

Swordfish should be cooked as though it were a fillet of haddock. It is a sweeter, and perhaps more nutritive fish than the haddock.

If you followed the suggestion of boiling an extra amount of potatoes yesterday, don't forget to fry some potato cakes to go with the fish today.

Another suggestion for a seafood dinner accessory is lima beans and corn. Both are inexpensive. Three pounds of beans and six ears of corn won't cost much. And you'll have enough beans left over for Saturday. They are as good the second day as the first. Some like them better. The cool weather has improved the quality of the corn-on-the-cob.

And it isn't only the corn that has been improved by the weather. Available supplies of lettuce are crisp. Cabbages are firm. Tomatoes are ripening more slowly, and such vegetables as crooked-neck squash, egg plants and preserving tomatoes are in good condition as well as being inexpensive.

The peach market is somewhat higher. This is an unusual development for this particular time of year and emphasizes the desirability of postponing general purchases for canning purposes.

Peach Crop Delayed.

The bulk of the Virginia Elbertas is being delayed because of cool weather. This will make them better when they do come into the local market. Many housewives who plan to can peaches will wait for the later varieties, such as Hales, and be glad that they did.

California avocados are available in scattered quantities. Florida-grown ones are more plentiful. The California product seems to have an edge on the Florida offerings, from the standpoint of flavor.

Some people serve avocados with brine from a pickle jar sprinkled over them. They say it takes away the "pasty" taste to which some people object. Others insist the avocados are better served with French dressing. You might try the brine. It doesn't hurt to try.

Last-Minute Shopping

By Mary Brook Lucas

In spite of August weather, those who expect to sail must think of the future, so Judy and Jeanne have taken ther courage in both hands and gone fur shopping. Judy has finally chosen a boucle coat, in cocoa shade, which goes so well with the wide mink collar and sleeve puffs.

Tucked away on hangers in Judy's closet are two new frocks, which are a contrast in mood. The first is a gay red chiffon with flower-edged cape. The other is a severely plain informal dress of Sudanette, which makes believe it is complicated by the way it wears its stripes.

Jeanne has selected a sleek black caracul which always looks smart for almost any occasion. The cut, however, is so new that no one could mistake it for a last season's offering. The scarf is even larger than Judy's, and the shoulders aspire toward heaven, as the good new shoulders should do! The jaunty little hat is of black satin.

Do you love to ride about the countryside in a rumble heat, without a hat, as much as Judy does? Some one has invented a new handkerchief tie to wear on just such occasions, and it is most becoming, too. It comes in the brightest and most cheerful colors and costs only a trifle.

Little Gnomes Need Homes; Are Lonesome

Imported Hand Mirror May Please as Gift; Guest Towels Match Tile.

By Ann Davis.

All day they gaze out of the shop door at the people hurrying past, but nobody comes in to buy them. The oldest one, with his long gray beard falling over a brown work apron, is sorrowful indeed. He's very lonely with no garden to care for. From dawn to dusk he stands with his watering pot in hand, ready to go at a minute's notice.

At night, after the proprietor has dimmed the room and locked the door, he lights his pipe and leans against a marble bench. His two little companions sit cross-legged at his feet. And what tales the old fellow can tell!

When the first streaks of dawn color the sky, the gnomes resume their pose.

Try, Try Again.

She didn't like the cigarette case you gave her because she doesn't smoke. She thought the compact rather pretty, but it had the wrong kind of powder. She liked the pocketbook, but it didn't match a thing she had. No wonder you're in a quandary.

But try again with an imported hand mirror in imitation ivory, beautifully carved, and trimmed with pink and blue for-get-me-nots. Price, $1.25.

Guests may come and guests may go, but guest towels are always with us, we hope. You can buy unusually pretty ones now for the lowest prices in a long time. And not only that, they match your bathroom as they never did before.

A Washington shop is selling some with borders patterned after your tile trimmings. They come in several pastel colors, for $4.25 a dozen. Companion towels, 75 cents a piece.

The influence of the "Century of Progress" has spread far and wide. Many homes will boast at least one room in modernistic design.

Whether it will be your bedroom, library, or den, you'll be wanting a small desk lamp to fit the general scheme of your furnishings.

Here's a tip! In an F street store is a double shade lamp, black and chromium, which is likely to be the one you're looking for. It's the right size, the right style and reasonably priced.

Had you chanced to be in Bar Harbor, Me., a few weeks ago you would have seen Numdah rugs in the window of a shop selling for $25. The "Tree of Life" design stitched in red, green, blue, yellow and purple, might have taken your fancy to such an extent you would have bought the rug.

But when you returned to Washington and strolled leisurely down Connecticut avenue some morning, what would be your chargin and amazement to see the same rug in a shop window on sale for $4.95? It's a small world after all, isn't it?

A Net to the Rescue.

Next time you're all dressed up for the party with your hair arranged just so, and someone suggests riding in the rumble seat, you needn't mind. Instead of despairing over the new marcel, which the wind will wantonly tear to pieces, you may unconcernedly reach in your bag for your net turban. Fasten it around your hair, button it in front, and you're off, pretty as a picture, and all prepared for the wind.

A stout customer remarked to a clerk that the four necessities of her life were food, clothing, shelter, and a girdle. In view of the hot weather she deplored the fourth item. That is, until she tried the mesh girdles which combine support with coolness. Price, $1.00.

For summer, fall, and winter—boucle. If your suit is beginning to pall on you, look about for a touch to freshen it up a bit. Maybe a new slip-on sweater will do the job. A short time ago a downtown store had a sale on boucle suits and a few sweaters were left over. These are now selling for 79 cents, in black and white, or brown and white.

Knick knack bargain tables have a peculiar fascination. This one was particularly interesting, for among the odds and ends that lay strewn about were some excellent values.

Pore creams, which had sold for $1.25 only a few days ago, were now 25 cents.

Rouge which had been 50 cents last week was 25 cents today.

First Woman Doctor in District Still Carries on Active General Practice

"Took Act of Congress to Let Me Start, But More to Stop Me."

By Louise Proctor Engle.

No swank, no brass sign, no uniformed nurse, embellish the consulting room of Dr. Mary Almera Parsons, Washington's pioneer woman physician, at 812 Twelfth street northwest. You will find her if you knock during office hours at the first door to your left on the ground floor of a rooming house opposite the Baltimore interurban station.

She has no thought of quitting the job that has taken her, all hours of the day and night, for 60 years, into the city's finest old residences, up tenement stairways, shoeless into Oriental embassies.

"Retire now?" she smiles. "Course not!" Her voice is firm for one of her years. She does not dwell, though, upon those years. "Women, specially women doctors, have no business telling their age," she insists. A wisp of a lady in black satin dress, gray hair coiled right up on top, gray eyes twinkling.

"It took an act of Congress, you know," she reminds you, "to officially start me out on my career. It'll take more than that to stop me now while I'm feeling so fit and enjoying it so. Why, there are old folks who need me to keep them alive; younger ones phoning me about all sorts of things; babies coming. I couldn't stop now if I wanted to."

Has Healthy Smile.

She speaks deliberately, with the modulation of the old school. She has that reassuring poise that goes with the old family doctor and that same suggestion of weatherproof health.

She opens folding doors, and there in an adjoining living room four kittens, twirled into a gray ball on a center table, blink and purr and retwist for another doze. A row of old books, a comfy rocker, an old-fashioned lithograph and calendar, lend cozy touches to furnishings simple and clean as a hospital's. Some of her younger M. D. friends wonder why Dr. Mary doesn't move uptown into a modern office.

"I know this neighborhood, have lived hereabouts 50 years," she assures you. "I know every alley, just which families leave their back doors open. I feel much safer going about here nights than I would out in the suburbs." By taxi and trolley, as well as foot, she carries her kit to patients moved far in the suburbs or those nearby.

Visiting royalty and diplomats have regained health under Dr. Parsons' guidance. Foreign laborers have come to her with sick wives and bawling babies. Old blue-blooded families have shared with her their sorrows and joys through three generations.

Prince Had Measles.

There was the 19-year-old Prince of Korea, visiting the legation here for an education.

"A nice boy," she recalls. "Had measles. His nurse, a fine one from England, had a little difficulty adjusting herself to this case. They locked her in the room with him and made her sample all his food. It was just before Japan overthrew Korea, and they feared poisoning. The prince spoke no English. But she taught him to play 'Thumbs Up' and 'Tap Trader' and then they had a fine time.

"Nurses of former days were better than anything nowadays," she declares. "Never saw a better one anywhere than Aunt Caroline. What? No, she wasn't a practical nurse, just a good old colored mammy. And old Aunt Lucinda, too, another mammy. No nurse these days, no matter how fancily trained, could ever touch her on bathing and dressing a baby, even after she went stone blind."

Dr. Parsons has never been tempted to forsake her general practice to specialize. "You've got to know your patient from tip to toe and it's well to have known his grandfather. There's much more to a man than his anatomy. You know, you can't expect a yellow dog to have an elephant for a son."

"Sometimes I wonder if these pediatrists haven't created, not just discovered, some of these new childen's diseases, pumping spinach into them. I've seen many a healthy child grow up without hearing of such things. Parents used to put them to bed earlier and dress them right. I've seen some queer ideas come and go and a lot of money spent on foolishness."

The gray fur twist on the table unravels slowly, a chorus of meows grows crescendo. The little doctor hops up and pours out two bowls of milk for the four kittens, their mother having walked out on them soon after birth. "I've always had to have pets. It was a dog for years until he died."

A Lot to Heredity.

"There's a lot to heredity," she goes on. "You learn more about humans in general practice than any specialist could ever guess at." She looks reminiscent suddenly. "Haven't I been glad, many a time, I didn't get those hospital assignments I wanted when I graduated from Howard. That wouldn't have been half the fun this has been."

"They didn't rush after women for those jobs then," she grins. "I tried for eight years after graduating to get into the D. C. Medical Society, so I could get my full legal status. Finally Congress changed one word in the society's incorporating charter, so it read, 'persons' instead of 'gentlemen in the medical profession, and so on.'"

"Then they let me in, but not with any great hilarity. But that's all changed now, like everything else. They made me a vice president once, have put me on a number of committees and last spring made an atcress of me, and applauded, at their spring banquet and entertainment."

Dr. Parsons recalls officiating at the birth of Sam Moy, first Chinese baby born here, and the thousand dollars' worth of gifts with which Chinatown welcomed him. He is a successful restaurant keeper here now and Dr. Mary has in recent years helped the stork bring him three little almond-eyed babies.

"They're fine people, the Chinese," she says. "Kind and generous. And the healthiest race I know. They eat when they're hungry."

She has come to know her foreigners, of high and low rank. Greeks, Germans, Finns, Armenians, Italians, many of Washington's merchants and peddlers, as well as diplomats, have come to her with their ailments.

Diploma 60 Years Ago.

In 1873 she got her diploma from Howard University Medical College, along with eight men of mixed races. It was the only medical school within miles that would train women, and a fine school then and now, she assures you.

"It was my great-grandmother I inherited the urge from," she explains. "She must have been a marvelous old soul; a widow. Managed a big New Hampshire farm up in that gem country where I was born, near Canada. She was never too busy to ride through wilderness for miles around, doctoring neighbors. They called her a 'natural healer;' had no physicians there, of course, in 1800. But she had a great talent for setting bones and curing fevers.

"I guess it must have gotten into my blood. And another thing I inherited. All my people died either before 30 or after 90. I'm a little over 30, so I'm not getting any tombstone ready yet."

But it's not all reminiscing with her. The best sellers and the latest news stories are as readily discussed as yesterday's.

"The depression? Well, it hasn't worried me much. But things are in a muddle, aren't they? Sometimes it reminds me of the good old colored parson I once knew, who prayed: 'Oh, God, come on down heah! You can't tell how bad things is, God, just lookin' down from heaven. You'll have to come and see fo' yoself. And can't nobody help us but you, God!'"

Crocheting Hats With Crepe Paper.

Smart hats that look like the expensive rough-straw kind may be crocheted from crepe paper. They are much in vogue and have proved practical and wearable. They are up to the minute in smartness although they cost only the price of a fold of crepe paper. These hats are easy to crochet even for a beginner. The crepe paper is cut into half-inch strips, stretched, and crocheted in single crochet stitch. A simple crown is crocheted the desired head size. To this a brim may be added to make a lovely picture hat; or a straight band, 6½ inches wide, may be draped on the crown to make any one of the perky new shapes.

She Who Gets Slapped Pays Cuffer's $15 Fine

Burbank, Calif., Aug. 10 (AP).—It cost Mrs. Charles M. Atherton $15 to get slapped.

She protested to the police when Mr. Atherton cuffed her on the face and the police promptly arrested him. In Municipal Court the judgment against him was $15 or a week in jail. Mrs. Atherton paid it.

Sports Coats Give Men New Deal in Clothing Comfort

Amos Parrish Tells What's in Fashion.

The new deal for comfort and color in men's wear has already had one very marked result. The sports coat has become a jack-of-all-trades and a master-of-many-occasions. You see it worn in all kinds of combinations, at all kinds of places. At golf matches, horse shows, tennis matches. At beaches and country clubs. On boardwalks and on mountain hikes.

A garment that will do all those things must have something besides comfort to recommend it. Whether worn with sports suits, slacks, knickers or white flannels, sport coats always belong.

Fullest Arm Freedom.

To account for this you have to add their easy-going outdoorish air to their roominess of cut. They're made to permit the fullest kind of arm and shoulder freedom—full enough for a whopping 300-yard drive down the fairway—or a completely relaxed roadster slouch, while somebody else does the driving.

You'll find that the best sports coat models usually have a plain, half-belt back with no vent in the skirt of the coat. Next in line comes the biswing bellows back, with a half-belt, and this time with a vent. A third one that the salesman may show you will have a yoke shoulder with inverted pleats, notched lapels, a half-belt again, and a vent.

Double-Breasted Flannel Popular.

A good many sports coats have plain, unbelted backs. Men like them because they're full-hanging, whether open or closed, and not fitted at the waist, or padded.

At the top of the popularity pile, put the double-breasted sports coat. Especially when it's of flannel. In fact, flannel is the most commonly used sports coat fabric in any model. But gabardines and tweeds of many types have their big followings. And a good many of America's well-dressed go in for other sportsy fabrics like cheviot, homespun, cashmere, camel's hair and shetlands. Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed demon, not unsurprisingly likes the tweedy kind.

If you do decide on a flannel, the most popular colors are grays, browns and blues in the order named. Blue is a natural favorite because it gets along so well with white flannel trousers. Should you decide on a gabardine or a flannel sports coat, you'll more than likely choose a plain color (brown is good—if that's your shade). But if you buy a tweed or other rough-finished fabric, you'll probably line up with the present trend to more pattern—Glenn plaids, houndstooth checks, gun club checks. Always of the subdued variety, of course.

Between their versatility and their smartness, sports coats have practically forced their way into the wardrobes of the country's well-dressed. And if you acquire one now, you'll still have three months of outdoor use for it this season. After that, it will lounge around with you indoors clear through the winter.

Children Want Reason Shown For Etiquette

Practical Child May Demand Purpose of Giving Car Seat to Woman.

By Alice Clarissa Richmond.

Manners, like fashions, are in a constant state of flux, and it is a clever person who always can keep abreast of the times.

I am not at all sure that we need to know the very latest thing, because basically there is but one rule for behavior, and that is kindness.

In teaching children how to behave, this seems to me to be the essential thing, for all the little refinements of behavior can quite easily be added to such a foundation.

Children Are Practical.

To teach children meaningless conventions is impossible, for a child is eminently practical and wants to know the reason for everything he is told to do.

He sees men sitting all about him, and feels not only put upon, but also embarrassed at doing an exceptional thing.

Tell Why Later.

Sometimes an argument ensues in which the mother annoyed and flustered, insists on the courtesy with some heat. In the end no good has been done, and a very real distaste for the amenities of life has been aroused in the child.

If the mother could remember to promise him an explanation later, while insisting on his rising at the time, she might arouse his curiosity enough to overcome his initial resistance.

But she must be very sure to fulfill her promise when the opportunity offers, and before the incident has been forgotten.

Mothers Saved Work By Modern Washers

Children happily at play still get dirty. But mother nowadays looks upon these thoughtless misdemeanors without a sinking heart.

No longer do soiled garments mean hours over a scrub-board—hours that shatter nerves, diminish beauty and spoil good dispositions.

With an electric washer to save time and energy, washday loses its dread. It is easier to be a happy, companionable mother when this electric servant does the hard work of laundering. Mother realizes she can have her playtime, too.

Paper Table Sets Make Picnic Pleasure.

Picnic days are here again, dear to young and old alike. A gay, colorful spread is the life of the picnic, and yet you don't want to risk spoiling or losing your linens. So you plan your picnic in the modern way and take along a tablecloth and napkins of decorated crepe paper in keeping with the day you are celebrating. These are crisp, colorful and inexpensive. Best of all, they may be discarded—unlike linens that have to be taken home and laundered. Crepe paper table sets are just as practical and charming for informal suppers at home or for bridge sets.

Fear of Female Vigilantes Over Nation Worries Pegler

Writer Asks Why Hoodlums Will Go Unmolested Under New Deal.

By Westbrook Pegler.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—The country is in for another spell of government by vigilantes and determined females of the inveterate committee-woman type.

Which is all right if it must be so, but I am wondering why it is that the only people who will be singled out for scrupulously fair treatment are the wrong guys of the community.

The square citizens are being asked, or required, to give up certain of their Constitutional rights, and a great many people, conducting themselves in strict accordance with their old-fashioned conception of good citizenship, will be certain to find themselves chased up alleys before very long by an emotionalized public opinion of an average mental age of 12 years, dumb.

Many clauses in the old-fashioned conception of good citizenship and honorable business behavior are in process of repeal or off-hand abrogation and a man may find that he must run his delicatessen according to a generalizing code which takes no thought of the peculiarities of his store or his neighborhood and subjects him to ruinous conditions. Should he fail to accept these conditions, the local inveterate committee woman will strap on her spurs and sash, call the photographers and arouse the neighbors to lynch his business with a boycott.

Selfish Motives.

It will minimize the peril not at all to select for the position of local lady lyncher only ladies who look nice in the rotogravures, for while they undoubtedly do dress up a cause better than the female blacksmith types, they are the more pernicious because their looks disguise their ruthlessness. Pretty ladies of the sash-wearing kind, once they have seen their pictures in the papers and read a few flattering pieces about themselves, are likely to go around creating more and more occasions for the publication of their pictures.

I wonder why there has been as yet no thought of shoving the hoodlum around, no matter how notorious a criminal he may be, or how great a nuisance to the community which he happens to afflict.

Instead of damp, irritating handkerchiefs . . . use

KLEENEX
disposable tissues

HAY FEVER sufferers—don't try to get through another season without Kleenex. Kleenex puts an end to discomfort caused by damp, irritating handkerchiefs. Puts an end to big laundry bills, too—and to disagreeable handkerchief washing.

Kleenex is a soft tissue, handkerchief size, gentle, absorbent, snowy white (or tinted, if you prefer).

Costs less than laundering

It costs less to use Kleenex than to have handkerchiefs laundered! So it is a saving of money as well as an aid to health and comfort.

Both economy and cleanliness are assured with Kleenex by the patented, self-dispensing pull-out box. Only the next tissues to be used are exposed at any one time. Hands never enter the box to contaminate or mess up the other sheets, or to pull out more Kleenex than is needed.

Kleenex should always be used to remove face creams, because it is so sanitary and so absorbent.

Try the larger Kleenex, too—sheets three times usual size! It's splendid for cosmetic use; also for guest towels and dusting.

Be sure it's Kleenex

Handkerchief size Kleenex comes in smart packages, and in rolls, at drug, dry goods, or department stores.

Airport Pool Will Be Free To Fire Laddies

Visitors Invited to Swim Following Parade on Labor Day.

The Airport Swimming Pool will throw open its doors to the visiting firemen attending the National Firemen's Labor Day parade, Bill Levy, publicity director for the pool, announced yesterday.

Immediately following the mammoth pageant on Pennsylvania avenue, the visiting firemen are invited to visit the pool free of charge. This is Labor Day afternoon.

No identification cards are necessary. Firemen need only report to the pool in uniform, and they will be extended the courtesy of the modern and beautiful swimming establishment, which attracts thousands of Washingtonians every week.

Sergt. A. J. Bargagni and officials of the National Firemen's Association expressed appreciation to the pool heads yesterday. They called it one of the most generous offers made to the firefighters, and stated it would help them greatly in impressing visiting firemen with the hospitality of the National Capital.

The Airport Pool urges the firefighters to go there for their swim after the parade and through the evening following it, as a considerable crowd is expected because of the holiday.

The parade committee has agreed that the best time for the firemen to avail themselves of the free swim is following the band contest, which comes after the parade on the Mounment Grounds. This should close about 5:30 o'clock Labor Day afternoon.

Plans for the parade are making considerable progress as the time for the big event grows shorter. Members of the District department who are taking an active interest in the parade plans, besides Sergt. Bargagni, the parade marshal, are Lieut. Harding, deputy marshal; Capt. Lipske, Pvt. R. A. Barton, Capt. Boss, Pvt. Bell, Pvt. Chase, Pvt. Brosnan and Pvt. Coulter.

Annapolis Hotel.
RKO-Keith's Theater.

Burlington Hotel.
R. Harris Jewelers.
Marx Jewelers.
Schwartz & Son Jewelers.
Hamilton Hotel.
Hahn's Shoes.
Ewart's Cafeteria.
Diamond Cab Association.
New Colonial Hotel.

The fire fighters need approximately 30 additional cups or trophies. All citizens, civic associations, or business houses desiring to help with them are asked to notify the parade committee.

Financier Collapses Pleading for Bank

Physicians blamed a cerebral hemorrhage or heart attack.

Waters, who is in a controversy with Mayor "Eddie" McCloskey, of Johnstown, drove to Washington yesterday to appear before the reorganization division of the Comptroller of Currency. He pleaded that his U. S. National Bank of Johnstown be allowed to reopen on 75 cents to the dollar.

F. C. Martin, cashier of the bank, said Mayor McCloskey was attempting to keep the bank closed until $3,000,000 of frozen assets could be released. He said the controversy had greatly excited Waters, probably contributing to his collapse.

Pan-American Study for Cuba

Dr. Marvin Proposes General Council to Solve Question.

The opinion that the United States should not stand entirely on its own in the Cuban question, but should call together all the Latin-American nations to decide what should be done, was expressed yesterday by Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University, in addressing that institution's conference on Hispano-American affairs.

He suggested a South American city as the possible meeting place of such a council.

Dr. Marvin expressed disagreement with those who hold that the cultures of the two Americas are incompatible and declared that understanding might be established by bringing the people of the two continents into cultural contact.

Flashes From the Radio Dial

By Robert D. Heinl.

BY way of cheering up those in the hospitals and elsewhere and adding a little variety to the Friday morning "Shut-in" program, Capt. Taylor Branson, when the Marine Band played "Let's All Sing Like the Birdies," had the bandsmen sing the chorus. Capt. Branson never dreamt what he was starting. A deluge of requests were received asking the bandsmen for an encore. In fact, the song has gone over so big that the Marine Band is repeating it today for the ninth time.

Its fame, as shown by this letter received by Capt. Branson from Chaplain Victor H. Morgan, U. S. N., retired, in San Francisco, has spread to the Pacific Coast:

"San Francisco business houses are marked by more than their wonted cheerfulness on Friday. Cummuters from this suburb step with greater sprightliness toward the "8:05" on Friday morning. Throughout the day 'stenogs' and staid executives are unconsciously humming, 'Let's All Sing Like the Birdies * * *,'" former Chaplain Morgan writes.

"This is the first I have ever written concerning radio broadcasts. However, I feel that I must add my word of appreciation for your enjoyable concerts. Shut-ins may be their incentives, but here on the West Coast they start the day with a song for workers"

Further proof that the Marine Band "Shut-in" broadcasts are creating a wide field for themselves is that beginning this morning at 10 o'clock the concerts will be heard over both the N. B. C. networks, including WRC, in Washington, as well as WMAL.

THE first of the many compliments on The Post's new Radio Time Table came from Lynne M. Lamm, of 2408 California street, who said: "On the basis of 100 per cent marking I mark The Post's innovation 110 per cent. The time table saves all kinds of looking here and there. I've cut the table out and laid it on my radio set for further references."

Radio's original crooner — no, you're wrong, it wasn't Rudy Vallee—it was, we have it on good authority, Vaughn De Leath, who will be seen in person when she appears, starting today, as the headliner of the Earle Theater stage program. Way back in the old days Miss De Leath was practically the whole staff of the only Philadelphia station, WDT, which DX fans fished for far into the night. Vaughn De Leath would sing, recite, announce, play the piano, all under different names, just to keep the station going, for radio talent was scarce in those days. She has grown and expanded with this infant industry until today she is one of its most famous and brightest stars.

In the studios they call Gene Arnold the Edgar Wallace of music. The author of "The Little Old Church in the Valley" recently produced twenty hymns in 30 days, so the title isn't a misnomer.

Julia Sanderson and Frank Crumit, partners in life as well as costars on the Plantation program, face the microphone with mixed emotions. Miss Sanderson has never experienced "mike-fright" since her first broadcast, but her husband to this day has never overcome his awe for the magic sound-box. However, when Frank sings he sings to Julia, totally oblivious of his surroundings.

GEN. THOMAS P. LITTLEPAGE, D. C. N. R. A. C. (District of Columbia National Recovery Act Campaign), accompanied by his staff of colonels, majors and captains, will capture the WMAL audience tonight at 8:30 o'clock in a preliminary emergency reemployment skirmish.

"Love, oh, love; oh, keerless love!
See what love has did fer me!
Love, oh love, how kin hit be?
Love a boy what don' love me!"

So will sing the jilted girl of the hills in "Keerless Love," adjuring her mammy to watch her swain as "yon he goes, all dressed up in a new suit of clo's." But the no 'count lout went off to the city, and the gal cast herself off'n a cliff after telling her mother, "Don't you cry! Fer we got a way o' gittin' by!"

This will be part of the "Hillbilly Heart Throbs" (WMAL, 9:45 p. m.).

How they became mike-masters: Ford Bond was directing community choruses and church choirs when he joined the staff of WHAS, Louisville, Ky. . . . Bill Hay, who introduces Amos 'n' Andy and the Goldbergs, started at KFKX, Hastings, Nebr., where he performed every service in the studio from soliciting sponsors to singing solos. . . . George Hicks, a native of Tacoma, Wash., was studying here in Washington for the consular corps, when in 1927 he secured a job in WRC's studios.

"When the Roses Bloom Again" will be the home gardening topic by Leonard Barron, horticultural expert in the Woman's Radio Review (2:30 p. m.).

"WHEAT Acreage Reduction Campaign" will be the subject of George N. Peak, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act. (WMAL, 10:15 p. m.)

There may be some inside information when H. Ellsworth Vines, jr., 21-year-old national tennis champion and Mercer Beasley tell "How Tennis Championships Are Made," (WMAL, 4 p. m.)

Fred Allen's new revue with Ferde Grofe's orchestra and Phil Duey, barytone, will again be heard by listeners at 9 p. m., (E. D. S. T.), on Friday, August 11. In addition to Allen's comedy, Grofe will introduce his own novelty arrangements of "Swingy Little Thingy," from "Shady Lady," when he leads his orchestra in the opening number of the program. Duey will sing "The Song Is You" and "My Darling."

Young Wife's Suicide Attempt Is Thwarted

Attempted suicide by a 24-year-old woman was thwarted last night when neighbors battered down a door. Mrs. Esther Emelio, visited relatives at 426 M street southwest, locked herself in the bathroom and turned on the gas. Her niece, Adelaide Churchhill, sensing something wrong, called Fletcher Keene, 508 D street, and he battered down the door.

Molester of Army Captain's Wife Is Set Free by Court

Disappointed Hyattsville Youth Says He "Must Have Been Crazy."

Brockton, Mass., Aug. 10 (AP).—George B. Watts, 21, of Willowcroft, Md., and a companion, James Ferrier, 19, of 126 Columbus avenue, Hyattsville, Md., faced Judge William G. Rowe today on charges of assault on Mrs. Priscilla Rogers, the young wife of Capt. Holton Rogers, an Infantry officer stationed at Fort Monroe, Va. Watts' case was placed on file and Ferrier was discharged.

Watts told of his love for Mrs. Rogers and testified he had "gone with her" for two years in Washington. He said she left Washington a short time ago to live with her mother-in-law in Halifax and a letter telling him not to write letters to her any more led him to drive from Washington to Halifax, Mass., to see her.

He was asked by Judge Rowe why he waved a toy pistol at Mrs. Rogers in the yard of her Halifax home yesterday and he said, "I must have been crazy. I loved her so. I don't know why I did it."

Mrs. Rogers told the court that Watts said that he would shoot her if she did not go with him.

Judge Rowe called the two men to the bench and said to Watts, "What are you going to do about this girl?"

"No more for me," Watts said. "I'll have to give her up, but it hurts just the same."

"How much money have you got?" the judge asked.

"Three dollars."

"Did you expect to bring her back to Washington on $3?"

"I don't know. I must have been crazy."

Public Relief In Washington Jumps in Year

92 Per Cent of All Money Spent Came From Public Funds.

Public relief in the District of Columbia increased 298.3 per cent in the year ended June, 1933, according to reports issued by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor.

The increase from May to June was 18.2 per cent. Ninety-two per cent of the amounts expended came from public funds, 86 per cent representing general and work relief funds and 5 per cent special allowances. Eight per cent came from private funds.

The number of days' care given persons in public institutions for the indigent and chronically ill rose from 182,795 in 1931 to 209,614 in 1932.

According to the reports submitted to the Labor Department by 13 cities, 66 per cent more indigent and chronically ill persons were cared for in the month of June of this year than in the same month of 1932.

In 58 cities approximately 46 per cent more meals and lodgings were provided this year in June than in June, 1932.

Police Checking 'Kidnaping' of Boy

Officials Are Skeptical, But Capital Youth Clings to His Story.

The boy was taken over the route he told police was used by two men and a woman he said picked him up. The route led to Alexandria, where he claimed he escaped by jumping from the auto.

Discrepancies turning up in the lad's tale inclined police to doubt his story. The proprietor of a drug store in Alexandria, which the lad said the two men entered to make a purchase, told detectives no strangers entered his place on the night in question.

Inspector Frank S. W. Burke attached significance to the fact that Douglas, who lives in the 1400 block of East Capitol street, told the Rev. James E. Connell, a priest, the same story he told police.

Writing Creed of America Has Cost Another $10,000

If Expenses Keep Growing May Need Government Aid, Page Fears.

By John J. Daly.

WILLIAM TYLER PAGE, who finds it an expensive luxury to write patriotic prose.

William Tyler Page, ready to celebrate his fifty-second anniversary at the United States Capitol, wrote The American's Creed and was awarded $1,000 by the City of Baltimore. His services to the Red, White and Blue then sent Mr. Page into the red ink.

For that bit of writing, the great American public taxed Mr. Page somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000, more or less. If expenses keep mounting, the author of what is termed "a summary of American civic faith" is liable to become a ward of the Government, he fears.

Soon as Mr. Page had pocketed the $1,000, the then mayor of Baltimore, James H. Preston, thought it fitting that the Creed should be placed in the city hall. Mr. Page hired a sculptor, had the creed cast in bronze, and when the bill was presented he had $700 left from the award money. That $700 went like magic—for railroad fare, hotel expenses, postage and other incidentals. Having become a national celebrity, the whole country invited Mr. Page to come and recite his Creed; forgetting that it costs an author money to go to places.

Now, after some 15 years—the Creed was written in 1918—Mr. Page is figuring out how much it costs him to be a patriotic author.

Some of the expenses have been cut since Congress permits the Creed sent through the mails under a franking privilege, but the old railroading still costs money.

Talking of all this yesterday, Mr. Page took into consideration the many years he actually spent in study, preparatory to writing The Creed. He figured he got about $50 a year for his efforts. Though the creed contains exactly 100 words, it took Mr. Page 20 years to write it. He says he got started July 4, 1898—right after the battle of Santiago—and finished it in 1918, mulling it over all the time in his mind.

For every phrase in the creed there is good authority. Even with this, Mr. Page has conducted correspondence with all sorts of historians who questioned his phraseology—and that took time. All told, William Tyler Page believes he has contributed the best part of 25 years to this work; which, of course, will live long as Americans believe in the United States of America.

Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., Madrid Embassy Guest

The President's son paid his respects to Ambassador Claude C. Bowers and accepted an invitation to remain over night at the embassy. He and his friends plan to leave tomorrow, continuing through southern Spain.

Cleaners and Dyers Plan Victory Luncheon for Code

Big Problems Overcome, Leaders Feel Need to Celebrate.

Cleaners and dyers of the country have worked so hard on the knotty problem of a code, and feel that they have done such a good job, that they are giving themselves a "victory luncheon" in the Mayflower next Tuesday.

Two representatives of the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners, of the United States and Canada, have flown more than 6,000 miles recently, gathering information from all sections for assembly into an acceptable code.

There will be 350 delegates, and they will be addressed by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, Director of the Mint; Charles C. Concannan, chief of the Chemical Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, their president, J. R. Ridley, and Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, of Pennsylvania State College.

N. J. Harkness, assistant to the president, who with Ridley has made the aerial trips, will give "Aerial Views of the N. A. D. C.," with some remarks on the cleanliness of air travel and what dry cleaners should do about it. President Ridley will present the code, and there will be open forum discussion.

Officials of the National Association Headquarters in Silver Spring, Md., report a 400 per cent gain in membership since June 1. Today there are 3,523 plant operators in the organization, representing every State and Canada.

33 Roadhouse Guests Called Against Woman

Thirty-three guests of the Garden Club, near Reds Corner, Md., will appear in the Marlboro Police Court today as witnesses against Daisy Cole, alleged operator of the establishment. The woman was arrested by Prince Georges County police early yesterday while a dance was in progress. She was charged with operating a roadhouse without a license and maintaining a disorderly house.

The raid was made by Sergt. A. W. Hepburn and Policemen Elon Turner, Oscar Beall, G. W. Gray and R. A. Naylor. Miss Cole is being held under $1,000 bond while the guests, residents of both the District of Columbia and Prince Georges County, are held under a bond of $100 each.

District Money Release Asked Of President

Intervention of Roosevelt Sought by Senator; Douglas Absent.

President Roosevelt yesterday was asked to order the release of gasoline tax and water rent funds to the District.

Senator King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, made the request in a letter to the President, in which he said that during the absence of Budget Director Douglas the District appropriations are being unduly held up and that aids to the budget director appeared unable to act.

Approximately 700 jobs in the District service and several hundred man-months of outside employment are dependent upon an early release of the funds, Senator King was advised by Auditor Daniel J. Donovan and Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of highways.

Notice has been given 110 Highway Department employes that they will be placed on indefinite furlough Tuesday if the $1,500,000 gasoline tax fund is not available then.

Water Department officials, in asking for release of most of the $635,000 appropriated by Congress from water rent surplus, pointed out that in all about 450 District jobs are involved.

4 Persons Injured When Auto Skids

Hugh Cromwell, private, of No. 8 Precinct, was driving between Fairfax and Falls Church with his daughter, Virginia, 8; Mrs. Rose Fountain and Mrs. Eva Ross, of 609 Lamont street northwest, and Mrs. Jessie McCoy, Sumpter, S. C. The car skidded on wet pavement and slid into a ditch. Getting his auto back on the highway, Cromwell drove to Emergency Hospital.

The child suffered severe lacerations and internal injuries. Mrs. Fountain received lacerations and bruises, Mrs. Ross a badly cut leg and Mrs. McCoy lacerations and a possible knee fracture. Cromwell received slight cuts.

Counterfeit Charges Lodged Against Two

John W. Miller and John Murray were ordered held for action of the grand jury on charges of possessing and passing counterfeit money when arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage. Bond was set at $5,000 each.

The pair was arrested last week after they were alleged to have tried to pass a counterfeit $5 bill in a Georgia avenue delicatessen store. Secret service agents told Commissioner Turnage that the men had six bogus bills in their possession when arrested.

National Reviewers Pick Best August Films—"Going Native" Rehearsals Start

Leading Films Registered on Local Screens

Local Critics Agreed With National View; More Amusement Gossip.

By Nelson B. Bell.

A bulletin just to hand from the offices of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, of which Will H. Hays is president, lists the pictures selected as best for the month of August by a group of previewing committees representing a cross-section of the most discriminating public opinion possible to obtain.

The estimates of these reviewing groups are based on the following considerations:

1. Entertainment values.
2. Ethical and social values.
3. Technical and artistics excellence.

So, then, to the best of the month, as follows and to wit:

"Another Language," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, with Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery; "Double Harness," RKO-Radio picture, costarring Ann Harding and William Powell; "F. P. No. 1," a Gaumont-British-UFA picture, made abroad with Leslie Fenton, Conrad Veidt and Jill Esmond heading the cast; "The Man Who Dared," Fox production with Preston Foster and Zita Johann, based on the life of the late Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago; "Storm at Daybreak," M-G-M production, with Kay Francis, Walter Huston and Nils Asther; "The Stranger's Return," M-G-M film, featuring Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins and Franchot Tone, and "Three-Cornered Moon," Paramount production, with Claudette Colbert, Mary Boland, Wallace Ford and Richard Arlen.

Out of the list of the best pictures for August all have been seen in Washington but two—"F. P. No. 1," and "Three Cornered Moon."

Of those which have been viewed in the Capital all were enthusiastically received by the critical fraternity and rated for excellence about as they are in the list distributed by the Hays office.

The Chills-and-Fever List.

Supplementing this major roster of the best pictures of the month is another catalogue of the mystery, melodrama, crime and farcical subjects that Mr. Hays' reviewers deem worthy of discriminating attention.

This index of titles includes the following names: "Arizona to Broadway," opening at Loew's Fox today; "Dangerous Crossroads," "Disgraced," "Don't Bet on Love," "Flying Devils," "I Cover the Waterfront," "The Life of Jimmy Dolan," "The Midnight Club," and "Secret of the Blue Room."

Not all of these have been seen locally, but those that have been were fairly well liked.

If the analysis of current product must be carried into the realms of farce, then the winners are found to be "The Devil's Brother," Hal Roach's picturization for M-G-M of "Fra Diavolo," as a starring vehicle for the Messrs. Laurel and Hardy; "It's Great to Be Alive" and "Mama Loves Papa," the delightful comedy in which Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland recently scored so decisively.

It is a matter of some personal satisfaction that "The Devil's Brother" leads this list, since this column was one of the few Washington appraisers that saw superior merit in this deft translation into terms of the cinema of an old favorite comic opera.

For no apparent reason, unless it be to demonstrate that old friends are not forgotten, Anne Ford, one of the more adroit of the distaff cymbal-whangers, mails a brief brochure from the Tremont Theater in Boston, proclaiming the presence there for two weeks beginning August 7, of Jane Cowl in her own new version of "Camille," presented under the former Ethel Barrymore title of "The Lady of the Camelias." Miss Cowl is presented by Arthur J. Beckhard in association with Irving A. Isaacs, it having been Mr. Beckhard who slipped "Another Language" over on a drowsy Washington, later taking it into New York for a smash hit. Perhaps Miss Ford is only warning us that Mr. Beckhard and Mr. Isaacs are on the verge of bringing another hit to the Capital which they do not wish overlooked.

Scoring a Hit by Inches.

Mrs. Henry W. Farnam, jr., socially prominent in New York and New Haven—the Hartford seems to have been railroaded—wishes it to be known that she is appearing under her maiden name of Suzanne Silvercruys in her own new play, "There Is No Death," at the Marlarden Colony, Peterboro, N. H., August 24 to 27.

The play is being produced by Howard Inches as the final production of his very successful summer season, prior to its presentation in New York by him this fall.

Mme. Silvercruys is the daughter of the president of the Supreme Court of Belgium and is a sculptress of international reputation, as well as an actress and playwright.

So how you know.

Pipe This!

Richard Dix is the owner of literally hundreds of smoking pipes of all varieties and sizes presented to him by admirers as a result of a publicity story which featured his addiction to the briars.

When the star was approached on the RKO-Radio lot, recently, where he was making "No Marriage Ties," opening at RKO-Keith's today, he hauled out three big silk sacks loaded with pipes of every known kind from cheap corncobs to costly meerschaums.

Now what he is in the market for is a few gifts of a ton or so of smoking tobacco to stoke his John Henrys!

Leila Hyams, feminine lead opposite Robert Young in Universal's third annual football picture, "Saturday's Millions," and long one of the most reliable actresses on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot, has been signed to a long-term contract by Carl Laemmle, jr., in charge of production at Universal City. Now in its third week of filming, "Saturday's Millions" has Andy Devine, Johnny Mack Brown, a former grid star in his own right; Mary Doran, Mary Carlisle, one of the most promising of the younger platinums; Lucille Lund, Universal's "All-American Girl;" Grant Mitchell, Ernie Nevers and Erny Pinkert in the supporting cast. The story was adapted by Dale Van Every from Lucian Cary's forthcoming Saturday Evening Post serial of the same name. One instance of the screen's beating the mags to the punch.

Get Hot, Everybody!

Full time rehearsals are now in order for "Going Native," the all-Washington revue to be presented at Loew's Fox Theater the week of August 18.

Ned McGurn, assistant to Gene Ford, in charge of the production, is putting the ladies and gentlemen of the ensemble—chorus girls and boys to you, fella—through their paces daily in an effort to polish off their routines and perfect their entrances and exits. All this is going on in the rehearsal hall of Joe Brown's Theatrical Enterprises, 1210 G street.

Upon Mr. Ford's return to the Capital tomorrow night, he will immediately call all specialty artists for rehearsals, which, according to present plans, will begin next Monday in earnest.

Since there are to be 17 units in the revue, Mr. Ford feels that it is essential that things get going in proper fashion at the earliest possible moment.

"Going Native," incidentally, is to be given quite as elaborate a production as any of the regular stage units playing the Fox out of New York. No expense is to be spared looking to this end and it is emphasized by City Manager Carter Barron of Loew's that the idea back of the all-Washington revue is not by any means one aimed at saving money. The Loew organization is "shooting the works" on "Going Native" and it is confidently believed that its profligacy will be apparent when the show finally is put on.

At yesterday's first theatrical industry code hearing, held in the caucus room of the old House Office Building, there was a fair sprinkling of notables, including Henry Moskowitz, William A. Brady, Georgie Price, Charles Mulligan, representing Wee and Leventhal, the demon revivalists; Heywood Broun, on the consumers' advisory committee, and Sam H. Harris, famous producer, the profession's observer and adviser at all hearings relating to the code. Murray Winkler, attorney for the National Dramatic Stock Association, insisted strongly on an entirely separate code for stock company producers and actors. Georgie Price, as vice president of the Actors' Betterment Association, Inc., advocated numerous changes in the code, all aimed at bettering the player's working conditions and remuneration and putting an end to the benefit abuses to which all actors are now subject.

A Hound for Sleep?

Boris Karloff, Universal's famous bogey man, who is to star in "The Return of Frankenstein," owns one of the only three Bedlington terriers in the United States. It is a new breed of dog, evidently obtained by crossing a Simmons with an Ostermoor, or something!

Success at Last.

Dudley Digges, noted character actor and the detective in the forthcoming screen shocker, "The Invisible Man," spent 29 years trying to complete his naturalization as an American citizen. He only recently was accorded his final papers. Obviously, once his mind is set on a thing, Dudley Digges digs!

Words and Music.

America's most consistent composer of popular song hits, Walter Donaldson, was engaged this week by Carl Laemmle, jr., to provide a musical background for Universal's screen cavalcade of American life, "Only Yesterday.' He will write both the music and the lyrics.

Donaldson's tunes have been whistled and hummed around the world. It was Donaldson who wrote "My Buddy," so popular during the war. It was Donaldson who wrote "My Mammy," the number that skyrocketed Al Jolson to greater fame. And it was Donaldson who made the world fox-trot conscious with such lilting dance melodies as "Carolina in the Morning," "Beside a Babbling Brook," "Sam, the Old Accordion Man," "At Sundown," "My Blue Heaven," "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," "Little White Lies," "Makin' Whoopee," "Love Me or Leave Me," "You're Driving Me Crazy," "Hiawatha's Lullaby," "My Mom," and many others.

His task at Universal will be to write a score which will characterize musically the sweeping panorama and change in American life which took place after the Great War and through the years to the stock market crash of 1929.

"Only Yesterday," which will be one of Universal's most pretentious screen plays on its 1933-34 releasing schedule, is now in its eighth week of filming under John M. Stahl's direction. The impressive cast of 72 name players is headed by Margaret Sullavan, John Boles, Billie Burke and Reginald Denny.

Come to think of it, perhaps one of the reasons Dudley Digges found it difficult to grasp the American manner of living was that it is all in code!

So This Is What a Private Sleuth Looks Like!

An impressionistic drawing of William Powell, that suave and polished actor, as he probably appears in "Private Detective 62," the screen feature opening today at the Earle Theater, with Margaret Lindsay supporting the star in the feminine role of chief importance.

Code Progressing For Film Industry

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Committees of motion picture exhibitors, producers and distributors, seeking to draft a code for the film industry, announced late today that a virtual agreement had been reached among representative exhibitors on "buying" and "clearance."

"We report real progress," said Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the Theater Owners Chamber of Commerce. "We believe at least two controversial subjects have been met almost in whole. We still have quite a few left."

O'Reilly explained that "buying" referred to the practice of block buying by theaters, in which several pictures are contracted for at one time. He defined "clearance" as the lapse of time between the runs of a picture in different houses of the same community. The basis of the tentative agreement was not announced.

Film Tables.

Three Theater Groups Pledge Code Support

6-Day Week Plan Rapped; $10 Daily Artists' Pay, Insurance Asked.

(Associated Press.)

The legitimate theater industry had its innings before the National Recovery Administration yesterday, approving generally, despite minor discord, the code proposed for the stage.

The Producing Organizations, Actors' Equity Association and stage unions endorsed the code submitted to the National Recovery Administration July 21.

The Actors' Benefit Association, however, represented by the musical comedy actor, Georgie Price, sought to have a minimum $10 a day wage for featured artists written into the code and asked for inclusion of a compulsory sick and unemployment insurance provision. The association also asked Government regulation of the importation of foreign stage stars.

These requests were coupled with sharp criticism by producers of the so-called "throw-away" system of cut-rate ticket selling, in an otherwise peaceful hearing before deputy administrator Sol Rosenblatt.

A suggestion for a six-day week for the industry drew criticism from the New York producer, William A. Brady.

Turning directly to the subject of fair trade practices, Mr. Brady said that while he "sympathized" with the stock company division of the industry and believed provision should be made for it in the code, he still believed there was overlapping of the first-run and stock company units.

"When a supposed stock company runs in New York from 10 to 21 weeks, as it did recently," he said, "I believe it goes beyond the range of a stock company."

Code Slackers Will Be Denied Federal Work

Roosevelt Tells Contractors They Must Meet NRA Provisions.

By Lawrence Sullivan
(Post Staff Correspondent).

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 10.—President Roosevelt tonight signed an executive order requiring that all domestic supplies purchased under Federal Government contracts shall be produced under the terms of the National Recovery program.

The order followed an opinion from Attorney General Cummings which held that the Government might abrogate any contract ruled by the immediate administrative officer to cover supplies not produced under a code.

The executive order specifically validated both written codes formally approved by the National Recovery Administration, and blanket agreements submitted by individual producers.

The order applies to all contracts let from this date and is not retroactive, it was pointed out.

At the summer White House it was explained that the executive order encompasses all Federal purchases, including those to be made for the gigantic $3,300,000,000 public works program.

"The contractor shall comply with all provisions of the applicable approved code," the President wrote, "of fair competition for the trade or industry or subdivision thereof concerned; or, if there be no approved code of fair competition for the trade or industry or subdivision thereof concerned, then with the provision of the President's reemployment agreement promulgated under authority of section 4 (a) of the foregoing act, or of any amendment thereof, without regard to whether the contractor is himself a party to such code or agreement."

Mr. Roosevelt added that "if the contractor fails to comply with the foregoing provision, the Government may by written notice to the contractor terminate the contractor's right to proceed with the contract, and purchase in the open market the undelivered portion of the supplies covered by the contract, and the contractor and his sureties shall be liable to the Government for any excess cost occasioned the Government thereby."

In signing the order the President excepted purchases outside the United States and its territories.

Cosyns Postpones Stratosphere Hop

Brussels, Aug. 10 (AP).—The ascent of Max Cosyns into the stratosphere was postponed until spring today when a gondola pressure test revealed defects in structure necessitating complete overhauling.

Before the mishap to the gondola, he had felt that interest in his scientific observations had been diminished by the failure of Lieut. Comdr. T. G. W. Settle, who attempted a similar flight at the Chicago Exposition last week-end. The ventures were meant to complement each other.

Fugitive Youth Is Returned on Slaying Charge

Boy Accused in Cincinnati Killing Is Already Ward of Juvenile Court.

Cincinnati, Aug. 10 (AP).—Sixteen-year-old John Henkel was brought back home today to face a murder charge as funeral services were held for the man he is accused of killing, Oliver S. Baily, 27, Cincinnati society figure.

Captured in Meridian, Miss., after a flight in Baily's automobile, young Henkel stepped off the train handcuffed but smiling and was rushed off for more questioning by Prosecutor Louis J. Schneider and Emmett J. Kirgan, chief of detectives. Police said Henkel insists he killed Baily in a fist fight in a "lovers lane," following a drinking party.

Because of petty misdemeanors in the past, Henkel is a ward of Juvenile Court and Schneider immediately began efforts to reach Judge Charles W. Hoffman, of the court, who is on vacation in the Canadian North Woods.

Officials said that unless Judge Hoffman releases the boy from his jurisdiction he can not be tried on a first degree murder indictment returned late yesterday. If the release is refused, he can be held only as a juvenile delinquent and perhaps sent to a correction institution.

Records of the probate court and of Longview Hospital here showed that Henkel's mother and father both have been under mental treatment and that the boy himself was given a sanity hearing last year, but was dismissed.

Movie Divorce Suit Expected in Nevada

Reno, Nev., Aug. 10 (AP).—The marriage of Carole Lombard, blonde film star, and debonair William Powell, also of the movies, will end in the Nevada divorce courts tomorrow or Saturday.

George B. Thatcher, attorney for Miss Lombard, said today the actress will be eligible to file suit on one of these two days. Miss Lombard has been living in a secluded cottage at Lake Tahoe, 60 miles from here, and may, under Nevada law, file suit anywhere she chooses. Details of what she will charge in her complaint were not discussed by Thatcher.

Hungry Boy Bandit Gets Fed in Jail

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 10 (AP).—Mrs. Samuel Canton, proprietor of a grocery store, was confronted by an 11-year-old robber flourishing a Lueger pistol today.

"Stick 'em up. I'm hungry," shouted the boy in a treble voice.

"Put away that gun and you can have anything in the store," Mrs. Canton replied.

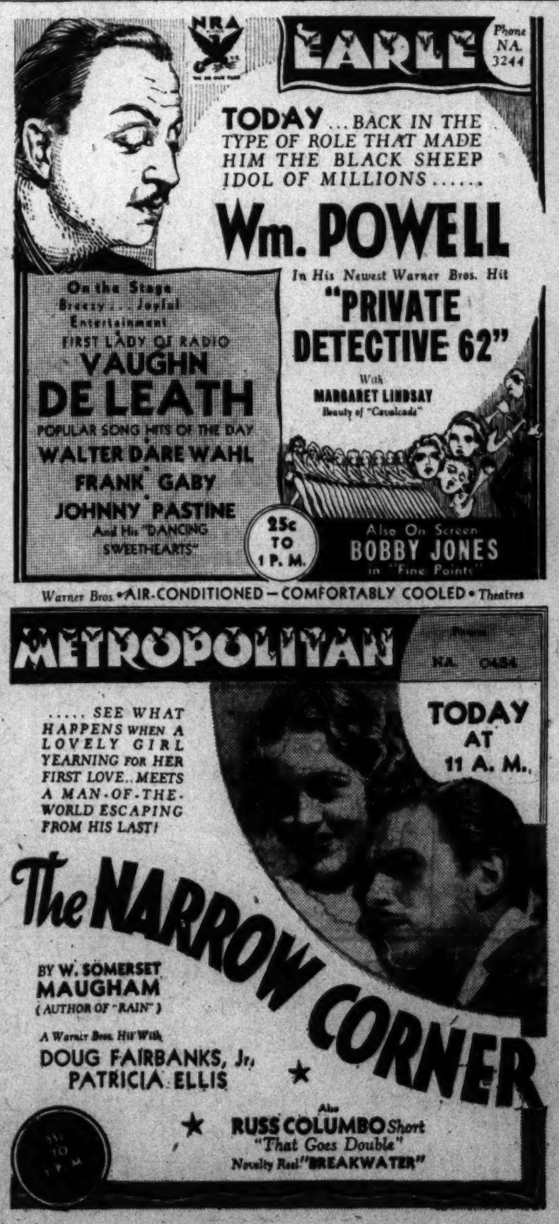

As the gun muzzle was lowered, she grabbed the gun and called the police.

Over a ration of bacon and eggs at police headquarters, the boy said his name was Doris Curtis. He left home several days ago because he "hated housework." He said he stole the gun at an oil station and carefully planned this start on his career of crime.

Walt Mason, Himself

Silver Lining.

I HAVE seen the chronic fretter cheering up in recent days; "Things are surely getting better," he remarks, "in forty ways. When I read the daily papers pleasant stories greet my eyes, and the grocers and the drapers seem impelled to advertise; every day there is some token that the jinx begins to slip, that the evil spell is broken and the hoodoo's lost its grip." I have seen the tireless weeper digging up a smile or so, who of late seemed sinking deeper in the dark abyss of woe. "It is grievous to admit it," he observes, "but things improve, and the slump's inclined to quit it, and we'll strike a better groove. For three years I have insisted that the worst was yet to come, and I wotted and I wisted that the world was out of plumb; as a prophet I was feeling that I ranked among the first, and I did much gloomy spieling—but I think we've passed the worst. It is tough to lose the laurel that I gathered as a seer, but to wail is most immoral when the skies are getting clear." Every day I meet some fellow who is talking in this strain, who believes it would be yellow to seem doleful and complain. It is good to hear men talking cheerfully, while buying prunes, good to note that while they're walking they are whistling joyous tunes.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Are You Fly Bait?

A BIT of doggerel is popular among bald-headed men right now. In this screed a man wants to know why it is that flies light on him when there are so many other roosting places, and most of them freer from risk. No answer is given in the verse, but the right one can be supplied.

Flies regard men as a salt lick, and such places have always been persistently sought after. Wild animals travel long distances to reach salt licks. A fly finds just what he wants on the human skin, and a bald head is especially desirable for the same reason a man likes to eat sea food on the open beach. He gets a good view, there are no obstructions, and what he eats and drinks supplies him with minerals, calories and liquids.

In case the individual would allow it, flies congregate at the inner corners of the eyes. The tears are just salty enough to appeal to their taste. They like the lips also. The saliva is a source of water and salt. They would like the interior of the mouth even better, but that opening is a cave of the winds from which issue thunderous sounds that terrify timid insects.

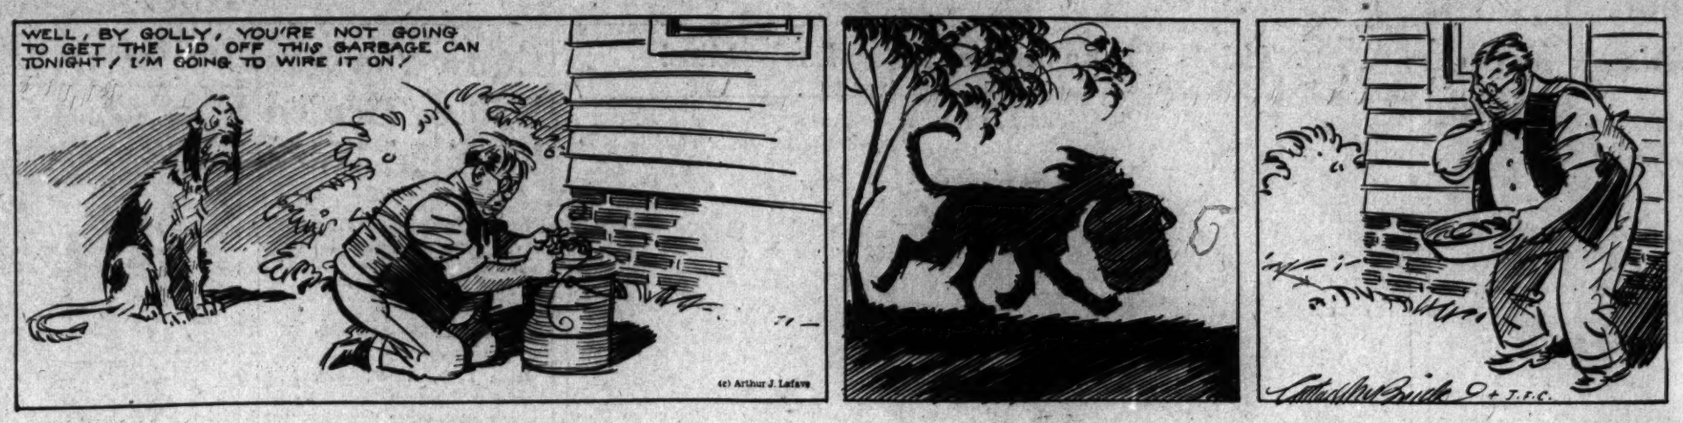

It is because the human body is so attractive to them that flies seek it out so persistently. It happens that the places on the body that have the greatest appeal for them are those where they annoy us most or are capable of doing harm. So far as is known, flies do not carry disease except in their role of vehicles. Not infrequently we can see mites resembling chiggers on the bodies of flies. Sometimes we can see molds on them. What we can not see are the more dangerous bacteria that stick to their bodies and legs. They are potent spreaders of the bacteria of typhoid fever, ordinary diarrheas, baby diarrheas, some sores, and they sometimes spread tuberculosis, diphtheria and other diseases capable of being spread.

Quarantine rules as to all diseases call for measures for fly control.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Automobile bodies—Production and shipments by the Briggs Manufacturing Co. for the first seven months of this year exceeded the total shipments for all of last year, the company announces.

Steel scrap—Recent sales in the Pittsburgh and Chicago markets have brought higher prices, according to trade interests. On sizable transactions the material has changed hands at gains of 25 cents a ton over previous quotations.

Cotton cloth—It is reported that most of the former asking prices that were common in the fine gray cloth market have been withdrawn, and the low levels which were less frequently encountered are now the usual quotable basis.

Heavy chemicals—Trade interests report that demand for industrial materials is fairly well distributed through the list. Business in alkali is less active than it was in July, but is nevertheless in fairly good volume for this season.

Canada Crops Forecast Far Below Normal

Dominion's Bureau Places Losses at 16 to 57 Per Cent of 1932.

Ottawa, Aug. 10 (AP).—Canadian field crops will range from 16 to 57 per cent below average this year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics forecast today.

Drought and heat took heavy tolls of the crops, especially in Ontario and the prairie provinces.

The most damage during July was done to crops of flax, wheat, barley and oats, the survey showed. The flax crop, on a greatly reduced acreage, was judged to be 43 per cent of average at July 31. The condition of the wheat crop was shown to be 57 per cent of average which, with the exception of 1931, was the lowest figure at that date in the records of the bureau.

Drought Hits Grains.

The coarse grains also suffered from drought, the bureau reported, and prospects were for about two-thirds of an average yield. Potatoes were placed at 84 per cent of average. Considering all crops, the yield prospects for 1933 were among the lowest on record for Canada.

The yield per acre of fall wheat was placed considerably below that of 1932 and, even with a slight increase in acreage, total production was lower, 14,143,000 bushels, compared with 15,062,000 bushels in 1932.

Production of fall rye in Canada in 1933 was estimated at 5,104,000 bushels compared with 7,132,000 bushels last year. This decline was attributed to reduced acreage and yield per acre in Saskatchewan.

Eastern Canada Status.

The drought in eastern Canada was held responsible for reduced production of hay and clover, which was estimated at 11,093,000 tons for Canada, compared with 13,559,000 tons last year.

"The condition figures quoted," said the report, "are based on reports filed about the end of July. Some change in prospects has occurred in the past ten days. More ample precipitation has helped the late crops and pastures in the maritime provinces and eastern Canada.

Spring-sown grains were generally too far advanced in growth to derive much benefit from the moisture. In those districts of the prairie provinces where wheat stands were still promising, some good rains have fallen, but across the southern wheat lands, where the crops are light, the drought still persists. The feed situation in these districts is critical and heavy rains in the remainder of the growth period would be of great assistance. The weather has been generally favorable for harvesting operations not only on the prairies, but in British Columbia also."

Bond Market Closes Higher After Losses

Early Advances Reduced in Profit-Taking; Sales, $10,922,000.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—The bond market, after an early show of buoyancy today, reliquished most of its gains when stocks turned soft and commodities developed an irregular tone.

Resistance was shown to late profit-taking by scattered industrials and rails, but some of the secondary utilities were unsettled on further reports of a more active campaign for the lowering of power and light rates. Prime issues generally, however, maintained a steady to firm position.

The trading volume was not quite so heavy as that of yesterday. Sales totaled $10,922,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds advanced one-tenth of a point.

Carrier issues that managed to finish with small advances included some of Alleghany Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian National, Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, International Great Northern, Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific and Southern. Minor declines were suffered by liens of Chesapeake Corporation, St. Paul, Chicago & North Western, Erie, New York Central and Southern Pacific.

The better industrials and utilities included maturities of Armour & Co., Goodyear, Goodrich, Postal Telegraph, Republic Steel and Western Union. Among heavier loans in these groups were those of American & Foreign Power, Colorado Fuel, International Telephone, Paramount Publix and Warner Bros.

The new 3¼ per cent Treasury bonds were listed today on a when issued basis and were quoted at 100.22 at the close. Other Government securities were fairly firm and were a little more active than usual. Foreign obligations were generally higher, although unusually inactive.

Stocks Halt Advance On Steel Tonnage Cut

Confident March Forward in Early Trading Gives Way to 1.5 Points Loss; Sales Volume Rises to 2,826,595 Shares.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Marching forward with serene confidence at the opening, the stock market tripped over a somewhat unfavorable steel tonnage report, issued at noon, and promptly changed its course of action.

Early advances of 1 to around 3 points were replaced, at the close, by losses ranging from fractions to 2 or more points. Grains traced a similar pattern, but held some of their initial gains until the close. Cotton was lower. Foreign exchanges moved within a narrow groove.

Trading, which was rather buoyant in the forepart of the day, tapered off later, although transfers amounting to 2,826,595 shares were some 300,000 above yesterday's volume. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics composite covering 90 selected stocks declined 1.5 points.

Stocks seemed to be in a hyper-sensitive mood, responding quickly to news and rumors of news. The report of the U. S. Steel Corporation, showing a decline of 86,546 tons in unfilled orders for July, was generally construed as a mildly adverse development, inasmuch as the drop was larger than most experts expected. A slump in July steel orders, however, is not regarded as anything unusual. Also pressing shipments, rather than falling business, may have caused the tonnage recession.

In any event, coincident with publication of the steel figures, the market lost some of its enthusiasm and selling orders piled up faster than they could be absorbed.

Developments in governmental circles led to the belief in many banking quarters that the administration was not contemplating any inflationary steps now, but rather studying the possibilities of a huge refunding operation in the fall, which would involve conversion of either a large volume of short-term indebtedness or the $6,000,000,000 Fourth Liberty loan.

In stocks, early strength was centered largely on the motor, railroad and alcohol issues, but the improvement was generally lost before the final gong. Stocks which declined from fractions to around 2 points included U. S. Steel common and preferred, Bethlehem Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Case, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, Commercial Solvents, Standard Brands, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and General Motors.

Santa Fe, Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Norfolk & Western, Western Union, American Commercial Alcohol and International Silver gained fractionally to a point or more.

Drug Institute Clears Use of Recovery Sign

30,000 Members Advised of Two Methods to Meet Requirements.

By Thomas M. Cahill.

Drug Institute of America is clearing a reported confusion regarding the use of the National Recovery Administration "Blue Eagle" sign. To clarify the confusion existing in the drug industry regarding the use of the NRA "Blue Eagle" by retail druggists, the institute has advised the 30,000 members of its organization through the national, State and local associations of two methods by which they can qualify immediately to use the Government insignia.

These methods were outlined by Wheeler Sammons, managing director of the institute. First, the retail pharmacist can sign the President's reemployment agreement and file it with his local postmaster, who will issue the "Blue Eagle." Second, he can file a petition for relief with a signed reemployment agreement, the relief asked for to be conditioned upon the final approval of a retail drug code by the President or the NRA. Upon the approval of the code any relief granted will cease.

Codes to Be Filed.

It was further announced by the Drug Institute of America that codes of fair competition would be filed by leading drug trade associations covering practically every branch of the industry.

It is explained by Mr. Sammons that exemptions under the petitions for relief will probably be granted only in exceptional cases and that those who sign the President's agreement thereby accept the final decision of the National Recovery Administration.

Growth of Clarendon Trust Co., Clarendon, Va., a thriving nearby banking institution, has been revealed surprisingly by its latest condensed statement of condition. Officials of the company are justly proud of its growth as exhibited by the statement as at close of business June 30, date set for statements of condition by the recent call of the office of Comptroller of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor.

Fidelity Fund Report.

Fidelity Fund, Inc., in its quarterly report to stockholders states that the fund is now upon a basis of 88½ per cent common stocks and 11½ per cent cash and accruals. Its portfolio consists of 41 common stocks with current market values well in excess of cost. The report comments upon the administration plan as follows:

"If the employment plan of the Administration becomes truly operative several million of the new unemployed will be in a position to spend money by the end of the year, and many others will have greater amounts to spend than at present. It can not now be determined whether the greater amounts available for spending will buy more or less than they will now. The administration, of course, hopes that real as well as nominal wages will be increased.

"In the meantime, the administration has recognized the tendencies toward overproduction and has taken steps to curtail speculative production and to hasten its employment program. It is our feeling that, sound or not, the Government will do all in its power to prolong the current improvement pending the upbuilding of consumer demand.

Bar to Recession Seen.

"We believe that at least during the next few months it will attempt to prevent more than a moderate business recession or other eventuality which might destroy the growing public confidence in recovery. It should not be forgotten that some of the most important of its powers have been only spoken of, not used.

"Recovery from any business depression must be a slow process. Your investment committee, however, feels distinctly encouraged about the near-term outlook and continues its common stock program."

Curb's Rising Is Checked by Selling Drive

Early Gains Wiped Out as Turnover Increases to 397,000 Shares.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Rising tendencies in curb stocks were checked today as a substantial amount of selling around midday rubbed out early gains of fractions to more than 2 points.

A number of shares continued to slide off in the final dealings and quite a few net losses of fractions to more than a point were recorded at the close.

Aluminum Co. of America and General Tire & Rubber practically canceled gains of around 3 points. The principal alcohol shares, up around a point in the morning, eased fractions to a point. In the utility group American Light & Traction moved against the trend to establish an advance of 1½ points. Electric Bond & Share, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and American Gas & Electric conceded major fractions.

Oils were comparatively steady, while mining issues turned a bit soggy. New Jersey Zinc lost 2½ points, while Lake Shores Mines eased a major fraction. Newmont canceled a 1¼-point rise.

Transfers approximated 397,000 shares, compared with 366,000 shares for Wednesday.

U. S. Forecast Places Corn at 2,273,019,000 Units; Wheat, 499,671,000.

(Associated Press.)

The crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture yesterday forecast the second smallest corn crop since 1901, and the lowest production of wheat and oats in 35 years.

It said that crop prospects, very unpromising a month ago, declined sharply since July 1, due to drought and other adverse weather factors.

The forecast for corn was reduced 111,000,000 bushels from July 1 to August 1. The prediction was based on observations on the latter date, indicating 2,273,000,000 bushels.

Year's Crop Forecast.

This year's corn crop was forecast yesterday by the Department of Agriculture at 2,273,019,000 bushels, and the wheat crop, winter and spring combined, at 499,671,000 bushels.

A month ago the indicated corn crop was 2,384,032,000 bushels. Last year's production was 2,875,570,000 bushels.

The combined wheat crop a month ago was forecast at 495,681,000 bushels, while last year's production was 726,831,000 bushels.

The indicated production of oats is 666,745,000 bushels, compared with 698,941,000 bushels a month ago, and 1,238,231,000 bushels produced last year.

Wall Street Briefs.

(Associated Press.)

It has been a long time since the price of a New York Stock Exchange membership fell $55,000 on the transfer of a single seat, as occurred today. The slump from the previous transaction at $240,000 was attributed in some brokerage quarters to prospects for a slow commission business for the remainder of the summer at least, partly as a result of the recent action by the exchange to control margin trading.

Wall street heard today that custom smelters of copper had filed their own code under the national recovery act. They were invited to unite with producing companies in framing a code, it was said, but elected to draw up an agreement governing themselves alone rather than subscribe to the same terms as producing companies.

The New York Curb Exchange, following the lead of the Stock Exchange, has adopted regulations dealing with margin requirements and operations of pools, syndicates and joint accounts in which members are participants.

For the first time in history of the Stock Exchange the shares of a company dealing solely in small personal loans has been admitted to trading. It has approved the listing of the common stock of the Beneficial Industrial Loan Corporation, which has 310 subsidiaries doing business in 25 States.

Lew Hahn, for the past two years chairman of the board of the Hahn Department Stores, will sever his connection with the concern August 31, when his contract expires, it was announced today. Hahn resigned as president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, but its board refused to accept it.

The National Coal Association, from incomplete car-loading reports from railroads, estimated bituminous coal production in the United States for the week ended August 5 was about 6,975,000 net tons. Production for the corresponding week in 1932 was 4,465,000 tons, and 6,874,000 tons in 1931.

In line with inflationary gossip in Wall street, brokers expressed considerable interest in the recent Treasury announcement that the money stocks of the country showed a reduction for July of about $66,000,000. Nevertheless, money stocks still stand about $904,000,000 above a year ago, instead of below, as erroneously stated by the Associated Press yesterday.

Foreign Markets.

(Associated Press.)

London—Activity on the stock exchange continues above its normal for midsummer with easy money inducing increased operations. The oversubscription of the new Austrian loan gave gilt-edged securities renewed strength and international issues, notably nickel shares, also improved. The market closed firm.

Paris—Prices on the bourse continued moderately firm, reflecting the advance in Wall street. Rentes were an exception and closed lower because of active selling. The closing was improved.

Berlin—Although stimulated by the better situation regarding labor, trading on the boerse remained inactive. Prices sagged fractionally with no recovery being recorded at the close.

Wheat Upturn Trimmed by Profit-Takers

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP).—Advancing for the third day in succession, wheat today went to almost 6 cents above Tuesday's bottom figures. Profit-taking on the bulge, however, wiped out at the last most of today's gain.

Much of the buying of all cereals today was based on reports that the Washington administration desired to see prices restored to the level which prevailed in 1924-26, and it was especially noted that the average 1926 price the farmer received for wheat was $1.24 a bushel; corn, 74 cents, and oats, 40½ cents.

Leading traders said the national code, tentatively agreed to for governing future dealings on grain exchanges, was exceedingly broad and liberal, and would encourage relief in a free, open, competitive market.

Wheat Closes Unsettled.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜ higher; corn, unchanged to ½ up; oats, ⅛ to ½ advanced, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 17 cents.

Among the chief new incentives to wheat buyers was an official Canadian crop summary indicative of persisting severe damage to wheat. There was also a good demand here for immediate delivery wheat, offerings of which were somewhat scarce, despite good sized stocks at terminal centers.

Notice was taken, too, of a report that the quality of new wheat in Roumania was unsuitable for export, and wheat crops of Eastern areas of Australia were disappointing.

Cause of Setbacks.

Contributing some momentum to late setbacks of wheat prices, however, was correct belief expressed in various quarters that the United States Government crop report due after the close would be less bullish as to wheat than regarding feed grains.

On the other hand, general trade expectations were that the Government report would approximate the unofficial reports issued here last week. Statements that Germany had offered wheat for shipment to New York at 73½ cents a bushel, buyer to pay the import duty, attracted little attention as the price would be well above what wheat from Chicago could be laid down at New York.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Rural offerings of corn to arrive were larger.

Steel Plant Reports Decline in Orders

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation decreased 86,546 tons in July to a total of 2,020,125 tons, the corporation announced today. This compares with a June increase in backlog of 176,856 tons, which was the largest reported since early in 1930.

The decline was somewhat larger than expected in Wall street. Most quarters had looked for a small change in the tonnage with guesses about evenly divided as between gain and loss. Continuance of a high rate of mill shipments during the month in the face of reported slowing down of buying in some directions formed the basis of estimates of a decline.

Over the past ten years increases in the corporation's July backlog have occurred infrequently. Last year the tonnage was off about 68,400 tons.

13.48 Cents Averaged On Lumberton Tobacco

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—An average struck for one row across a warehouse as sales began today on the Lumberton tobacco market was 13.48 cents a pound.

The row apeared to contain tobacco of about the average offered for sale and led to belief the general average for the first day's sales would be between 13 and 14 cents a pound. R. W. McFarland, sales supervisor, estimated the "break" in poundage on the six warehouses here was about a quarter of a million pounds. Early sales were at from 6 to 26 cents a pound. Prices of the poorer grades were generally double those of a year ago. General satisfaction was expressed by farmers.

Business Failures Gain For Week of August 3

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Dun & Bradstreet's reported yesterday there were 352 business failures during the week ended August 3, against 333 in the previous week and 670 in the like period a year ago.

Europe's Wheat Crop Seen Exceeding 1932 Bumper Yield

Rome, Aug. 10 (AP).—The European wheat crop, if weather continues favorable, will not only attain but surpass that of 1932, which was the largest thus far recorded, says a report of the International Institute of Agriculture.

The quality of the crop also may be on the whole better than in 1932, the institute says, since rust and blast damage have so far been much smaller.

The four Danubian exporting countries expect together a crop much larger—by about 2,700,000 metric cubic tons—than the very small crop of 1932. This is still appreciably below the average.

Tough old crop stocks in these Danubian countries are much reduced, the exportable surplus for the coming season may be calculated, says the institute, at a minimum of 1,200,000 metric tons.

Excellent crops are also expected in Germany, Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia, the British Isles, Greece and The Netherlands. France will have a production which, though appreciably below the very good crop of last year, is considered as a good average. Spain and Portugal will be below average.

The Agricultural Institute reports that European rye and barley crops appear to be about the same as those of last year, which were large, and to be somewhat above the average. The oat crop, however, appears to be a little below both that of last year and the average.

July Steel Production Totals 3,203,810 Tons

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Steel ingot production in July totaled 3,203,810 tons, the highest for any month since June, 1930, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported yesterday. The figure compared with an outturn of 2,597,517 tons in June and 806,722 tons in July last year.

Production for the seven months ended July 31 totaled 12,193,002 tons, against 8,503,932 tons for the like period last year. Output for the full year 1932 amounted to 13,322,833 tons.

American Airways Gain In Carrying Passengers

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—American Airways carried 13,917 passengers on its Nation-wide system in July, an increase of 38.8 per cent over July last year, L. B. Manning, chairman of the board, announced today. Passenger traffic on many of the company's lines required extra sections during the month, he said, with traffic unusually heavy in and out of Chicago.

The company will shortly put into service twelve new high-speed ships, six of which will have a speed of 215 miles an hour, Mr. Manning said.

Output of Automobiles Totals 178,506 Units

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Aggregate July production of cars and trucks by members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, according to a preliminary estimate by the chamber, totaled 178,506 units compared with 200,056 in June and 58,771 in July last year. The chamber membership includes all important producers with the exception of Ford.

Piece Rates Raised By Continental Can

New York, Aug. 10 (Spl.).—Continental Can Co., Inc., has advanced hourly and piecework rates up to 15 per cent in all of its 37 plants in the United States, pending the approval by the National Industrial Recovery Administration of the code which has been prepared by the can-manufacturing industry, the company officially announced today.

The pay of approximately all clerical staff and salaried employes is also being increased 5 to 10 per cent. These increases will largely restore the rates of pay prevalent in 1929, the announcement added.

"The shorter work week is being put into effect immediately in all plants, excepting those temporarily in the rush season of cans for the perishable fruit and vegetable pack," the announcement stated. "Former employes of the company are being reemployed and others added to make up for the shorter working time. About 10,000 employes will receive wage and salary increases."

Cotton Prices Decline Under Realizing Rush

December Sells at 9.97 as General Market Drops 18 to 22 Points.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Cotton lost about $1 a bale today under a renewal of realizing or liquidation and scattered selling.

December contracts, after selling up from 10.04 to 10.22, broke to 9.95 and closed at 9.97, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 18 to 22 points.

After opening 8 to 14 points lower the market recovered on trade and scattered buying, reaching levels 2 to 5 points net higher.

Spot Houses' Demand.

Demand from spot houses which had been a sustaining factor yesterday and early today tapered off on the advance, and prices eased off during the afternoon, with the pressure becoming a little more active in the late trading. During the final hour the market was influenced adversely by reactions in grains and stocks. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest of the day on most positions.

Liverpool cables reported a quiet market there with prices reacting from an early advance under hedging and some Bombay selling. Exports today, 21,007 bales, making 166,207 so far this season. Port receipts, 10,541; U. S. Port stocks, 2,978,770.

Early Buying Rumor.

Some of the early buying by spot houses was again rumored to be connected with price fixing on sales of cotton to Russia, and when demand from that source subsided the opinion was expressed in some quarters that these orders might have been completed.

Private cable advices from Liverpool said that Indian crop accounts were very favorable following a good monsoon, and that the Egyptian crop was expected to exceed 8,500,000 cantars.

Sugar Leaders Agree on Curb Of Production

Continental and Insular Men Object to Quotas at Capital Meeting.

Representatives of sugar industries in continental and insular United States and Cuba yesterday announced their agreement in principle with the proposed plan to balance production against American consumption, but entered objections at the first public hearing on the agreement against quotas to be fixed for their several areas.

The domestic cane refiners, through their spokesman, Wilbur Cummings, of New York, urged the complete exclusion from the United States of all refined sugar from Cuba and the insular possessions.

George Rublee, Washington attorney representing the Cuban industry, warned against limiting Cuba's raw sugar quota to a figure he described as ruinous to the island republics, whose entire economic structure was built upon sugar and a substantial outlet in the American market.

Ills of Cuba.

Mr. Rublee said the present ills of Cuba are the direct result of the economic collapse brought on by distress in the sugar industry. He hinted that should the agreement further restrict Cuba's industry, conditions in the island might degenerate into chaos and force United States intervention to restore normal life.

Former Senator Harry B. Hawes, of Missouri, representing Philippine growers and refiners, said the island people were in agreement with the necessity for a restrictive agreement, but felt their quota was unfair and would be ruinous to the sugar industry there.

Hawaiian sugar interests, said Richard Cooke, are generally sympathetic with the proposed sugar code, but would object to some of its provisions.

Louisiana Cane Growers.

Representatives of Louisiana cane growers, Florida interests and the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange were heard, and, with the exception of Florida, announced their agreement in principle.

The large Florida delegation at the hearing protested against failure of the agreement to allow for expansion of their State's sugar industry, and proposed a rising scale to care for increased crops for the next three years.

Jules M. Burguire, representing the Governor of Florida, proposed the 1933-34 limit stand at 60,000 tons, while 110,000 tons be allowed for Florida for the crop year 1934-35, and 250,000 tons in 1935-36.

Self-Preservation First.

Senator Trammel, of Florida, said he favored self-preservation for his State and opposed a quota for Cuba which would crowd out future Florida production.

Alfred H. White of the Florida Chamber of Commerce insisted that provision be made for Florida's plan of progressive development of its sugar industry.

Armand J. Scully, president of the Louisiana Rice and Sugar Exchange, said his group was heartily in accord with the principle of the agreement, but reserved its right to stand with the American Cane Sugar League in any amendments it may make later.

William D. Lippet, speaking for eastern and western beet sugar refiners, Eastern and Western beet sugar refiners, announced his approval of the principle upon which the proposed agreement is based.

South Carolina Tobacco Sells At $13 to $14

Florence, S. C., Aug. 10 (AP).—An average price of between $13 and $14 a hundred for the opening was indicated as farmers of the South Carolina and border belts began selling their tobacco on the auction markets today.

Opening breaks were generally reported moderately heavy. The poorer grades sold at increases of 25 to 100 per cent over last year, but there was little improvement in the bids for the better grades. Last year's opening average was $9.75 to $10 a hundred.

Few tickets were turned—the gesture made by the farmer in refusing the bid on his tobacco—and growers were better satisfied than last year. Some markets reported a general feeling of satisfaction and optimism among the growers.

Most of the offerings today were first pullings, or ground primings, but a few baskets of better grade weed were offered and some sold as high as $26 a hundred. One lot went at $40. Very little tobacco sold for less than $6 a hundred.

R. W. McFarland, sales supervisor at Lumberton, described the opening there as "the most satisfactory I have seen in years."

Crawford Faces Winnipeg Claims

Winnipeg, Aug. 10 (AP).—Six writs, with total claims of $515,998.78, have been filed in the court of king's bench here against E. A. Crawford, grain operator, who is alleged to have failed recently in New York.

Asking payment of $337,298.58, the Norris Grain Co., of Winnipeg, is the largest creditor. At one time, they allege, Crawford owed the company more than $1,000,000, but sale of his holdings reduced the amount.

North Star Grain Co. is asking $20,816.25, and four other plaintiffs, residing in New York, are claiming other sums. J. F. Bache & Co. are asking $19,742.50; E. F. Hutton & Co., $34,662.50; John F. Clarke & Co., $58,101.95, and John Melady & Co., $45,317. The statement of claims filed in the suit allege the plaintiffs were all employed by Crawford to buy and sell grain, each of them believing they were his exclusive broker.

Aid for Copper Is Expected in NRA Activities

Wall Street Hopes Officials Will Remedy Ills of Industry.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—When the recovery diagnosticians confer in Washington today with leaders of the copper industry, Wall street hopes they will probe the cause of the illness that has left its mark upon scores of American towns that go alternately from prosperity to penury with the rise and fall of the copper market.

The industry was hit during the depression by the twin plagues of a mountainous pile of copper, produced in a period when the future was rosy-hued, and a price level that slid to the lowest point in more than 30 years.

No longer handicapped in its efforts to work out their destiny by fear of antitrust laws, and encouraged by the new partnership of Government and business, producers are understood to have agreed in the main to a prescription for the patient.

It involves adherence to the principle of checking production to run behind consumption, with a gradual reduction of the stocks of refined copper now on hand, and selling at a price that will leave some margin over the cost of output.

Few producers, it is said, can sell copper for less than 9 cents a pound and have anything left for their stockholders. During 1932 all of the larger companies had a deficit.

The industry's outlook has changed markedly during the past few months as business recovery brought an increased demand to a point where consumption finally got ahead of production. Prices have risen from 5 to 9 cents a pound in the space of a few months. Beer's return brought more business and launching of a public works program has increased producers' hopes.

Canadian Exports Increase in 1933

Ottawa, Aug. 10 (AP).—An increase of nearly $17,000,000 in Canadian exports to the United Kingdom for the first six months of the current calendar year was noted in the monthly summary of Canadian trade issued yesterday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. A decrease of imports of British goods of approximately $8,500,000 was reported.

Canadian exports to the United States declined from $94,000,000 to $68,000,000. Imports from $146,000,000 to $95,000,000. For the 12 months ended June 30, 1933, Canadian exports to Great Britain were valued at $196,000,000, compared with $165,000,000 a year ago. There was a sharp drop in exports to the United States—from $223,000,000 to $143,000,000.

Imports from Great Britain dropped from $97,000,000 to $86,000,000, and from the United States from $307,000,000 to $212,000,000 in the 12-month period.

Court Refuses Fire Insurance Company Plea

Globe & Rutgers Is Held Under Rehabilitation to Protect Policies.

New York, Aug. 10 (AP).—Declaring it "is almost on the borderline between solvency and insolvency," Supreme Court Justice Alfred Frankenthaler refused today to terminate the rehabilitation of the Globe & Rutgers Fire Insurance Co.

In denying the petition of the officials of the company—who sought resumption of business without the jurisdiction of George S. Van Schaick, State superintendent of insurance—Justice Frankenthaler held that to terminate the rehabilitation program "would be hazardous to its policyholders, its creditors and the public."

Globe & Rutgers has been in the insurance department's control since March 24.

Business Resumption Asked.

Last July 7, the officials asked permission to resume business because the market value of its securities had increased from approximately $20,000,000 to more than $31,000,000.

The court, in its opinion, pointed out that Van Schaick admitted that the net worth of the company was over $6,000,000 early in July, but that recent fluctuations have reduced this figure to $3,785,000.

"It must be evident from the foregoing," Justice Frankenthaler said, "that the company's financial condition is far from good. The company is almost on the border line between solvency and insolvency, and its surplus, if not already impaired, is dangerously close to impairment.

Stand of Court.

"The court can not be expected to sit beside a stock ticker for the purpose of checking the daily fluctuations in the value of the company's securities, terminating rehabilitation whenever the quotations wipe out capital impairment, however slightly, and restoring the superintendent to control whenever they have the opposite effect."

In commenting upon the securities held by Globe & Rutgers, Justice Frankenthaler said the market value of its assets had fluctuated as much as $1,500,000 in a single day.

"It must be obvious," he added, "that a portfolio which is subject to such violent fluctuations in market value fails to offer the creditors and policyholders any reasonable assurance that their claims will be paid as they are adjusted and become payable."

South Holding Building Drive Despite Drop

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 10 (AP).—Contracts awarded for building, engineering and construction projects in the sixteen Southern States during July amounted to $23,158,000, the Manufacturers' Record announced today.

The July figures compare with a total for the five weeks in the preceding month of $29,144,000, but the record said the July figures indicate sustained activity in the South, despite a falling off in awards for public buildings due to delays in starting new projects under the Federal public works program.

Dwelling construction accounted for $1,932,000 of the awards, as compared with $2,067,000 in June, and $1,283,000 in May. For the first time in many months speculative building increased, indicating a growing demand for new homes.

Construction of new breweries and improvements continued in July. Important breweries under way or projected include Fort Worth, Tex., $1,000,000; Tulsa, Okla., $500,000; Baltimore, Md., $400,000; St. Louis, Mo., $200,000; Oklahoma City, Okla., $700,000; Charlotte, N. C., $500,000, and Columbia, S. C., $200,000.

Nation's Grain Elevators Plan Recovery Code

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP).—Representatives of 25,000 country grain elevators from coast to coast met today to draw up a code of ethics under the agricultural adjustment act.

Expected to be approved before night was a tentative code providing for a 40-hour working week, minimum wage of 40 cents an hour, and regulations to remove unfair competition.

Leaders said the code might be changed, but that its essential provisions probably would be unaltered in the draft sent to Washington for approval.

Practices Under Fire.

Among the practices proposed to be abolished were over or under grading and docking of grain by elevators, making of gifts to patrons, purchase of grain at a price representing a loss and storage of grain free of charge for more than 15 days.

Regarding working hours, the code provided that overtime might be worked during the harvest, seeding, or other seasonal periods. Employment of persons under 16 years of age was barred.

"We have gotten together with the fullest spirit of cooperation, and we are certain of reaching agreement on the more important phases," said George E. Booth, of Chicago, president of the National Federation of Country Grain Elevator Associations. The federation was formed two weeks ago to provide an organization under which the code could be drafted. It is composed of 40 associations of country grain elevators.

Meeting With Booth.

Meeting with Booth were the heads of most of the associations, and the directors of the federation—C. E. Huff, of Kansas, president of the Farmers National Grain Corporation; R. B. Bowden, of Minneapolis, executive secretary of the Northwest Country Elevator Association; Lawrence Farlow, of Bloomington, Ill., secretary of the Farmers Grain Dealers of Illinois; E. A. Boyd, of Spokane, Wash., president of the Pacific Northwest Grain Dealers Association, and Harry L. Robinson, of Salina, Kans., secretary of the Associated Southwest Elevators.

Among the other organizations represented was the Western Grain and Feed Dealers Association, represented by D. O. Milligan, secretary, of Des Moines. Milligan said he was confident a code acceptable to all would be drafted.

Also meeting to draw up a code today was the Grain and Feed Manufacturers Association, which was presided over by Charles Quinn, secretary. The manufacturers code was expected to follow along the same lines as the grain and feed dealers.

Berlin Still Holds Balance of Trade

Berlin, Aug. 10 (AP).—Germany's foreign trade balance remained active in the first six months of 1933, although it was reduced to 291,000,000 marks ($93,877,000 at today's quotation), compared with 602,000,000 marks ($194,205,000) in the first six months of 1932.

More than half of the reduction in the export surplus was accounted for by smaller trade with Russia. Overseas trade taken separately showed, as usual, surpluses in imports, which, however, were 70,000,000 marks ($22,562,000) lower, chiefly due to the shrinkage in trade with the United States.

New 10-Acre Factory Plans to Make Bromine

The new firm will be known as the Ethyl Dow Chemical Co., and it was understood here that the plant will cost in excess of $1,000,000.

Roosevelt's Last Period Under Way.

Camp Roosevelt's last period for 1933 started off Monday with a strong attendance from Washington, Virginia and Maryland troops, and a program filled with special events.

A considerable number of additional Scouts will leave for Roosevelt Sunday to take in the last week of the camp and especially to participate in the Scout banquet on Wednesday night.

The Camp Roosevelt 1933 season has been one of the most successful held since the beginning of the camp 15 years ago. The enrollment this year surpasses the 1932 enrollment considerably and Scout leaders are already looking forward and planning for next year.

Farmers' Picnic Camp Event.

Friends of Camp Roosevelt gathered in large numbers Wednesday afternoon to take part in the Calvert County farmers' picnic, held each year at Camp Roosevelt. Coming from far and near they brought with them large quantities of fried chicken, potato salad, homemade cake and all sorts of other good things to eat.

The Scouts in the camp put on an evening show, which camp leaders believe was even better than the demonstrations in previous years. One of the novel additions was the presence of the snappy band of the National Training School for Boys.

Sea Scout Cruise Plans.

Washington Sea Scouts are looking forward to cruising on the Potomac and Chesapeake in Capt. Jack Bryant's Edith Marcy in the near future.

A week-end cruise will be held on August 19 and 20 and a 10-day cruise will be conducted from August 23 to September 1. Leaders of the Sea Scout Division also plan if these cruises are popular enough, to have additional cruises. A Labor Day cruise will be held, as well as a cruise early in September.

The cost of the cruise on the Edith Marcy will be $1 a day and registrations are now being accepted at Scout Headquarters, 1103 Vermont avenue. A deposit of $1 is suggested to reserve a place. Commander Jonas H. Ingram is the chairman of the Sea Scout Division of the District of Columbia Council, Boy Scouts of America, and Robert Myers is Sea Scout director.

Joins NRA Consumers Group.

At a meeting held on August 5, the entire membership of the Boy Scout Troop 205, conducted by the Cabin John Park Citizens' Association, signed an agreement to be consumers of the NRA goods. Troop 205 have planned an overnight hike alopg the Appalachian Trail, starting at Skyland on Saturday, August 12. The troop will be accompanied by Scoutmaster Paul T. Hannen and several members of the troop committee.

Scouts to Open Juvenile Program.

Boy Scouts of the District of Columbia will open the program at the Slyvan Theater on August 16. This juvenile program will be participated in by eight children's organizations in Washington. The scout program, directed by E. L. Mattice, and put on by a patrol of eight boys from Troop 79, led by Douglas Wallop, will consist of a camping scene.

The scene shows a patrol on a hike. A halt is made for the night, tents are pitched and the campfire is ligated by the fire-from-Heaven method. The leader will then tell a short story, "taps" will blow, and the scouts go to bed. After reville the scouts break camp and leave the scene.

30 Advancements in Troop 79.

A recent survey by the assistant scoutmaster, J. E. Deitch, shows that Troop 79, Albright Memorial Church, has made nearly 30 advancements in rank since last November. More are expected by the end of the year.

Handicraft work is being begun in the troop to beautify the troop room. Totem pole work is started and other handicraft projects are being put in motion by the patrols.

A picked patrol of eight scouts will put on the opening act at the juvenile night program at the Sylvan Theater. The group is led by Doug Wallop, and will consist of a picked group of scouts who will be announced tonight.

In connection with this program, a hike is being planned tomorrow and Sunday. While on the hike material of the program will be collected. Many tests are expected to be passed also.

Scouts Collect Fruit Jars.

Scouts from several Washington troops are busy collecting fruit jars these days, one of their "good turn" projects, assisting the Community Center Department and the Council of Social Agencies in gathering jars so that people can conserve their produce for winter use.

Four canning centers are now open, operating from 9 to 4:30 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at the Gordon Junior High School, Elliot Junior High School, Deanwood School, and the Bell School.

Having Great Time in Europe.

"We're having the time of our lives," is the message received here by the friends of the Washington delegation at the International Scout Jamboree, in Hungary. The delegation includes Mason Gray, Henry Surface, Thornton Burnet, William Leith, and Mr. Yule Fisher, the leader of the party.

The jamboree is being held at Godollo, just one hour's train ride from the center of Budapest, and on the site occupied by the estate of the Royal Summer Palace. Scouts of many lands will be present for the two-week period in camp, from August 1 to 15. This time will be spent in getting acquainted with Scouts and scouting of other nations, sightseeing, and having one grand time. There are no idle moments at a jamboree. Each nation sends some of its best Scouts as representatives, making a fine exhibition of camping and scoutcraft.

Both before and after the jamboree the Washington group will travel, filling every hour with something new.

Big Day at Airport Pool.

A large number of Scouts from Washington and nearby Maryland and Virginia gathered at the Airport Pool Wednesday for a forenoon of watercraft fun. This event was one of many which provided opportunity for swimming fun for Scouts this summer.

Another swimming event will be held on August 23—Scout Day, at the McKinley Tech Pool. All Scouts will be admitted upon presentation of their membership cards.

Another phase of the year-round program of helping Scouts to become more proficient in the water is the Wednesday afternoon life saving class at the Y. M. C. A., held weekly at 5 p. m.

A new feature of the Wednesday program, in which the Y. M. C. A. is host, is a cub swim, held at 4 p. m., under the direction of Maj. James S. Hawley, the new commissioner of cubbing.

Every Friday.

What is new in your troop? Lots of things, of course, but why keep them secret? Write up the news of your troop and mail it at once to Merit B. Scout, Boy Scout Headquarters, 1103 Vermont avenue. We'd like the news of all the troops to appear in The Post every Friday morning.

Death of Candidate For Divorce Suspicious

Reno, Nev., Aug. 10 (AP).—Horace E. Wadsworth, of New York City, wealthy University of California graduate, here for divorce, died in a hospital today under circumstances which led authorities to investigate.

Physicians said death was due to an overdose of a sleeping potion, but whether it had been taken with suicidal intent could not be learned immediately. Wadsworth was stricken at a ranch near Reno, and died soon after arrival at the hospital.

Chain Bridge Design Sought Of Commission

Board of Trade to Aid in Securing Funds for Structure.

Looking forward to the construction of a new span to replace the present Chain Bridge, the Washington Board of Trade has asked the Fine Arts Commission to study the problem of a design for the new structure, H. P. Caemmerer, secretary to the commission, said yesterday.

One of the problems the commission must solve is the height of the new bridge. A high-level bridge would require Virginia to buy the land for a new approach. Other suggestions are a low-level bridge similar to the present one, and a double-deck bridge carrying traffic on both high and low levels.

Traffic on the Chain Bridge has more than quadrupled in the last five years.

One of the immediate needs for a new bridge is due to the Arlington County water supply demands. The county's present water mains are carried on the bridge, but the supply is insufficient. The present bridge cannot carry the needed larger mains.

The request for a design will be submitted to the Arts Commission at its next meeting.

Bandits Rob Countess Of $3,500 in Jewelry

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP).—Sarah Victoria Mausby, known privately as Countess Cavicchia, was robbed of $3,500 in jewelry today by bandits who forced her automobile to the curb as she drove to her North Shore home.

The robbers took the keys to her automobile and were about to depart when Miss Mausby pleaded that the car was stalled and they had taken all her money. The bandits courteously backed up, pushed her car until the motor started, then left.

Nats Rally to Down Red Sox, 5-3, and Gain in Race Over Idle Yanks

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.

IT seems that J. Francis Cronin is creating quite a hubbub up here in the Hub, where his Washington ball club is at present engaged in serious designs on the American League pennant. Boston is pulling for Cronin with a fervor that is second only to Washington's. And there's a reason.

Joseph Francis, as Irish as Paddy's well-known pig, fits very nicely into the sporting element of Boston, which is comprised chiefly of a large chunk of transplanted Erin. Cronin, as another son of the Emerald Isle, and making good, has the Boston Irish at his feet—several hundred thousand of 'em.

Boston is just one large round of dinners, speeches, civic engagements and toasts for the Nats' young manager, who is being feted to a fare-thee-well by friends and acquaintances here. He's the toast of South Boston, the chief stronghold of the Irish.

Sox Nearly Landed Cronin.

But little do the Boston fans, who are marveling at the inspiring leadership and play of the young San Francisco Irishman, realize how close Cronin came to being the property of the Red Sox back in 1928 when there was extravagant dealing between the Washington and Boston clubs.

That was the year in which Clark Griffith brought Buddy Myer back to the Nats from the Red Sox in the famous five-for-one deal that sent a quintet to Boston in exchange for the little second baseman that Bucky Harris had traded to the Sox the year before.

Griffith sent two pitchers, Milton Gaston and Horace Lisenbee; two infielders, Bobby Reeves and Grant Gillis, and an outfielder, Elliott Bigelow, to the Red Sox in return for Myer. Of this sextet, only Myer and Gaston, now with the White Sox, were able to hang on in the majors.

Johnson Blocked Deal.

Boston wanted Joe Cronin in that deal for Myer. Cronin had recently been bought by the Griffith team from Kansas City, and was engaged with Bobby Reeves in a battle for the shortstop position at Washington. Griffith wanted Myer badly. Cronin had shown no signs of being a star.

Griffith had appointed Walter Johnson manager of the Nats during the winter, and it was Johnson who saved Cronin for Washington. When Griffith discussed with Johnson the prospect of sending Cronin along to the Red Sox, the "big train" put his foot down firmly. It seems that he was the first to recognize in Cronin the star that Cronin was to become.

So Boston can blame the keen perception of Walter Johnson for the fact that the greatest shortstop in the majors didn't join the lowly Red Sox five years ago.

Runs, Hits and Errors.

Joe Judge decorated that first base at Fenway Park like it hasn't been decorated since Stuffy McInnis used to hold down the job . . . Dave Harris set some kind of a record for himself when he walked after missing two strikes . . . It was significant that the Nats didn't do any bunting in Judge's direction . . . Marty McManus has shuffled the Red Sox line-up . . . Playing third himself and putting Walters at second in place of Hodapp, who isn't hitting . . . and when Hodapp isn't hitting Hodapp is not much help to a club . . . Joe Cronin was there to see that the Red Sox didn't wipe out the Nats' two-run lead in the eighth . . . He threw out Werber after a swell stop . . . and then dove over toward second base to rob Walters of a sure hit with another swell stop and throw . . . Crowder got his seventeenth win today, although he was out of the line-up when the Nats won the game in the eighth. . . . Wally Stewart hurls for the Nats tomorrow . . . McManus has his choice between Weiland and Kline . . . Kline shut out the Nats with four hits here last visit.

PRIMO CARNERA, who battles Paulino Uzcudun in Rome on October 8.

Primo Fights Uzcudun on October 8

Champion Will Defend Title for First Time in Native Italy.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP).—Primo Carnera will defend his heavyweight championship for the first time against Paulino Uzcudun in Rome, in his native Italy, October 8, Louis P. Soresi, manager of the titleholder, who knocked out Jack Sharkey a few weeks ago, announced tonight.

He would prefer to match Carnera against the winner of a bout between Uzcudin, champion of Europe, and Dan McCorkindale, of England, Soresi said, but will accept Uzcudun without qualification on the October date if the elimination match can not be arranged.

Held Too Far Away.

Soresi denied that Carnera had agreed to fight Victorio Campolo, whom he once knocked out briefly in Buenos Aires.

"It is too far away," he said.

Carnera also has agreed to work in a motion picture with Max Baer, outstanding contender for his title, in California before leaving for Italy. He will leave on a brief exhibition tour tomorrow.

Madrid, Spain, Aug. 10 (AP).—Paulino Uzcudun, Basque heavyweight, announced tonight that he had signed a contract to meet Primo Carnera, heavyweight champion, in Rome October 8.

Although no definite plans have been announced, Carnera's management has been planning a heavyweight title defense in Europe since the giant Italian won the championship from Jack Sharkey in New York this summer. Max Schmeling, who was knocked out in June by Max Baer, has frequently been mentioned for a match in Rome.

Chisox Pound Ball To Defeat Tigers

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP).—Hitting in every inning and scoring in half of them, the White Sox got to Carl Fischer and Elden Auker for 13 safeties and a 6-to-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the opening game of the series today.

Sam Jones went the route for the Chicagoans after being found for 8 hits in the first six frames.

Feature Golf Match to Farrell

Sarazen Is 4 and 3 Victor Over Hooper; and Cruickshank Beaten.

BLUE MOUND CLUB, Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 10 (AP).—Recovering the prize approach shots that made history in his National Open play-off against Bobby Jones back in 1928, Johnny Farrell, of New York, knocked Olin Dutra off his professional golf championship throne today.

Farrell repulsed a stubborn comeback by the big champion, from Los Angeles, calmly negotiated a partial stymie on the final green, and marched into the quarter-finals of the title fight with a 1-up victory.

Many Shatter Par.

Joining the former National Open title holder in the quarter-finals, as contender after contender shattered par over the short Blue Mound Country Club lay-out, were Jimmy Hines, comedalist from the Timber Point Club, New York; Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y., the 1931 champion; Willie Goggin, star of the dark-horse contingent, from Salada Beach, Calif; Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., and Ed. Dudley, Wilmington, Del., American Ryder Cup stars; the veteran John Golden, Noroton, Conn., and dead serious Gene Sarazen, who turned back a serious challenge by "Light Horse" Harry Cooper to win easily, 4 and 3.

Five down after 28 holes, Dutra tossed all caution to the winds, slashed out prodigious tee shots and reckless approaches that found their mark to win four of the next five holes with a dazzling comeback, shaving Johnny's lead to one hole.

Stops Spirited Rally.

Johnny stopped the spirited rally on the thirty-fourth green by sinking a 5-foot putt for a birdie 2, only to have the champion win the next to retain a fighting chance.

The finishing hole, surrounded by a gallery of several thousand excited spectators, was a dramatic climax for golf. Recovering beautifully from the rough, Dutra arched his second shot 15 feet from the pin, inside of Farrell's. Farrell putted safely to within five feet of the cup and Dutra, giving his putter a kiss to add a touch of comedy to the final act, putted.

His ball rimmed the cup twice and landed in front of Farrel's ball. It would have been a dead stymie except for a slight undulation on the putting surface, and Johnny dropped his final putt to win.

Gene Applies Pressure.

Cooper gave Sarazen a battle for 13 holes, after which Gene applied the pressure. He shot three birdies and two pars on the finishing holes of the morning round and went to lunch with a 4-up advantage that he protected all the rest of the way. He meets Dudley tomorrow in the feature match of the lower and harder bracket.

The Results, Upper Bracket.

Johnny Farrell, Great River, Long Island, defeated Olin Dutra, Brentwood Heights, Calif., 1 up.

Upsetting the Beans on The Post's Scoreboard —By Chick Kenny

Welsh Beaten By Bayon in Parks Play

Defeated 8-6, 6-0, 8-6; D. C. Women's Doubles Team Advances.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—Barnard Welsh, Washington's last representative in the men's singles division, was eliminated from the National Public Parks Tennis championships, falling a straight-set victim to the smooth-driving Maurice Bayon, New Orleans titlist, in the quarter-final round here today.

The Washington ace, seeded No. 5, found the Southern netman's steadiness, coupled with his fine net game, an insurmountable obstacle, and went down to defeat, but not without furnishing the Crescent City champ with far keener opposition than the 8—6, 6—0, 8—6 scores indicate. Though Bayon is seeded No. 4, he is regarded by many as the real "dark horse" of the tournament.

Bayon Stages Rally.

Welsh was within 2 points of capturing the first set, leading, 5—3, 30—15, but Bayon, former national intercollegiate doubles champion with Cliff Sutter, tightened up and evened the count at 5-all. The Duke University netman captured the next game, but Bayon staged a sharp rally to win the next three games to take the first set.

Welsh's net sorties in the second set provided disastrous events, as the 6—0 score indicates. Time and again he was maneuvered out of position by the canny play of the Southern ace, and watched helplessly as the ball passed him traveling at whizzing speed to the opposite side of the court.

Improvement in Play.

The third set saw Welsh resume his baseline game, with a consequent marked improvement in his playing. He evened the count at 4-all and then each captured a game until the score stood at 6-all. At this juncture Bayon brought a dazzling variety of powerful shots to bear on the Washington netman and captured the third and deciding set by the same score he won the first.

The Washington women's doubles team of Mrs. George P. Stone and Miss Frances Walker, seeded No. 3, defeated Miss Rose Segel and Miss Florence Fox, Newark, N. J., champions, without extending themselves, 6—1, 6—2. The Washington women, as a result of their victory, advanced into the semi-final round, and will meet the seeded No. 2 pair of Miss Edna Smith and Marion Craig, of Cleveland, tomorrow.

Roy Parmelee Gives 2 Hits; Giants Win

Downs Phillies by 4 to 0; First Bingle for Foe Is Made in Eighth.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP).—Roy Parmelee, the big freshman right-hander of the Giants, came within two innings and two hits of pitching a no-hit game today as he hurled the league leaders to a 4 to 0 victory over the Phillies.

Parmelee yielded only two hits, one by Wes Schulmerich in the eighth and one by Chuck Klein in the ninth, and faced only 32 batsmen, as he found the low, gray sky just the thing to help his fast ball along and his "slider" and change of pace worked to perfection.

It was his tenth victory of the year, his third shutout and the eighteenth blanking the Giants' mound staff has administered to the opposition. The triumph increased New York's lead to 3½ games over the Pittsburgh Pirates, whose game with Chicago was rained out.

Fighter, Ex-Fighter Forego Court Battle

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 10 (AP).—The scheduled court fight between Tootsie Bashara, prize fighter, and George Rohanna, former fighter, never got started today.

Bashara had had Rohanna arrested on a charge of assaulting him during an argument at the Virginia Athletic Club yesterday. Rohanna gave bond for his appearance in police court today for trial, but there was no trial. Bashara came into court and asked permission to withdraw the warrant and this was done.

Al Crowder Wins 17th Of Year

3 Washington Runs in Eighth Erase Deficit; Kuhel Bat Star.

FENWAY PARK, Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—The number twelves of Joe Kuhel, which give him a tremendous understanding, covered a lot of ground in Fenway Park this afternoon, and covered it rapidly, and by that token the Nats unraveled a ball game from the clutches of the Red Sox.

The score was 5 to 3, and all those five runs were made possible by the footwork of the flying Dutchman, who was a demon on the base paths this afternoon after four straight hits off his bat, two doubles and two singles, gave him license to run.

While Kuhel was running away with the ball game here, the Nats were extending their league lead to 3½ games with the assistance of that star of the celestial mound staff, Jupiter Pluvius, who registered a no-hit, no-run, no-game performance up in the Bronx, where his moist delivery stopped both the Yankees and the Athletics.

Collision Causes Nat Deficit.

The Nats were confronted with a three-run deficit in the fourth inning when Goose Goslin and Buddy Myer collaborated in a collision in short right field, where Marty McManus' fly ball fell for three bases to give the Sox their 3-to-0 advantage. The play robbed General Crowder of every possible shut-out possibility.

Then the Nats started to get those runs back against Gordon Rhodes, the lad whom Monte Weaver beat by a 3-to-2 score in Washington last Saturday, when the Nats bunted the ball game out from under Rhodes.

They picked up a run in the fifth and another in the sixth, with the second and third hits of Kuhel the pivotal blows in each inning, but they were still one run in arrears going into the eighth and the 8,000 in the stands were visioning a 3-to-2 revenge for Rhodes.

But it was not to be. The pesky Kuhel led off of the eighth with his fourth straight hit, a whistling single into right. Mindful of the bunts that beat Rhodes in Washington, Cronin ordered his men to bunt some more.

Kuhel Arrives Safely.

Ossie Bluege tapped a ball in front of the plate and Ferrell quickly grabbed it up and lined it to Werber at second, but the speeding Kuhel arrived there first by an eyelash in a headlong slide and there were two on and none out.

Luke Sewell was ordered to sacrifice and again a bunt was laid down between the plate and the box. It was none too good. Rhodes pounced on the ball, wheeled and heaved it to McManus at third. The throw was perfect but late. The flying Kuhel was already at the base with another devastating slide that all but blasted McManus out of the park.

Thus with the bases full and still none out and the Nats a run behind, Cronin sent Harris in to hit for Crowder and the discouraged Rhodes was not equal to the task. He pitched two strikes to Harris and then flung four balls across the plate and Kuhel sauntered home with the tying run.

Fifth Straight Victory for Juvenile

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP).—A 2-year-old daughter of Ladkin, Lady Higloss, established herself as one of the season's most consistent juveniles today by conquering a good field in the Adelphia Purse for her fifth straight victory in the West.

Racing in the colors of Col. Maxwell Howard, of Dayton, Ohio, and ridden by Jack Westrope, Lady Higloss led from flag fall to finish, beating Penncote by a length eased up. Her time for the 5½ furlongs was 1:07 4-5. Coflier finished third.

Noelwood Wins Handily.

Coney Island, Ohio, Aug. 10 (AP).—Plunket & Chinn's Noelwood found a track to his liking here today and raced through the mud to a handy victory in the Pleasant View Purse, the programmed feature. Following in Noelwood's wake were C. V. Whitney's Habanero and Mrs. H. Butts' Pillnita.

Five of the better grade selling platers accepted the issue in the mile and a sixteenth contest with Easy and Habanero attracting principal support in the mutuels. Habanero showed a decided liking for the heavy footing and raced into an early lead. Noelwood and Pillnita raced close up.

Turning for home, Noelwood raced to the leader and passing him came on to win with something in reserve. Habanero, although tiring, held on determinedly to hold the place safe from Pillnita. The winner paid $9.40 for $2.

Slapdash Is Impressive.

Saratoga Race Track, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP).—Slapdash, the stout-hearted filly which began her career so auspiciously, at Miami, last winter, showed that she must be regarded as a real threat for 2-year-old honors when she carried the Wheatley Stable silks to an impressive victory in the sixteenth running of the Schuylerville here today. Well-handled by Hank Mills, the Stimulus miss scored by a length, running the five and a half furlongs in 1:06. The Greentree filly, Rhythmic, was second by the same margin over Glen Riddle's Proud Girl, with Blue for Boys best of the other fillies.

Slapdash was a 16 to 5 choice.

Mills was largely responsible for Slapdash's triumph. Instead of sending his charge after the lead, as did the boys on Proud Girl and Blue for Boys, he reserved the ultimate winner off the pace until the proper time.

Strange as It Seems —By John Hix

THE old-style dollar bill, now rare enough to be noticed wherever it is passed, has been out of circulation for several years except as it occasionally comes out of its hiding place in sugar-bowl banks, mattress caches and forgotten vest pockets—so it was only natural that Hank Mann, well-known movie player of a few years back and now well known as a Hollywood cafe man, took special note of the incident when an old dollar bill was paid to him by a customer last year.

Inspecting the bill, Mr. Mann noticed to his amazement that his own name was written on it, together with a date—August 19, 1918. Then he recalled an incident that occurred in New York 15 years ago; he had written his name and the date on the bill the day he spent it. He had forgotten all about it until the same bill turned up in his Hollywood cafe.

The bill is now in the Strange As It Seems studio, and although Mr. Mann does not know it, he is going to get the same bill back once more—again in payment of a dinner check.

The Tasmanian wolf, which is not a wolf, looks like a wild dog, is striped like a zebra and carries its young in a pounch like a kangaroo. The "wolf," a native of Tasmania, hides by day and raids poultry pens and sheepfolds by night. The pouch, strange as it seems, is unlike that of other marsupials—it opens backward.

Dear Al: Hawthorne, Aug. 10.

Lady Higloss (don't mention the price) was the only winner for the great Bennings today. As I've said before, I can pick them but I can't ride them. It's just possible that a number of those that figure just won't run without their tea. And with Uncle Sam on the job, all the tea's in China as far as the horsemen are concerned. All of which is just a fair alibi. Tomorrow is another day, so I'm told, and I shall be right at the old stand battling. If you must play something, give these a chance.

BILL.

First race—Although my left hand tells me to beware of short-priced horses in cheap races, my right hand says they can't beat Ima Count. This one has the edge on the field and any mutuel will be a good one. Legal Gamble is one that may cause trouble. Skimalong for a money appearance.

Second race—I'm taking Prometheus here. This one should have won every time he started at Rockingham, I'm told. Prefers an off track and may get it. La Salle, scratched today, to beat out Brown Wisdom for the place award.

Third race—Going to stick to Martie Flynn despite that failure yesterday. Old Martie didn't have any the best of the racing luck. May get a break tomorrow and sail for home. Sarazen II for the place. Espinaca could make it tough for this gang in the mud.

Fourth race—Amscray looks like a good wager in this sprint. Gay Follies showed fair form the other day and may make a battle of it. Ytfin, one that I've tried to put over, seems the logical show horse.

Fifth race—Teralice will appreciate the conditions here. That effort the last time was better than the chart shows. Silent Shot is the one to fear. Likes a soft track, but can run on either kind. Spartan Lady for the show.

Sixth race—We might take a chance on Bichloride. This fellow is a sleeper that I understand has been working briskly. Pete and Through Omond for the other money positions.

Seventh—Tarnish gets in this one light and should take a purse. Lehar's recent form as been excellent. Sad Knight is the one that may prove a big surprise.

Hook, Line and Sinker

By Jean Monk.

ABOUT the first of August, 1929, Mrs. Monk and I were fishing off Point No Point, southern Maryland, with Capt. Brady McKay. We had cruised around in the vicinity of the lighthouse in about 35 feet of water, and filled a half-bushel basket with pan-size hardhead.

I stood up, relaxed, and looked out across apparently endless waters toward the Eastern Shore. An ocean steamer was plowing its way slowly through the channel 3 or 4 miles east of us.

"What's out there, Capt. Brady?" I asked. "Water," he replied. . . . "Any fish?" . . . "Dunno." . . . "Ever tried it?" . . . "Nope."

I asked if he would mind running out. It was a beautiful, warm day, not a cloud in sight. He didn't mind (they never do, those captains), so we did—about 7 or 8 miles from the shore, in sight of Billy Island, Adam Island and Holland Island.

No Nibble for 15 Minutes.

We anchored in about 70 feet of water. We sat and waited. The surface of the bay soon "slicked out." An occasional bluefish (snapper) could be seen breaking water near us. For 15 minutes we sat and —not a nibble. Brady laid down his line and lit a cigarette. It did look like a waste of time.

My wife broke the silence. I had been expecting it. "Yes," she said, irony in her voice, "there's water out here." Then she screamed as feminine fishermen have a way of doing when they hang a real fish. Brady ran to her rescue. They both pulled it into the boat—a monster hardhead, easily 3 or 4 pounds in weight.

"Yes," said I, "there's water out here," irony, this time, in my voice. An hour or two later we returned to St. Jeromes Creek, the proud captors of 33 supersize croakers and a few trout.

That evening at Hooper's store, Capt. McKay told the story to the other boat captains, who were busy, as usual, exchanging fish tales. They said there was no 70-foot hole; that the bay was only 55 feet deep in the channel. . . . They finally located a chart and—sure enough, the water, they found, was not only 70 but 120 feet deep just beyond where we had made our catch.

Sharks Are There, Too.

Since that day, tons and tons of those big hardhead, hundreds of 3-pound sharks and—after August 15 every year—many hundreds of trout, 3 to 6 pounds, have been taken by hook-and-line fishermen from what the captains still term the "Deep Hole," 7 or 8 miles off Point No Point.

George T. Harrison, secretary, Tilghman Fishermen's Guide Association, in a letter addressed to this column August 2, states that bluefish are being caught trolling in the waters out from Tilghman Island, and that many large croakers are landed every day in the early evening and at night.

We have had few reports from the upper part of the bay. The following, therefore, sent in by A. R. Morton, 13 Schley avenue, Hyattsville, Md., for Shelby-on-the-Bay and vicinity, is welcome news:

"Five others and myself, fishing off Thompson's Light early Sunday morning (2:30 a. m.), landed pan-size hardheads until daybreak; moved a short distance, picked up several trout; made another short move, more trout. I annexed two blues, still fishing, weighing 3½ pounds each, one on shrimp, the other on spot. Stopped at 9 a. m.; ten trout, two blues, and twenty pan-size hardheads.

"So far as we can learn, these are the first blues caught still fishing this season at this end of the bay, and the size is rather remarkable as the first run are generally small."

Tip for trout fishermen: Reedville, Va., reached via Morgantown ferry or Prince Frederick; 150 miles from Washington, over perfect roads, down the Potomac River. Fishing fields near Tangier Island and in Tangier Sound, 10 miles out. Good boats and accomodations.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BENEVOLENCE, $31.16, $9.46, $6.16; PLAYFUL MARTHA, $3.50, $2.84; SICLETTE, $3.26.

BENEVOLENCE, clear of early crowding and racing on the inside in the final quarter, wore down PLAYFUL MARTHA after a hard drive. PLAYFUL MARTHA swerved out slightly after reaching the stretch and faltered when straight again. SICLETTE, probably the best, was taken extremely wide at the final turn and raced in the middle of the track all through the stretch. CANDESCENT, very fractious at the gate, displayed good early foot on the outside, but stopped badly when put to a drive. TEST OUT closed good ground. MRS BROWN was always outrun. JIGAPOO was left at the post.

SECOND RACE—Six and one-half furlongs (chute). Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:42. Off at 2:42½. Winner, C. Januska's br. c. (4), by Harpenden—Blue Grass Belle. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48, 1:13 4-5, 1:21.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TOWEE, $5.00, $3.82, $3.58; SCOTLAND BEAUTY, $2.28, $12.48; ALLENS, $6.58.

TOWEE broke fast, was taken back and was reserved to the stretch where, assuming command, held the challenge of SCOTLAND BEAUTY safe under mild urging. SCOTLAND BEAUTY, always well up, but racing a trifle wide in final 3 furlongs, came again when straightened and finished gamely. ALLENS took a brief lead at the final turn when the leaders went out only to weaken when headed again. BUGS LEARY was under hard pressure on the inside and began tiring after reaching stretch. SYDKA weakened after reaching contention. PORTMANTEAU closed strongly. LAWYER quit.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For maiden 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:07. Off at 3:13½. Winner, Fred M. Grabner's b. or br. g. (3), by St. Henry—Ethnea. Trained by J. Lowenstein. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48 4-5, 1:15 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SINGLE STRIPE, $7.58, $3.52, $2.88; HER ELEGANCE, $3.12, $2.54; JACK KNIFE, $3.40.

SINGLE STRIPE, forward from start and racing in close quarters, assumed the lead and, responding well, withstood the challenge of HER ELEGANCE. The latter worked way up fast after turning for home, continued gamely in the drive, but was not quite good enough. JACK KNIFE was knocked back soon after the start, recovered quickly and saving ground, outgamed DOCTOR KLEIN. The latter prominent the entire trip, only began tiring in the final sixteenth. LEO M. made up much ground from a slow beginning. WAIT NOT was blocked when racing strongly approaching the final turn. KEATON quit badly after showing good early foot.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. The Adelphia. Purse, $800; allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won handily; place, easily. Went to post at 3:37. Off at 3:39½. Winner, Paramount Stable's ch. f. (2), by Ladkin—Hi Gloss. Trained by O. L. Foster. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:01, 1:07 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADY HIGLOSS, $2.84, $2.34, $2.20; PENNCOTE, $3.28, $2.52; COFLIER, $2.78.

LADY HIGLOSS was sent to the front after working way clear soon after the start and, increasing advantage, had speed in reserve. COFLIER loomed up dangerously at the final turn, continued gamely after a loss of ground, but was overmatched. SWIFTSPORT raced forwardly and closed a good gap in the stretch. FULL TILT dropped back soon after the start and was tiring in the drive. SILVA and CANTIE were always outrun.

FIFTH RACE (substitute)—Six and one-half furlongs (chute). Purse $700; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:03. Off at 4:07. Winner Wood F. Axton's br. or blk. m. (7), by Whisk Broom II—Centre Shot. Trained by Wayne Lewis. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:13, 1:20 2-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BROOMSHOT, $15.92, $7.94, $4.64; GALLOP ALONG, $10.72, $4.26; SUN TEATIME, $3.06.

BROOMSHOT wedged way through in the first quarter; raced OVER SHADY into defeat and saving ground thereafter, held GALLOP ALONG safe. The latter, always well up, gained steadily in the stretch, but weakened suddenly and just lasted to hold second position safe. SUN TEATIME was taken back when in tight quarters at the far turn, came to extreme outside when racing strongly again, and would have been second in another stride. TEXAS KNIGHT improved his position rapidly after reaching the stretch, but could not threaten the leaders. PHANTOM ROCK tired. FORT DEARBORN was always far back. VERY WELL could never reach a contending position.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, handily. Went to post at 4:31. Off at 4:32½. Winner Jay Hartman's b. g. (3), by The Satrap—Rock Ruby. Trained by J. V. Stewart. Value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 0:25, 0:49 3-5, 1:14 3-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:47 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ROCK POINT, $39.66, $16.44, $12.82; BELOW COST, $5.06, $4.40; NORTH SHADOW, $5.98.

ROCK POINT, steadied along while in tight quarters early, gained steadily when finding an opening on the inside, wore down the leaders in the final sixteenth. BELOW COST raced on even terms with NORTH SHADOW to the final furlong, where, taking a brief lead, just failed to hold winner safe. NORTH SHADOW saved ground while under slight pressure and faltered when swerving near the end. RESISTING came with a belated rush in the final furlong and would have been third in another stride. OLD JUDGE raced well in spots. ALLADIN'S DREAM had no excuses. BURNING FEET tired.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $700; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:58½. Off at once. Winner, T. C. Worden's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DARK SEE $10.04, $5.44, $3.50; BARNEY SEXTON, $4.00, $3.24; CAIUS, $4.74.

DARK SEA, under restraint early, gained steadily when called on in the stretch and wore down BARNEY SEXTON after a long, hard drive. BARNEY SEXTON saved all possible ground while holding the lead, held on gamely under punishment and just failed to last. CAIUS, racing improved and going forwardly from the start, outfinished COMET. The latter bettered position strongly after reaching the stretch and made up much ground.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, same. Went to post at 5:24. Off at 5:25½. Winner, F. S. Page's b. c. BRAINS disposed of JACOB'S LADDER when ready, drew into a long lead at the turn, and was never in serious trouble thereafter. ROWDY BOY, in trouble at the start, gained rapidly in the final three-sixteenths, but could not get to the winner. GARRICK gained rapidly approaching the final turn, continued gamely to the final sixteenth, then weakened suddenly. DUNES began tiring after reaching main stretch. REPLEVIN was in close quarters all through the back stretch. CLYDE VAN DUSEN also suffered from lack of racing room.

Irving Boxes Broide at Laurel

A COUPLE of one-punch artists who delight in stretching opponents stiff and cold on the canvas yesterday were nominated for the six-round semifinal spot on the Sarron-Burl card, scheduled Tuesday night at Twin City Arena. K. O. Broide and Henry Irving are the gladiators.

Broide, a comparative newcomer to professional ranks, has appeared before a local audience only once. That was about a month ago, but the fans will long remember the occasion, for he put Frankie Vance to sleep in less time than it takes to write about it. Vance lasted just 61 seconds.

Broide packs a real punch. He has had seven professional fights and all seven culminated with the opposing gent reposing on the canvas. But the question is can he take it? No opponent has stayed with him long enough to test his mettle, but Irving should be a bit different from the rest.

"Popeye" Packs Punch.

Another six and two fours will be added to the card before the week is out, completing the show.

While Charley Cornell is going ahead with plans for next week, word comes from Fort Washington that its second show will be postponed until later. Boxing at the fort is definitely assured for the remainder of the summer, but Lieut. W. F. Train, who is in charge of the shows, believes it would be biting off a little too much to buck the Sarron-Burl go at Twin City the following night. The Godwin-Knight scrap, to be staged the following week, also has Lieut. Train perplexed, but at all events, Fort Washington will go again on September 11.

Birkie Bout Delayed.

New York, Aug. 10 (U.P.).—An eight-round bout between Hans Birkie, German heavyweight, and Abe Feldman, of New York, scheduled for tonight at Fugazy Bowl, Coney Island, was postponed until Saturday because of rain.

Six Marks Fall, One Tied, as Georgetown Team Wins Playgrounds Swim Meet

Rosedale 20 Points Back Of Leader

Victors Score 64, With Municipal Pool Team Third in Running.

New Records Set in Four Classes; Rain Keeps Attendance Small.

WITH six records broken and one equaled, the annual Department of Playgrounds swimming championships for boys was a huge success yesterday, despite the rain that kept the number of spectators down to a few hundred. Georgetown Playground captured the meet by a margin of 20 points.

The victors scored 64 points to 44 accounted for by the second-place Rosedale tankmen. Municipal pools took third with 28 and Eckington trailed with 17. The competing teams were selected in elimination meets during the past ten days when boys from every section of the city were given the opportunity to vie for places on the various squads.

The first indication of a record day was in the 70-pound class 400-foot relay, in which the Rosedale quartet, composed of Arthur Vermillion, Billy Graves, Raymond Robertson and "Lefty" Cooksey equaled the record of the Georgetown team of a year ago.

Other Records Fall.

Following close on the heels of this performance was the record-smashing effort of the Georgetown Tehe team. The Rosedale relay swam the 400 feet in the equalizing time of 1 minute and 43 seconds and the Georgetown record breakers beat the mark of 0:49 2-5 by exactly 1 2-5 seconds.

Other records to fall were: 100 pound relay—new record set by E. Marshall, B. Cole, B. Carroll and Daniel O'Conner, of Rosedale, knocking down the mark set by their own club in 1932. The new figure is 1 minute 23 seconds, a second faster than that established last year. In the 115-pound free style, A. Farrell, of Eckington, lowered Tom Andrews (Rosendale) 1932 mark from 18 3-5 seconds to 16 4-5.

Buddy Dering, of Rosedale, took the unlimited free style race at a 16 1-5 second clip, taking 4-5 of a second off the credited time of 17 seconds established by Warren Taylor of Municipal last year.

Kenneth Moncure, of Rosedale, broke Eddie Hickey's 100 foot breast stroke mark of last year by 2 3-5 seconds when he negotiated the 100 feet in 21 seconds.

70-Pound Class.

Becroft); third, Municipal (Bernard Napoli, Charles True, Wilbur Hunt, Bernie Kaufmann). Time, 1 minute and 43 seconds. (Equals record made in 1932 by Georgetown.)

85-Pound Class.

Post Mortems . . .

Olin Dutra, defending P. G. A. golf champion, who was dethroned in the second round of yesterday's 1933 play, is converted to the truth of the old saw, "There is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip" . . . just before making his final putt, he kissed his putter . . . and then his ball lipped the cup . . . with the graduation of Len Gudd and Alec Kilkuskie, only one three-letter man remains at Temple U . . . he is Joe Lipshutz, a high jumper, netman and soccer star . . . Joe Kuhel, Nat first-sacker, made Boston fans think he was Charley Paddock on the bases yesterday . . . his form is not so hot, but he is just about twice as fast as he appears to be when he is stepping out . . . Carl Dann, Florida State amateur golf champion, after qualifying in Atlanta for a United States amateur berth, made an all-night trip to Asheville to play in the Biltmore event . . . he was beaten by a whisker by Alfred Dowtin, of the home club . . . Washington's Union Printers will be seeking their tenth National Typo title in Detroit today when they meet the home team in a play-off . . . they have copped in nine of the eleven national tournaments held.

Four Hason brothers (Dusek to you) are planning a rassling raid of the East . . . headed by Rough Rudy, who has been a headliner for years, and by Ernie, who also has made quite a name for himself, the quartet may be seen here ere long . . . Joe and Emil, the other two, have done some rassling, but never in a big-time circuit . . . major league baseball teams overlook few publicity bets . . . barring postponements and mishaps, Lou Gehrig will break the record of 1,307 for consecutive games played in St. Louis Tuesday . . . so the Browns have invited Everett Scott, holder of the mark, to see it smashed . . . maybe this will not bring out a large crowd . . . Joe Banovic, who lost his fight to Joe Knight at Twin City Tuesday, has a younger brother who is studying for the priesthood . . . quite a contrast, eh, what? . . . Clyde Van Dusen, sturdy little son of Man o' War who won the 1929 Kentucky Derby, was in a $1,500 claiming race at Hawthorne yesterday . . . he finished sixth at odds of approximately 6 to 1.

Newton Dies From Auto Race Spill on Coast

Los Angeles, Aug. 10 (AP).—Tommy Newton, San Diego auto racer, died today, the third victim of Ascot track crashes in two months.

His machine slid into the fence at the north turn in a 32-mile race last night, then bounced back, rolled over several times and stopped on the track. Newton never regained consciousness.

Crowder Cops 17th, Beating Red Sox

But he still had Goose Goslin to contend with and the Goose rushed matters a bit by lamming Weiland's first pitch to center for a clean single that scored Sewell and Harris with runs that won the ball game. Maybe this should have been mentioned before, but it was difficult to dismiss Kuhel in less than a dozen paragraphs this afternoon.

Handy man Jack Russell finished up the eighth and ninth for Crowder and turned the Sox back hitless. Thus Boston was held to one hit in the last five innings of the ball game.

Boston's fourth inning is sad to relate to Washington fans. With one out, Buddy Myer, the hero of the New York series, fumbled Cooke's easy grounder, and Ferrell walked. Joe Judge, giving his first exhibition in a Boston uniform in Boston, scored Cooke with a single past Bluege, and then McManus lofted a short fly to right that was virtually crying to be caught.

But both Goslin and Myer were ignorant of the presence of the other, and they came together and the ball came together with Goslin's glove. Then they all went their separate ways, Myer, Goslin and the ball, which dropped fair for a three-base hit that scored two runners.

The Nats started to get these runs back one at a time. Kuhel doubled in the fifth and Sewell scored him. Cronin walked in the sixth, and with two out, Kuhel singled him to third. Bluege scored his boss with a clean single over second.

Two innings later, Kuhel ran the Red Sox ragged.

Dundee Bout Postponed.

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 10 (U.P.).—Rain tonight caused postponement of the scheduled 10-round bout between Vince Dundee, Belville, N. J., middleweight, and Irish Danny Devlin, of Irontown, Pa., until tomorrow night.

Stantons Face St. Joseph's Sunday

A GREATLY improved St. Joseph's nine will battle the Stantons Sunday for the leadership of the second-half pennant race in the Capital City League. The game features an eight-game card which includes the second game between Goodacre's and Clarendon A. C. for the junior championship of the city.

Frank Cinotti has bolstered the Saints for the second half, adding new men to the roster, and in its revamped form the Plaza machine will give the best of them a real fight. The Stantons are favored over their rivals. Al Clark's men got off to a flying start last Sunday, trouncing the Millers, first-half champs, 14 to 3. The victory was ample revenge for that 1-to-0 defeat suffered in the deciding game of the first-half chase.

Other Games on Card.

Griffith-Blue Coals will square off with Congress Heights in another game that bears promise of developing into a real fight, while the Certified Barbers' tussle with the Millers will cofeature the program. The Federals have an old score to settle with the Woodley Athletic Club, and with a stronger team than they boasted in the first half they may get the verdict.

Goodacre's reigns a favorite over Clarendon as the teams prepare for their second game in the championship series. With Buck Trundle at the helm, the ham and eggs crew came from behind to nose out the Virginians, 5 to 3, in a thrilling encounter.

Midget teams renew their warfare with three good games listed. Corbett Athletic Club tangles with the winners of the first half, Washington Maid, in the feature of the class.

Mangin, Wood Win in Rye Matches

Gain Semifinals in Singles; Vines - Gledhill Team Also Victorious.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP).—Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Sidney B. Wood, jr., New York, led the way into the semifinal brackets in the men's singles of the Eastern grass court championships today, eliminating Jack Tidball, national intercollegiate titlist, and John Van Ryn, Davis Cup player, respectively.

Mangin, the Newark bulldog, seventh in the national ranking, went three sets in disposing of Tidball, 6—2, 4—6, 6—3, while Wood, ranked fourth, was back in his old form, as he has been all through the tourney, and eliminated Van Ryn, 6—3, 6—3, before the gallery of 1,500 at the Westchester Country Club.

Only Two Matches.

The women's double quarter-finals were completed, with the favorites advancing, although one seeded team was eliminated. Only two matches were played, the other two teams advancing yesterday. Joan Ridley, English ace, paired with Mrs. Brunie, of White Plains, N. Y., eliminated the fourth seeded pair, Baroness Levi and Mrs. John Van Ryn, 6—4, 6—3, and Josephine Cruickshank and Alice Marble, the Californians, disposed of Eugene Sampson and Theodosia Smith with little trouble, 6—0, 6—1.

Today also saw the completion of both the second and quarter-final rounds in the men's doubles.

Bell and Hall Beaten.

After Berkeley Bell, New York, and J. Gilbert Hall, Orange, N. J., had defeated Hal Surface, of Kansas City, and Samuel Lee, of Berkeley, Calif., 6—2, 6—2, they were eliminated by the national champions, Ellsworth Vines and Keith Gledhill, 6—2, 6—4. Other second-round matches resulted in victories for Frank Shields and Frank Parker over Henry Culley and Joseph Coughlin, 6—2, 6—3, and for Clifford Sutter and Sidney Wood over Karl Kamrath and Wilmer Hines, 6—2, 6—3.

Joining Vines and Gledhill in the semifinal brackets were George Lott and Gregory Mangin, seeded second, who after their terrific struggle with Bryan Grant and Eddie Jacobs yesterday, had not half as much trouble with Robert Bryan and John McDiarmid today, winning handily, 6—3, 6—4.

Shields-Parker Rally.

The remaining two doubles semifinal teams will be Lester Stoefen-Jack Tidball, and Frank Shields-Frank Parker.

Shields and Parker, seeded third, rallied brilliantly in the final set to put out John Ryn and Henry Prusoff, 6—2, 1—6, 6—4. The final match of the day, a long-drawn-out affair, saw Stoefen and Tidball, unseeded, steady themselves after losing the first set to Cliff Sutter and Sidney B. Wood, knot things up by taking the extended second set on Tidball's service after a break through Wood's serve, and go on to win, 2—6, 17—15, 7—5.

Miss Van Wie Wins With Sub-Par Golf

Chicago, Aug. 10 (AP).—Firing off a round of crackling subpar golf, Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, the national champion, led the way into the semifinals of the Women's Western Title Tournament today at Oak Park Country Club.

Miss Van Wie defeated Jane Armstrong, a young Chicagoan, 3 and 2. Going out she had a 36, 3 under women's par, and equal to even figures for men, nullifying some excellent shooting by Miss Armstrong.

Miss Van Wie decorated her card with six birdies and an eagle, and was over par only on the ninth. She will meet Elizabeth Abbott, of Los Angeles, tomorrow. Miss Abbott came from behind to eliminate Mrs. Melvin Jones, of Chicago, the 1921 tournament winner, 1 up. She was 2 down at the turn, but made them up on the tenth and eleventh. The lead changed with every hole the rest of the way.

Takoma Tigers Seek Games.

Mangan and Goeltz Gain Doubles Final

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 10 (Spl.).—Tom Mangan, of Washington, will battle his doubles partner, Frank Goeltz, of Wilkes-Barre, tomorrow when activity in the men's singles of the Middle Atlantic Tennis Tournament resumes with the playing of the semifinals. Goeltz and Mangan were idle in the singles today, but teamed together to win three doubles matches and reach the finals.

The Washington-Wilkes-Barre combination lost only one game in its three doubles victories. First the two players sailed through the duo of William Hammond, of Ocean City, and Robert Lytle, of St. Lawrence University, 6—0, 6—0. Then James Dooley, of Penn, and Seymour Rice, of the Fox Chase Tennis Club, won the lone game in bowing, 6—0, 6—1. The Mangan-Goeltz pair wound up the day's activity in a burst of glory by eliminating William C. Stults and John R. Rice by love scores.

The other feature match of tomorrow's play in the Ventnor classic will bring together Fred Roll, of the University of Pennsylvania, and W. G. McMullin, of the Philadelphia Rifle Club, in a semifinal.

Potomac Crews Prepare for Regattas

Philadelphia Races Labor Day, President Cup Event Objectives.

IT may be vacation time for some people, but the Potomac Boat Club crews are working harder than ever. Coach C. W. Hecox gave the oarsmen a week's rest following their victory in the Southern Rowing Association Regatta, but he's making up for the layoff with a rigorous training program.

Potomac has its nautical eye fastened on two important events, last of the rowing season, the Middle States Regatta, to be held in Philadelphia Labor Day, and the President's Cup Regatta, scheduled the last three days of September on the Potomac.

Oar Events are Listed.

The President's Cup meet is the blue-ribbon speedboat event of the Eastern racing season, but one of the days will be devoted entirely to the primitive manner of propelling boats.

Potomac's junior eight-oared shell has moved up into the intermediate class, and will compete in this division at Philadelphia. In its stead Hecox has rounded up a likely lot of youngsters for the junior race. The new crew is comprised of T. J. McAdams, T. E. Hayes, B. H. Marshall, S. C. Caldwell, J. S. Coiner, J. F. Ellis, H. V. Ellis, J. White, J. B. Wagoner, L. M. Shea, J. W. Stanley, H. L. Schlig and T. R. Barker, coxswain.

Paul Brower, who won the Royal Canadian Henley Association singles championship a few weeks ago, is training also. Much is expected of him in the Middle States Regatta.

Rassle Show Is Off Till Next Thursday

Washington's weather man finally caught up with Promoter Joe Turner last night and ordered enough rain to cause the cancellation of his rassle show which was scheduled at Griffith Stadium. It was only the second time since Turner has been staging outdoor matches that he has been unable to put on his acts, even though on one or two occasions he was forced to do so between drops, so to speak.

Because the rasslers scheduled last night were booked up for the balance of the week it was decided to make the cash customers wait until next Thursday for a taste of their favorite sport. An equally good bill will be offered, featuring as many of the matches listed for last night as possible under existing booking conditions.

Tickets for last night's scheduled show will be honored next Thursday.

Golf Clubs Are Urged To Adopt NRA Code

New York, Aug. 10 (U.P.).—Adherence to the NRA was left up to individual member clubs in a bulletin issued today by the United States Golf Association.

Terms of the NRA do not apply to golf clubs because they are "not operated for profit," and because they do not engage in "interstate or foreign commerce," according to an opinion of Livingston Platt, of New York, general counsel for the association.

An accompanying statement from the U. S. G. A. suggested that clubs which "are in a financial position to do so will aid the recovery movement by signing the voluntary agreement."

Police Prevent Row at School In Pay Dispute

Police were called late yesterday to prevent a threatened disturbance at the Phelps Vocational School, following further difficulties with the Catalano Construction Co., of Baltimore, at the District Building.

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride asked Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, to send police to Twenty-fourth and H streets northeast upon receiving word that bricklayers and Catalano officials were engaged in an altercation.

The bricklayers had filed affidavits with District officials charging Catalano with failure to pay the prevailing wage of $1.50 an hour and with trying to effect a compromise on back-pay adjustments by offering them $1,300, whereas they contended, between $4,000 and $5,000 is due them.

Thrashed Out Today.

The matter will be thrashed out at a conference this morning between the Commissioners and Catalano officials. District heads also will rule on the contractor's appeal from the order for a 35-cent wage for laborers, which they held was the prevailing scale on August 1.

A complete wage scale, specifying the prevailing rates for building mechanics as of August 1, was received by the Commissioners from H. L. Kerwin, director of conciliation of the Labor Department. The schedule, it was explained, constituted "an advisory opinion" and is subject to change, particularly in view of the National Recovery Administration's activities.

Wage Scale Given.

Asbestos workers, $1.25; boilermakers, $1.37½; bricklayers, $1.50; carpenters, $1; cement finishers, $1.25; electrical workers, $1.65; elevator constructors, $1.66; elevator constructor helpers, $1.16; glaziers, $1.12½; granite cutters, $1.50; hardwood finishers, $1.25; iron workers, $1.65; plaster tenders, 75 cents; plumbers, $1.50; painters and decorators, $1.37½; paper hangers, $1; reenforce rodmen, $1.25; sheet metal workers, $1.29; slate and tile roofers, $1.25; steam fitters, $1.29; steam fitter helpers, 74½ cents; stone cutters, $1.25; stone masons, $1.50; tile and marble setters, $1.30; wood, wire and metal lathers, $1.37½; plasterers, $1.75 until September 8, then $1.50; engineers, $1.37 to $1.65; common laborers, 35 to 45 cents.

Minimum Set by NRA.

Bride yesterday was informed by NRA officials that the minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for laborers specified in the President's blanket code is applicable only when contractors subscribe to the code.

While the Labor Department's scale will be used as a temporary standard by the Commissioners, it will not be incorporated in contracts because of the liklihood the wages may change from time to time, according to Engineer Commissioner Gotwals.

1,450 Beer Dealers File Returns; Time Up

Only 1,450 tax returns had been filed by retail beer dealers at the District tax assessor's office just before closing time yesterday, although the ten days allowable for filing expired last midnight.

The dealers reported sales of 11,000 barrels of beer during July and paid $11,000 in taxes. Tardy returns are expected to increase this tax by $4,000 or more.

Italian Officers To Pay Visit to Capital Today

Party From Training Ships Now at Baltimore Will Make Formal Call.

They will call on the Secretary of the Navy, the Chief of Naval Operations and the Secretary of State. Seven officers, including Admiral Bernotti, Capt. Tommaso Panunzio, of the Amerigo Vespucci, and Commander Aristotile Bona, of the Christoforo Columbo, will make up the party.

The officers will arrive at the Italian Embassy at about 10:30 a. m., will pay their formal visits, and then be taken to the Mayflower luncheon, given by Admiral William H. Standley, United States Chief of Naval Operations. During the afternoon they will tour the city.

Signor Augusto Rosso, the Italian Ambassador, will be host at an embassy dinner for the officers at 8 o'clock today. A reception and ball will follow at 10 o'clock.

Navy Yard Men Not to Depend On NRA in Cut

Swanson Is Willing to Let Board Decide, But Union Leader Says "No."

Navy Yard workers are not willing to rest their case against the Navy's five-day week and pay-cut order with the National Recovery Administration's new labor dispute tribunal unless the Navy immediately reestablishes old pay levels.

This was made clear last night in a statement by N. P. Alifas, president of District 44 of the International Association of Machinists.

It followed an announcement earlier in the day by Secretary of Navy Swanson to the effect that the Navy is ready to leave the whole question up to the new NRA labor committee, headed by Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York.

Will Welcome Intervention.

Mr. Alifas said last night he would welcome the intervention of the Wagner tribunal, but could not say before it handed down a decision whether it would be acceptable. In any event, he insisted, status quo should at least be restored in the navy yards until final action is taken.

The local machinists' official returned yesterday from Norfolk, Va., where a meeting protesting the Navy's order was held Wednesday, with 2,000 attending. It followed a similar protest meeting held here Sunday, attended by workers from the Washington Navy Yard.

Similar meetings are being held throughout the country "to enlighten the people" about conditions forced upon 46,000 Navy field workers, made to accept a pay cut while higher wages are being ordered in private shipbuilding industries, Mr. Alifas said.

Sought Appeal to President.

He pointed out that representatives of the workers had gone to the NRA labor advisory committee last week, not to affect an arbitration of their difficulties, but to ask that representations be made to Gen. Johnson and President Roosevelt.

The Association of Machinists plans to present petitions from different cities, containing workers' protests and complaints of business men, to the President when he returns from Hyde Park.

Meanwhile, the President has let it be known that the present 5-day week order, under which 3,300 Washington Navy Yard workers get a 16 2-3 per cent pay cut, is a temporary arrangement.

Police Hero Wins Department Medal

For the most meritorious service during the last year, Private Arthur C. Poulsen was awarded the Police Department gold medal yesterday by a committee headed by John A. Johnston, former District Commissioner.

He was cited for having captured, at personal risk to himself, Nicholas A. Long, a carpenter who, a year ago last July, killed a policeman and barricaded himself in a house in First street southeast.

The Police Department bronze bars were awarded to Private Herman L. Lay for "tact and courage" displayed after he had been wounded seriously in holding a prisoner arrested for attempting to pass counterfeit money. Private Francis C. O'Donnell, of the Fire Department, received bronze bars for carrying four persons to safety from a fire.

Bids were opened yesterday on the first District public works project under the $3,300,000,000 law, for the repaving of Sixteenth street from Columbia road to Tiger Bridge.

The Highway Engineering & Construction Co., of Washington, was the lowest of the six bidders, with an estimate of $93,298.75, more than $16,000 under the District's estimated cost.

Forest Workers Learning Law, History and What Not in Camps.

If "Join the Navy and See the World" is a good slogan, the reforestation army might well advertise "Join the Civilian Conservation Corps and Get an Education."

Most of the camps have courses in from one to six subjects. But the camp at Fulks Run, Va., offers its men a choice of 20 courses, ranging from elementary law to history. Each of the officers teaches the subjects in which he is most proficient. Other camps teach boxing (the professor was captain of the West Point boxing team in 1932) and fencing, as well as academic courses.

Youth Saved as Chum Swims Half-Mile for Aid

Leslie Aaron, an Airport Pool life guard, and Eddie Gramm, 206 Ascot place northeast, were sailing near Highway Bridge, when their craft overturned. Gramm pulled himself on the hull, and Aaron swam to shore. He found George Wenkerbach, 5816 Chevy Chase parkway, with a speedboat, and the two returned to rescue Gramm from the overturned sailboat.

New Home Loan Rules to Rush Aid Are Made

New restrictions will be imposed by the District office of the Home Owners Loan Corporation to speed means of helping cases of real distress, it was announced yesterday.

Under the new plan, no applicant for a loan will be considered unless he can give sound proof of having exhausted every possible means of meeting his problem with his present mortgage. Through interviews with applicants, the local force expects to determine those deserving further attention and those to reject.

Work of the office is being slowed up by unwillingness of many mortgagees to give full cooperation until they learn more about the corporation bonds, it was revealed yesterday. However, deferment of foreclosure is being agreed upon in every pressing case until further announcement about the bonds is made by the Government, Charles A. Jones, manager of the local office, said.

A ruling on stability of the bonds has been asked of the Comptroller of the Currency by building and loan associations of the District. The associations are anxious to know if the bonds will be rated at their face or market value upon examination of the assets of the associations.

At present only the interest of the bonds is guaranteed. However, the Treasury Department has ruled that they may be accepted at par as security against the deposit of public money. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has agreed to accept them as collateral for loans up to 80 per cent of their face value. All that is now left for the Government to do is to guarantee the principal of the bonds, it is said.

State Department Aid Returned in $300 Theft

Indicted on a charge of grand larceny in the theft of $300, Francis J. Sickel, special paymaster of the State Department, was returned to Washington yesterday from Long Beach, Calif., where he was arrested by Department of Justice agents.

Sickel gave bond of $1,000 pending his arraignment. According to the indictment, he had charge of a special fund to pay expenses of the International Radio Telegraphic Conference at Madrid last spring.
